ANOTHER BATTERSEA HERO.

Has Returned Home—Pte. Betts Enlisted When Sixteen.

Battersea, April 30.—S. M. Anglin of Albert College, Belleville, spent part of his holidays at home, Harold Shurtliff and a number of brothers of the city were the guests of their aunt, Mrs. F. Balls. Miss Jessie King of Elginburg is with her aunt, Mrs. John Miller. Miss Amy Sutherland, nurse-in-training at the Hotel Dieu, Kingston, spent Sunday at home.

Pte. Frank Eby of Queen's Military Hospital, spent a few days with his parents last week. Signaler Dalton Williams spent a week at Ottawa, the guest of his brother-in-law, Dr. E. J. Rutledge. Caribon Hartley has returned from Hamilton where he spent the winter.

Miss Alice Jamieson has been engaged to conduct the village school for the balance of the term. Miss Letherland tendered her resignation before Easter. Miss Marie Bryant has returned to her position at The Grange after spending the winter at Rochester in the home of her mother, who has been engaged to make cheese at the Sand Hill factory. George Matthews has purchased the house and lot on church street from William Keeler and will take possession at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeler will remove to Woodburn to reside with their son, Fred Keeler. They will be much missed from this community where they have resided so long and are so well and favorably known in church and social life.

Carl Van Luvan has completed the erection of a milking shed and a house. W. S. Anglin has erected a garage on his mill property.

Mrs. Joel Eby opened her pretty home to the young men and young ladies' classes of the Sunday school, who conducted a social on Wednesday night in behalf of the library fund. The house was well filled with young people who entered into the various games and competitions with keen delight. In the various contests the prize-winners were Misses Pauline Anglin, Flora Ormsbee, Marion Lucey and Etta Mercer.

Another of Battersea's war heroes has returned home. Pte. Arnold Betts, who had been living in the home of William Jamieson for several years, enlisted in 1915 and went overseas with the 146th Battalion.

After getting to France he saw considerable action and was twice wounded. He was one of the youngest members of the battalion, being only sixteen when he enlisted. He too, looks as if the climate of France agreed with him.

EDWARDS' SAVAGE ATTACK

DECLARES THAT THE NON-FIGHTERS ARE "CATTLE."

Then Hints at Mules—Required to Apologize, After Which Speaker Hurriedly Dismisses House.

Ottawa, May 1.—A savage attack on Mennonites and other conscientious objectors to military service caused a disorderly scene in Parliament yesterday afternoon when the House was in committee on the new Immigration Bill. It was made by Dr. J. W. Edwards, of Frontenac, who is a leading Orangeman and frequently cuts loose with an onslaught on Quebec. He is the Lucien Cannon of Ontario, the Sam McBride of the House of Commons.

"We do not want in Canada," he said emphatically, "people who are not prepared to assume their full share of the responsibilities of citizenship. If there are in the United States or Europe people of any class, whether they be Mennonites, Catholics, or any other kind of 'ites,' we do not want them to come to Canada and enjoy the privileges and advantages of life under the British flag if they are willing to allow others to do the fighting for them while they stay at home in peace and plenty. We certainly do not want that kind of cattle in this country."

Isaac E. Pedlow, of South Renfrew, was on his feet in an instant, protesting against such language. He explained that he belonged to the Society of Friends, and he objected to conscientious objectors being characterized as "cattle."

Dr. Edwards—I will withdraw the statement and apologize to the cattle.

Again Mr. Pedlow protested, but the Deputy Speaker (Hon. Mr. Bovin) ruled that Dr. Edwards was referring to the Mennonites and Lutherites and not to any member of the House, therefore he was not out of order.

Dr. Edwards assured the Chair that he was not referring to any hon. member opposite. "If I had been," he said, "I should have mentioned another four-footed animal more distinguished for the length of his ears than his horns."

Amid loud protests, the Deputy Speaker demanded a withdrawal of the last remark and the doctor apologized.

The speaker saved the situation by calling it six o'clock and leaving the chair.

Hurt At Saw Mill.
Smith's Falls, April 30.—Edward Lison was injured at the saw mill when a log struck his head. He was being hauled broke through the platform in front of the mill. One wheel of the wagon went through the platform and tilted the load, catching and squeezing him between the wagon and another pile of lumber nearby.

NINETEEN BOMBS IN U.S. MAIL

Bomb Warning Sent Out: New York, May 1.—Last night a blanket warning went from the Post Office Department to every post office, big and little, in the country: every postmaster and post office inspector; to every superintendent of mails and mail clerks on the railroad mail cars—to everybody having anything to do with the handling of mail—to look out for parcels marked "Gimbel Bros." in small black printed letters, "Samples" in big red letters and bearing an address typewritten upon a slip of white paper.

Moreover, the Post Office Department appeals to every man, woman and child in the country to beware opening any parcel of an unknown or suspicious nature, no matter how innocent looking or commonplace it may seem to be.

Narrowly Escaped Death.
Gadsden, Ala., May 1.—Representative John L. Burnett, chairman of the immigration committee of the last House, narrowly escaped serious injury or possibly death last night by an infernal machine received through the mail. The lid on the package stuck when Mr. Burnett attempted to open it, arousing his suspicions, and he turned the machine over to the police.

Given Medals for Heroism.

New York, May 1.—In addition to the proposed citation of Gladys and Irene McIntyre for war service recognition Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army yesterday announced a long list of awards to her co-workers in various countries made by the respective governments.

The coveted Victoria cross has been won by two British and one Canadian Salvationist. Private W. Clepp won the cross for heroism in rushing a German "pill box" and bringing over thirty-five prisoners.

Private James H. Finn received the same decoration for bandaging wounded under heavy fire and carrying them to safety. Private Roy Holmes won the Victoria cross for bombing a "pill box" and putting out of action two German machine guns and capturing eighteen prisoners.

Hydro Power in Brockville.
Brockville, May 1.—Electric power was received here at 9.29 yesterday through the new Cornwall sub-station and over the new trans-power Commission. Hydro power is now furnishing the town of Brockville with all the current necessary for immediate needs. The Public Utilities Commission's steel plant was closed down when power was delivered.

International the water powers of the St. Lawrence may be, inter-provincial they are not, and Dominion they never will be if the people of the Province of Ontario have any voice, declared Sir Adam Beck in an address in Toronto Wednesday night. The request of the Belgians for an immediate advance of their share of the German indemnity is to be complied with by the conference.

John Bess, an Indian, said to be more than a hundred years old, died in his shanty near Vosburg, Kent county.

WILL BROADEN EDUCATION.

Some Points Suggested by Hon. Dr. Cody.

Although education is one of those subjects which, in Canada, have been discussed "right through the war," still, now that the fighting is over, discussion on this all-important question tends to become more practical and immediate. As Walter Bagot used to insist so emphatically, it is one thing to criticize and propose when one is under no obligation to act on any criticism or proposal, and quite another thing to do so when one is under immediate obligation to translate one's words into acts.

During the war every education proposal was launched with at least one postponing clause attached. But to-day any proposal may be practical politics. It is for this reason, amongst others, that the statement recently made by the Hon. Dr. Cody, Minister of Education for Ontario, is specially important. Dr. Cody's statement would at any time have been an interesting contribution to the consideration of a great subject, but as a preliminary statement of actual policy it has, of course, an interest all its own.

Dr. Cody covered a wide field, but it was welcome to find the Ontario Education Minister placing in the very forefront of his statement the question of the more general extension of education beyond the limits of the elementary school. There had come, he insisted, a general realization of the fact that education does not stop "with the boy and girl age," and that a further compulsory period should be introduced. Important and essential everywhere, such a provision is unquestionably especially important in Canada, with its very large foreign-born population.

If the ideals of Canadian citizenship are to be really and effectively inculcated, much more is called for than the primary education of the boy and the girl. As Dr. Cody well pointed out, it is absolutely necessary that the foreign-born element should receive a "real education in British ideals and citizenship."

Then Dr. Cody was emphatic also on the position which women should now be called upon to fill in education. Women, he declared, had won their right to take their share in the councils and government of their country, and in no national activity could they lend their aid with more certain effect than in the matter of education. He hoped to see women everywhere accorded places on school boards and boards of education, and that the place of the service of their country a special ability which they undoubtedly possessed.

Perhaps the most important of all the points touched upon by Dr. Cody was the question of the payment of teachers. Those who really appreciate the unique educational importance of education must have recourse, again and again, to this subject, and to the insistence that if the educational profession is to have the standing and attract to its ranks the men and women it most needs and ought to demand, the standard of payment must be very much higher than where that is at the present time. The key to all the problems is indeed the teacher. It is the teacher that counts, and without good teachers the most perfect system of education must be of little avail.

"The time is ripe," Dr. Cody declared, "and the people both in city and in country are ready to pay better salaries, and are realizing that it is very much worth while to spend money for the securing of better conditions under which to develop their children."

Those who have been following with any care the recent history of education in Canada and other countries cannot fail to agree with Dr. Cody here. The time has already passed, or is, at any rate, rapidly passing, when any salary may be thought good enough for the school teacher, and it can scarcely be questioned that an education body courageous enough to pay its teachers adequately, to-day, can count upon a very wide and sincere popular support.

The Hun Spirit.

A series of trenches in front of Passchendaele in Flanders, were notorious among the boys for the quantity of army mud which always gathered there. One day after a heavy rain, a poor fellow sank into the sticky mixture up to his armpits and was fixed there for three days and nights, while the Hun snipers from a point of vantage kept up a constant fire on any who attempted to feed him or try to rescue him, although they, themselves, with true Hun cruelty, took good care not to hit him, preferring to see him suffer.

The poor chap begged his comrades to shoot him and put him out of his misery. At length the sergeant in charge telephoned to his colonel and asked permission to do this, but the colonel said: "Make one more desperate attempt to get him out." So that night, which fortunately happened to be a very dark one, the sergeant got a dozen volunteers with a bit of rope and quietly, inch by inch, they pulled him out and the stretcher-bearers, on the double, got him to the nearest dressing station.

Curing Influenza.

A doctor was called to attend an Irishman and his wife. Both were suffering with severe colds, and, fearing they would develop influenza, the medical man ordered "two grains of quinine and a swallow of whisky every three hours." Calling the next day, he found the man up and about, but the wife was still in bed. "Did you follow my instructions?" said the doctor. "To the letter, sorr!" replied the husband. "How much quinine have you left?" "Sure, O'itink she saved the whole av' it!" said the Irishman. "And did you take it, too?" he was asked. "Nivir a bit!" was the reply. "Begorra, it kept me busy takin' the whisky every time she took a pill, an' sure she's in bed an' O'm up!"
