RAN OFF IN AUTOMOBILE

YOUNG MAN BECAME TIRED OF HIS QUIET LIFE IN KINGSTON.

Stole Automobile—Was Caught Near Deseronto by Chief Barrett, of Napanee, Who Gave Chase.

Clarence O'Neil, about twenty-two years of age and of smart appearance, became tired of quiet life in Kingston, so decided to create a little excitement. He succeeded in creating some excitement and also caused some trouble for himself. He was walking by the garage of C. H. Finkle last Monday night, when he was seized with the big idea. An automobile stood in front of the garage, and jumping into it, O'Neil was soon speeding away towards Napanee, with the intention of going through to Toronto, where he expected he could have a livelier time. The theft of the automobile was reported to the local police and the "S.O.S." sign was soon sent out for O'Neil.

Chief of Police Barrett, of Napanee, was tipped off that O'Neil was in that town on Tuesday, and left for Toronto, so getting another car, he gave chase and succeeded in rounding up O'Neil and his car, close to Deseronto. The accused told the chief that he was tired of things in Kingston, so just thought he would get out for a change. The chief had the car and the man brought to Napanee and on Tuesday night, Constable Thomas Mullineux went up to Napanee. As a result the stolen car was back in Kingston Wednesday morning and O'Neil faced a charge of theft in Police Court. He pleaded guilty and was remanded a week for sentence. He said his home was in Picton.

THEATRICAL

To-night, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath"

Few farces have achieved the extraordinary success of "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the famous farce comedy which A. H. Woods will present at the Grand to-night, direct from a year's run in New York and Chicago. The success of the piece in both cities is a matter of theatrical history. It was one of the few plays that survived the withering New York heat and ran well into the summer. The New York Evening Mail called it "a masterpiece." The New York Tribune enthusiastically declared that it had "more fizz than Fair and Warmer." "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" contains what both critics and playgoers declare is one of the most novel and amusing ideas ever embodied in a comedy.—Advt.

At The Grand.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week a bill of unusual excellence has been booked at the Grand Opera House. Charming Fannie Ward will play the leading role in the big seven reel feature film, "Common Clay." This picture portrays in an interesting and entertaining manner a wonderful story true to life. In the play form, "Common Clay" made a decided hit at the Republic Theatre, New York, but in the films, with the advantages of the scenery of the great outdoors and an extravagant production such only as films enjoy, this photoplay should prove a rare treat. Clever comedies, travelogues and the Universal Weekly News will complete the film programme. The best vaudeville act ever presented in Kingston will be the headline act. "The Review de Vogue," which carries ten people, special scenery and electrical effects, is claimed by its producers to be the most pretentious offering of the current season. Ella La Vall, petit aerialist, will also be on the bill.—Advt.

At The Strand.

Hale Hamilton, the clever star of "That's Good," the latest Metro comedy drama which will be featured at the Strand Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, has achieved unusual distinction both on the stage and screen.

Mr. Hamilton rose to fame on the boards through his clever delineation of virile, dynamic roles in such productions as "Get-Rick-Quick Wallingford," by George Randolph Chester, a play which made him internationally famous. "The Fortune Hunter," "The N'er Do Well," and "A Pair of Shoes."

His stage success naturally led the young actor to the screen and he made his picture debut with Metro as leading man for May Allison in "The Winning of Beatrice." His work was such that he was at once made a star and it was a coincidence that his first picture should have been "Five Thousand an Hour," written especially for him by George Randolph Chester, the author of his greatest stage success. Another Metro production in which he gained distinction was "Johnny on the Spot," a dashing comedy drama. "The Man Hunt" is the title of the striking and unusual new World Picture which on Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be shown at the Strand Theatre, with charming Ethel Clayton as the star. The play tells of the manner in which a thoroughly modern girl chooses the right man for her husband and then proceeds to make him marry her despite his strenuous objections.—Advt.

Complimented Prof. Watson.

Speaking at the Canadian Club meeting in the Frontenac Club on Tuesday, Rev. Dr. Watson stated that during the winter he had had the opportunity of taking lectures at Queen's university from Professor John Watson on the function of the state.

"Without a doubt," said Dr. Watson, "they were the most brilliant lectures I have heard in three universities and, if they are published, they will form an epoch-making book in Canada, which everyone should read."

The United States Government's loss in operating the railroads for the first three months of this year was $139,000,000.
