The Man on Watch

The Weatherman simply had to be decent for a while when he heard that the 21st Battalion was on its way home.

The gallant 21st, which once captured a sugar factory in France, was not going to let it be said that it could not capture a beer canteen in England before it started for home.

So Col. Pense's unit has added another laurel to its collection.

The English girls appear to have been dead stuck on our men of the 21st, when the Imperials resented the preference shown. Well, the Kingston girls will not be behind in their appreciation next week.

Only for "Bob" Bushell, there wouldn't have been a quorum on the market last Tuesday. The "fair king's" vegetable wagon, drawn by the Bath Road nag, moved onto the square, making two in attendance, and so "Bill" McCammon officially declared that business might proceed.

The backyards are not the only things that require attention in this clean-up week. The Lampman notices some store windows in the paved area that would be better of a scrubbing, so that one might see beyond the panes. A lawyer would be excused for having dirty windows in his office, but there is no excuse for any one else not wanting daylight and inquisitive eyes to penetrate into his business dealings.

The Collegiate Institute parents have come to the conclusion that all work and no play makes Son a dull boy. Most decidedly there are too many study hours indoors. One help would be to hold as many classes as possible outdoors.

Now Pictou wants to get rid of old steamer hulks. It makes us sad to read that the steamers Caspian (once the Passport of ancient memorabilia) and the New Island Wanderer are up in Pictou having headed away the last years of their existence. Time was when large crowds along the river waited upon the wharves for these two vessels to land and take them on. Now they have become like all other aged things.

Churches boasting about the increase in their givings must remember that the givings have not increased more than has the cost of living and upkeep. A church that contributed $3,000 all told five years ago should now be raising $15,000 and then there would be no surplus.

Toronto keeps tab of the hickings given school children. During April there were 555 Toronto kids whipped at school, certainly not a large number for a city the size of Toronto.

In the days when the Lampman went to school in Kingston, there were that many hickings given in a month. It was an exceptional day that two or three pupils in every class did not receive the rod or the strap.

After the store clerks are given an eight-hour day, it will be in order for the merchants to provide a little tea room in every shop so that the workers may have still more comfort. There is nothing like a cup of tea to take away a grouch and make all pleasant. Grumpy customers might also be given a cup of tea to chase away their ills.

THE TOWN WATCHMAN.

Yarker's New Cheese Factory. The new factory owned by the Yarker Dairy Company opened for business on Monday last. The new building is one of the best factories in that section of the country. It is a brick veneer, covered with a roof of fire-proof shingles.

When the Whig representative happened to call at the factory the other day he found Charles Freeman, the president busily engaged helping the workmen to complete the construction.

The curing room, which is very large, is up-to-date in every respect. The first day that the factory opened, eight shovels were turned out.

The other directors of the factory are Thomas McCormick, Howard Stover, Elgin Freshburn and Oliver Shangroy, secretary.

Probs: Sunday, westerly winds; moderately warm
