LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Club Not Responsible.
Kingston, May 22.—(To the Editor): The impression has been given out that the Kingston Gentlemen's Driving and Matinee Club was instrumental in having the much discussed circus contract for the use of the fair grounds cancelled. This is not the case, and in fairness to our members I wish you to contradict this impression. While our club has spent considerable money on the fair grounds, stables and track, we believe the city property committee appreciates what we have done in this way, and on our part we feel that we should support the action of the property committee in doing its best to protect the expenditure of some $5,000 by the city, the fair association, and our own club, in demanding that the circus company should deliver to the city a bond protecting its property against possible damage when rented to them. As for our having any voice in the making or breaking of the circus contract, however, it is not our business to say to whom the grounds should or should not be rented. We had nothing to say and we thank you for putting us right with the public.

W. H. EYES,
President, K.G.D. and M.C.

Mr. Howe's Final Contribution.
Kingston, May 23.—(To the Editor): In asking your further indulgence, I offer my final contribution to this controversy in reply to Ald. Corbett's letter in yesterday's issue, together with my thanks for your courtesy in this matter.

I feared that my indictment of the majority of the city council would pass unchallenged; as a matter of fact, so far, resentment at my allusions to his own "gallery play" and personally announced philanthropy—no effort is made to justify the council's attitude towards the returned citizen.

I agree with Ald. Corbett that one looks for the qualities of chivalry and magnanimity in the soldier, and it may be added admirable virtues on Monday night, May 12th, when, in council and without justification, he indulged in a lengthy verbal castigation of the returned citizen, through the G.W.V.A., accusing them of "unfairness," "downright threats," "taking the council by the throat," and "taking away the rights of the citizens," and because of which he cast his vote against them.

His actions and words, for which he has neither apology nor regret, were governed by his conscience. I wonder, Mr. Editor, whether that was his "political" conscience. However, when disagreeing with the returned citizen, and uttering such actions and words, he should have done so in private, and not in the public press, my "modest" opponent forgets his unkind criticism of the returned citizen, and laments the consequences of his opposition to their interests, under the name of a "virtuoso" and "ungenerous pen."

In turning his own argument against himself, I would remind Ald. Corbett that the vilification of the returned citizen to the detriment of his best interests, simply because he looks for the fulfillment of the public-made pledges, should not be the peculiar privilege of any alderman who pays his taxes direct or indirect, into the dominion treasury, instead of that of Germany, solely by virtue of the fact that the returned citizens, whom he publicly scolded, placed their bodies between himself and the common enemy.

I think sufficient has been written, and I am content to let the patriotic public judge the merits of the case for the returned citizen, as compared with the opposition of Ald. Corbett and those who vote with him.

Yours truly,
—H. L. HOWE,
165 Stuart St.
