MINISTER'S FINAL WORD

TO THE CONGREGATION OF ZION PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Rev. John D. Boyd, Pastor for Twenty-nine Years, Reviews His Work as He Retires From the Pastorate.

A well-filled church greeted the Rev. J. D. Boyd, of Zion Presbyterian Church, on Sunday morning as he spoke his farewell message as pastor, after twenty-nine years of service. Mr. Boyd initiated the work as a student, and gave himself heartily to the work of the church and community all these years, and it was no easy matter for either pastor or people, in their mutual affection for one another, to go through the ordeal of yesterday. Mr. Boyd based his address on II. Tim. I, 13, "Hold fast the sound teaching which ye heard from me." He said: "To-day I feel that I can rely on you, my tried companions in service, to carry on the gospel of faith and love that has inspired us, to others. The gospel that redeemed me brought me to you years ago, because I felt that it had efficacy to heal the ills of this community, and I have not been altogether disappointed. During these years over three hundred families united with this church, and 450 people professed faith in Christ. Of this number about seventy families and 130 members are still in active connection with the church. Over one hundred have been called to their reward, the majority of them faithful workers, and at least a hundred others are giving to-day a good account of themselves all over Canada and some in the foreign field. All the organizations of the church are in good standing, with balances to their credit. With a church free from debt and a splendid manse, that could not be built to-day for less than $8,000, all paid for but $2,500, this church should have a bright future.

"The gospel that I preached and practiced," said the speaker, "applied to the whole man. I gave myself therefore freely to the work of the community, city college, and presbytery. I believe that the life of this congregation is the richer to-day because of these services, and it was ways a source of pleasure and recreation to join with others in these enterprises. You have always allowed me the fullest freedom in choice of work. We are not many, but we are free from cliques and grouches, and a united and hearty people are sure to make good.

"I hope to occupy a pew with you for some time, till my health is recuperated; and give hearty support to whatever successor you may choose, and I shall not expect him to move in the same groove that I did. I will not say farewell now, but I thank you sincerely not only for your co-operation in the past, but also for your kind appreciation of my services in asking me to withdraw my resignation, take a rest, and then return to the work. This I have not thought wise to do, but as a member with you I hope to do the best I can for the community. Wishing you God's blessing in the work."
