One day I got hold of a French dictionary and found the word for pumpkin, "citrouille," and the word for ple, which is 'pate.' I wrote them down and handed it to the nurse, and she smiled and nodded and assured me that she would get it for me the following day. I dreamed about it that night, and told all the fellows that I was going to have a treat. I was all worked up about it by noon, for the nurse would keep enthusing every time she came near me about 'une belle citrouille.' Well. it came, could you beat it—they brought me boiled pumpkin, and mashed potatoes, and the bunch o' it. MATCH CAMISOLE Discrepancy Between Walst and Skirt Sections.

Is anything uglier than the transparent peplum blouse worn with a light camisole or corset cover? It was bad enough with the old-time blouse that ended at the belt line, but when the newer type of blouse is worn thus there is an ugly discrepancy between the waist section and the skirt section of the blouse.

Of course, where the front and back panel of the blouse are of some heavler material the effect is quite satisfactory. But when georgette or chifsay fon is used then one really needs a dark camisole. It is not always easy to buy these, although they are to be had in navy blue, one or two shades of brown, green and the other usual suit shades. But they are not diffi-

What About That Wasted Five per cent?

Most of us fritter away at least five per cent. of our weekly wages in trifles.

If we stopped to reckon it up, we would find it hard to remember where the money went.

If we could make that money earn more money without troubling to think out a plan or attend to details, we would consider that we had done a good stroke of business.

The Government has made it possible for us to do that. Here is the plan:

You say to your employer: "Every week I want you to hold back five per cent. of my wages and invest them in War Savings Stamps. When you have bought a War Savings Stamp with my money, put it in my pay envelope. Go on doing that for a year."

You will never miss that five per cent. which you had previously frittered away. But at the end of a year you will have a little package of Stamps which, in 1924, will be worth $5.00 for every $4.00 odd you pay for them now.

The guarantee of safety behind the War Savings Stamps is the whole Dominion of Canada.
