THEATRICAL

At the Grand.
For next Monday and Tuesday a big double programme of feature films has been secured for the Grand Opera House. Constance Talmadge, who was seen last in "Up the Road With Sally," will appear in a five-reel Goldwyn feature, "Good-Night, Paul." This is like Miss Talmadge's former films, a delightful story made up of thrills and a charming romance. Mae Murray, the always popular star, will be seen in her latest Metro feature, "Modern Love," an interesting story of the adventures encountered in modern love-making. Clever comedies and the latest edition of the Pathe News will complete a big film programme of fifteen reels. Special vaudeville in addition to the above films will make a bill for next Monday and Tuesday well worth seeing.—Adv't.

"The Off Chance."
It is not common knowledge that Miss Barrymore's first ambition was to be a great musician. She began the rudiments of her study at her convent school in Philadelphia and later studied under two of the most famous masters in New York. Only her adoption of the stage as her career, following in the footsteps of her ancestors, interrupted her devotion to the piano. However, Miss Barrymore's musical studies were not in vain, those who heard her play in "Tante" a few seasons ago, and last winter in "The Lady of the Camellias," will enthusiastically bear witness. Miss Barrymore comes to the Grand Opera House for one performance only, Wednesday evening, June 4th.—Adv't.

At Griffin's.
Another large audience last evening testified to the popularity of Marguerite Clark, the winsome star who is now playing at the above theatre in "Three Men and a Girl," one of the most delightful photoplays in which she has been seen for some time. The character Miss Clark assumes in this picture gives her ample opportunity to display her winsome charms and all the clever talent which has made her famous. Henry B. Walthall in "Modern Husbands" has also proven immensely popular with the audiences who have witnessed this splendid production during the last two days. The role is one in which this talented star excels, and cannot fail to please even the most discriminating critic. These two features will be exhibited again to-night.—Adv't.

At the Strand.
"Out of the Fog," the screen masterpiece of which the great Nazimova is the star, will be specially shown at the Strand theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This play is a screen adaptation of the powerful stage drama, "Ception Shoals," written by H. A. Adams and made famous by Nazimova in a long and successful New York run.

"Out of the Fog," is a story of life—the story of a girl who had to pay the full penalty for her love for a girl whom death deprived of the father of her child before there was time for a marriage ceremony. Playing the role of this unhappy girl in the early part of the picture Nazimova is next seen as Eve, the little daughter grown to beautiful girlhood upon a lonely island in the tropic waters of the Caribbean Sea. Under the stern guardianship of her harsh and narrow uncle, who has never forgiven his sister for her unhappy love, the child is brought up without human companionship other than his own. Dressed in boy's clothes, and roaming the lonely beach of the tiny island she grows to womanhood before she sees for the first time beings from the outer world. One day, out of the fog, a yacht is stranded on the hidden shoals of the lonely light, and the owner, a powerful young American, comes to the island for help. Here romance begins and Nazimova is seen in her many fascinating and alluring moods. The play is one which gives this star every opportunity for her marvellous histrionic powers.—Adv't.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Statement of Metal Trades Council.
Kingston, May 31.—(To the Editor): I have been authorized by the Metal Trades Council in making to complain of a misleading statement in your paper of yesterday in regard to the local situation of the Metal Trades strike. Your paper states that we have superceded the local unions which are responsible for the present situation which is entirely false.

The Metal Trades Council is composed of three delegates from each union and is in no sense of the word a separate body. Further, the Metal Trades did not call anybody, or union, out on strike. The decision to strike was left to the men themselves and they themselves decided it on a unanimous vote taken in the City Hall on the afternoon of May 8th. Consequently, while this council is merely acting for the men, any negotiations carried on with the employers will have to meet with the approval of each local.

Respectfully yours,
—Wm. HALLIDAY, Secretary.

Dam is Responsible.
Verona, May 31.—(To the Editor): In reference to the letter of H. S. O'Loughlin regarding the high water at Petworth dam, I would like to say that the dam is responsible for all the flooding. The river is filled with driftwood and trees, and as a result dams have been formed across the river, making it impossible for the water to get away. If these were cleared out there would be no more trouble. There are thousands of acres of land on which the farmers will not be able to work, and I think it is up to the provincial government to remedy conditions.

Yours truly,
—C. C. CRAIG.

People now are beginning to think of the days near at hand when they can leave home and business cares and romp away for a time on vacation. Going away entails the expenditure of money, generally in generous quantities. There are a hundred and one different things to be purchased and arranged for, and the merchant or business man who starts now to tell them where to buy and what to buy will get the goodly portion of this money.
