SOLD HOME-MADE WHISKEY

CHARLES LASHER WAS FINED $500 AND COSTS.

License Inspector and Police Visited His Home and Corralled About Three Gallons—Young Man Fined For Reckless Driving. Pleading guilty to having liquor for sale, Charles Lasher was fined $500 and costs or three months by Magistrate Farrell. Lasher's presence in court, and his stock of three gallons of "home-made" liquor, came about as a result of a surprise visit License Inspector McCammon, with Sergt. Marshall Armstrong and Constables Downey and Hughes, paid to his home on Johnson street, about ten o'clock on Saturday night. Lasher was just about to come out of the house, and when accosted by Sergt. Armstrong, he had a bottle in his coat pocket. A search was then made of the house, and the police uncovered about three gallons. Lasher had been peddling it around the city to the thirsty ones who were willing to pay $5 per bottle or higher. Pretty good business so long as you don't get caught. The liquor is of a very poor variety, and it will not find its way to any of the local charitable institutions. It does not even look good enough to flush the city sewers with, but in these days, when the country is on the "dry" map, some fellows are ready to take a chance at anything. Gordon Doyle celebrated the King's birthday by dashing around the city in an automobile at top notch speed. The charge, which was laid by Constable James Downey, said "reckless driving" and Doyle, when arraigned, pleaded guilty and made no statement. Some person did say that Doyle claimed his brakes were out of order, but he did not say anything to the court about them. "Pretty serious to be driving on Princess street at a reckless rate," remarked the magistrate, who disposed of the case by imposing a fine of $10 and costs.

THEATRICAL

At the Grand. For to-night, to-morrow and Wednesday a special big double programme has been arranged for the Grand Opera House. Gladys Brockwell, the famous Fox Film favorite, will appear in "The Strange Woman," a story of love, courage and romance. With a well balanced cast and a stupendous production, this story was cinematized from the play that ran on Broadway for a whole season and made all New York gasp. The second feature of the photoplay will be "A Trick of Fate," a wonderful presentation of an accepted fact of every day life. Other films on the programme will be a Mutt and Jeff cartoon picture, a comedy and the "Facts News," showing its usual quota of animated news items which are photographed new each week. Special vaudeville from a big time vaudeville circuit will complete a photoplay and variety programme that should prove both refreshing and entertaining for the first three days of the week.—Adv.

At the Strand. "The Great Romance," the Screen Classics, Inc., production, starring Harold Lockwood, is to be shown at the Strand theatre to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday, and will present to the public an unusual theme enacted in this favorite of the screen's most virile and winning manner. The story is laid in a mythical principality to which a young American falls heir. With his free and democratic upbringing the ideal of ruling by inheritance does not appeal to him—the pomp and glory of being a monarch does not seem as attractive as being just a free, independent young American in the land he loves. He about decides to decline the throne with thanks when he finds that the girl he loves is involved in a deep intrigue in this very country—she has been taken there by a scheming mother, who hopes to marry her to an impoverished member of the royal family. Determining to rescue her he sets off for this remote corner of Europe and encounters many strange and dramatic adventures—and experiences "the great romance." Brilliantly told, the story is magnificently acted and the production is one which will hold an audience spell-bound. The scenes are very beautiful and many elaborate sets show the grandeur of the Royal Palace. Supporting Mr. Lockwood are such experienced players as Ruby de Rener, Frank Currier, Joseph Granby, Morgan Thorpe, Louis Siera, J. P. Laffey, Frankie Hanns, Clara Greenhill and Helen Lindroth. The production was made by Henry Otto and was written by Finis Fox.—Adv.

At Griffin's. Dainty Vivian Martin will headline the programme at this popular playhouse to-day, Tuesday and Wednesday in her new photoplay, "Little Comrade." The story deals with the adventures of a little farmerette, who does her bit for her country in the most attractive manner. She is at first scorned and jeered at by the more practical workers, but she shows them that she has grit and pep, and she succeeds in making a real soldier out of a weakling, and when her job is finished she is ready to marry him. The story is fascinating and original. Another photoplay of distinct merit is "The Sheriff's Son," starring popular Charles Ray. The story has color, dramatic power and splendid handling in direction, while it gives Mr. Ray one of the best roles of his screen career. As Royal Beauty, a boy of the west, who inherits from his mother parental fear, and who struggles valiantly against it, he gives a dramatic portrait that is thoroughly human. This is a programme that should be seen by everybody.—Adv.

The Millionaire Pirate. The Liberator is not a War Picture, although "Maciste" is always in conflict of one kind or another. It trifies with action, satisfies with thrills, stunts and startling situations, supplies many a laugh when best needed. There is romance and mystery aplenty and "Maciste" is at his best from main title to trailer. Also Monroe Sillsbury in a five reel feature entitled "The Millionaire Pirate," at the King Edward Theatre to-night and Tuesday. Usual admission.
