The Duke's Address

In his address, the Duke of Devonshire stated that during the two-and a-half bears he and the members of his family had lived in Canada, they had the pleasure of taking part in many interesting events, but there was no ceremony which had given them greater pleasure than the present one. The reputation and nam of the Royal Military College had for generations been a household word not only in Canada, but through the Empire. air has at last been accomplished nd it is particularly gratifying that t has been conquered by Britishers. The news of the arrival in Ireland of the Vimy plane and its crew has revived the great interest displayed in trans-Atlantic flight aroused by the exploit of Hawker and Grieve, and Capt, Alcock and Lieut, Brown have their places in the ranks of the men of great courage and daring who have all along acted as pioneers in the conquest of the air. Their expleit is by far the finest yet accomplished, and the short time taken to make the trip is very notable

Member For Frontenac Criticizes the Statement of Hon. Mr. Crerar.

Ottawa, June 16 .- When Hon. T. A. Crerar, the ex-Minister of Agriculture, told the House of Comme that agriculture in Ontario had steadily retrogressed since the introduc-tion of a protective tariff, he aroused resentment among members from that province. That resentment was voiced by Dr. J. W. Edwards during the debate on the budget. The Frontenac member asserted that the former minister must have secured his information from an unreliable AND WINS, THE RECORD FOR source because his statement was quite inaccurate.
