THEATRICAL.

At the Grand.
For to-night Tuesday and Wednesday, an excellent programme of high-class vaudeville and feature photoplays has been arranged at the Grand Opera House. William Fox presents a five-reel feature, "Smiles," a play as popular as the son of the same name, with Jane and Katherine Lee in the leading roles. "Smiles" is a play of a thousand laughs and a hundred thrills, including a flight by airplane of the two children. A splendid two-reel comedy in which Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran will exploit their laugh-producing antics will be shown, also the screen magazine which contains an interesting collection of up-to-the-minute news items gathered from all parts of the world. Vaudeville of the better class has been secured; it consists of five charming and talented young ladies in a musical and singing act that is sure to please all for the first three days of this week.—Adv't.

At the Strand.
It is only human to be delighted with the pretty face and dainty ways of the heroine, or follow on the screen with admiring gaze the well-bred ease and manly bearing of the handsome sultor for her hand. But there is a fascination, too, in the cleverly wrought-out characterization which depends for its effect on experienced artistry and carries true to the observer the sense of vitality, truthness to life, and, in a word, conviction. Such a characterization is that of Brown, the old ferryman in "A Man in the Open," as played by Joseph Dowling in support of Dustin Farnum. His stooping shoulders, weather-beaten face, skinned hands clutching the ferry hawser, the swiftly sweeping eyes as a danger threatens on the receding bank, his feverish haste to cross the stream, and glowing satisfaction as he hitches his boat safe on the farther side—such and much more is depicted with convincing lifelikeness by the master actor. "A Man in the Open," with Dustin Farnum, will be presented at the Strand Theatre today.—Adv't.

HORSE BURNED TO DEATH.
When a Barn Was Destroyed by Fire on Monday.
At 11.50 a.m. Monday fire was discovered in a barn in rear of house No. 131 Montreal street. The fire brigade responded, but the barn was well ablaze when it arrived at the scene, and the structure was destroyed along with a horse, harness, buggy and feed valued at $350, and owned by H. Bowen. An adjoining barn, owned by Capt. Simons, was damaged. It is supposed the fire was started by children playing with matches.

The Harbor Plans.
Good progress is being made in connection with the Government plans for putting Kingston harbor into shape for grain trans-shipment trade to meet the needs of the new Welland canal. To-day S. J. Chapleau, chief engineer of the public works department, Ottawa; C. D. Howe, elevator expert of Port Arthur, and engineers of the three railway companies, are conferring at the city hall with regard to the best sites for the elevators. Mr. Howe thinks Kingston has an exceptionally fine harbor for grain trans-shipment.

Military Football League Opens.
The military football league was formally opened at the cricket field on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock, when Mayor Newman gave an address on sport. The ball was kicked off by Major W. J. McManus in the absence of Brig.-Gen. Williams, and the first game took place between the returned soldiers of the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company and the Vocational School. F. Ingledew was referee. The game resulted in a victory for the vocational team by a score of 5 to 1.

Milo Trotter, Cardinal, a military defaulter, was fined $250 and costs for one month in jail by County Magistrate J. W. Bradshaw on Saturday.

Military News

One of the Kingston men to return with the 38th battalion on Saturday was Pte. Thomas Hughes, of 177 Alfred street. He is the last of six brothers who went to France in the C.E.F., and his father is still overseas.

Lieut.-Col. Charles A. Low who recruited and commanded the 146th battalion from Kingston, is in Ottawa on his return from overseas. He will visit for a day or two with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Low, before proceeding to Aymer, Ont., where his wife and family reside.

Lieut.-Col. W. P. Wilgar, D.S.O., Mrs. Wilgar and Master Billie Wilgar, who returned to Canada by the Olympic, are in Ottawa and will visit Mrs. Wilgar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Low. Col. Wilgar will remain in Ottawa for only a few days, and will proceed to Victoria, B.C., to visit his mother.

The troops from the 88. Olympic, consisting of three officers and sixty other ranks, arrived by G.T.R. at Fort de Pont barracks at 4 a.m. Monday. Mayor H. W. Newman and Lieut. Askwith were on hand to welcome them. Capt. Foster and Ensign Harbour, of the Salvation Army, were also there. The men were conveyed by Lieut. Askwith to the Barrifield huts to receive their discharge.

A PORTSMOUTH LAD'S THRILLING DEED.
As nice a bit of horseman-ship as one is likely ever to see anywhere was performed on Union street on Saturday when a horse driven by George Graham, of Portsmouth, was running away. The bridle broke, and the lad seeing that a dangerous accident was inevitable, sprang over the dash board of his wagon on to the horse's back and caught him with his hands around the throat and pressing on his wind pipe brought him to a halt.

GEN. V. A. S. WILLIAMS DEMOLISHED STATUS.
He Would Have Nothing at Fort Henry Made by a German.
The detachment at Fort Henry now consists of about thirty men, although the strength is supposed to be 150 all ranks. It has been found impossible to get men to remain in uniform after their return from the campaign overseas. The men have very little to do in the way of guard duties, and they have the place in fine shape.

The life sized statue of Atlas that was made by the German internees prisoners of war, has been demolished. This was a nude figure in a kneeling posture on a stone pedestal, and the left hand supported the sphere representing the World. It is reported that Brig.-Gen. Williams, G.O.C., upon seeing the statue, inquired where it came from. One of the men replied that it was made by a German. The general thereupon dealt it a violent blow with a heavy rake saying, "I'll have nothing German about here."

The bass fishing season opened Monday and a large number of enthusiasts who have been preparing their tackle in anticipation left early in the morning for Battersea.
