I love the restful gloaming, I give it quite a boost; then weary birds are homing, and roosters go to roost. Then all the strident racket of work-day hours is done; the toiler's drawn his packet of green, uplifting mon; and to his humble cottage he in the dusk repairs, and grumbles at the pottage, and breaks a lot of chairs. Oh, it is sweet and restful when evening shadows fall, and I possess a breast full of grati tude for all; the fact that I'm existing is soothing to me nerves; I'm wotting and I'm wisting that life has lovely curves. It is a time of beauty when day is worn and gray, and stars line up for duty, and Luna cuts some hay, when all the world is quiet, indulging in repose, and there's no din or riot that busy daytime knows. Oh, then the heart grows mellow, the bosom full of peace; man knows that strife is yellow, that ies which have their funds invested of misfortune. The child that is of high light, on kindliness and love; I feel a mighty longing to go forth bickerings should cease. There's something in the twi-

The ideal fuel for household purposes. It is coal with all the smoke and gas producing substances removed —leaving pure carbon—no dust, no soot, little ash—lots of heat.

We do not claim this to be the best fuel because we handle it; on the contrary, we handle it because it is the best.
