

Brand Whitlock's BELGIUM

The Story of the Heart of the War

By far the most important book of the Twentieth Century—the tragic story of the Rape of Belgium—the heart of the war—a book that will live forever, by a great diplomat and a distinguished author, the United States Minister to Belgium.

The complete story by the man whose testimony is final—one official whom the Germans permitted to leave Belgium with the diaries he had kept during the invasion—the most valuable literary work that has grown out of the war.

BOTTLE BEHIND A BUREAU MANY APPLICANTS PLACED

MAGISTRATE TOLD NAPOLEON NEWELL IT WAS LAST ONE.

Poor Condition of the Roads is No Excuse for Bicyclists Taking a Spin On the Sidewalks.—Two Young Riders Fined.

Napoleon Newell was in great luck on Wednesday. He certainly was his lucky, day according to the story he told Magistrate Farrell, in the Police Court on Thursday. He was hauled before the court on a charge of being intoxicated. Asked by the magistrate as to where he had secured the liquor, Newell stated that he found a bottle behind a bureau in his home. Just how long said bottle had been there he did not know. He had been overseas three years and it might have been there all that time but he did not know for sure.

"That's the last bottle you can find behind the bureau," remarked His Worship, as he tacked on a fine of $10 and costs.

Kingston roads are in very bad condition. Everyone will hold up both hands in support of this motion, but nevertheless, the condition of the roads will not justify you in speeding your bicycle on the side walk. Two young bicyclists paid a fine of $1 and costs, or a grand total of $3.50 each in to the police court treasury because they took a spin on a walk that looked more inviting than the roadway. Two wide-awake policemen caught the offenders while they were out looking for auto spacers the other afternoon.

IN SUITABLE POSITIONS BY EMPLOYMENT BUREAU.

Splendid Young Men Going on Farms—Only Men Who Want to Become Farmers are Wanted for Rural Work.

The government employment bureau has been very successful in placing returned soldier applicants in suitable positions. The work formerly done by Soldiers' Aid Commission is about closed up. The bureau too, has taken over the work of the G.W.V.A. and the Army and Navy Veterans, thus closing up three offices that had to be supported, two of them at the expense of the soldiers themselves. The staff in the office of the market square is busy every hour.

When asked whether the banks were taking back their former clerks, it was stated that they held the positions open for the return of all their employees who enlisted, but the girls who were retained, although it is the intention of the banks to employ males chiefly, as before the war.

The Soldiers and Settlement Board is placing many splendid young men on farms and it is recognized that the success of the undertaking depends upon the greatest discrimination, in order that only suitable men who are determined to make farming their permanent occupation may get the benefit of the government aid. While the board has great scope and could place large numbers of men, experience thus far shows that it is difficult to carry on the work as extensively as desired. It is not a charity, but a purely business proposition, and its success depends upon the ability of the applicant.

AMONG THIRTY THOUSAND ISLANDS OF GEORGIAN BAY

The 30,000 islands of the Georgian Bay is one of the most attractive of Canada's summer resort territories, with its shaded nooks, wave-lashed shores and rocky forest depths. It comprises some of the finest fishing grounds, where bass, pickerel and muskellunge are plentiful, and lake trout are caught weighing from ten to fifteen pounds. Among the attractions other than fishing, this district offers fine canoe routes for long and short trips among the islands and amid fascinating scenery. Excellent bathing beaches are found at all the principal points. As a health resort the region is famous, the air being pure and invigorating. The district is reached by the Grand Trunk Railway System, the trains connecting steamer which calls at all the important resorts. For full information apply to J. P. DOMINION DAY BASEBALL.

Local Teams Are Preparing For Manhattan Giants. With good baseball weather to favor them, the board of management of the City Baseball League is hopeful that the Dominion Day events between the colored Manhattan Giants and City League teams will outclass anything that has yet been seen in the city. Splendid reports are coming in of the playing of the Giants across the line and their games are anticipated in the city on July 1st. Athletics will meet the negroes in the morning and Ponies will come up against them in the afternoon. Both teams are in good fettle for the games, and a nifty struggle may be expected.

IN MARINE CIRCLES.

Movements of Vessels in and About Kingston Harbor. The lively breeze on Wednesday night made navigation on the lake rough and a number of the boats and difficulty in making the port in time. The water is unusually high this year and the big waves washed over the wharves in many cases. The steamer Toronto passed down and up on Thursday. The steamer Fairfax passed up from Montreal to Erie ports to load coal on Wednesday afternoon. The steamer Tex cleared on Wednesday night for Oswego.

Nearly a Serious Fire.

The Montauk Point hotel, James K. Hackett's summer home and a number of other cottages in that vicinity were menaced by fire on Monday when about three acres of land burned over. The buildings were saved by the efforts of Clayton people. Berry pickers started the blaze. The flames were stopped just before the edge of the pine woods was reached.

Married On Wednesday.

The marriage of Jennie Guild, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Guild, Mallorytown, graduate nurse of the Kingston General Hospital and Charles W. LETTER CARRIER ORGANIZER.

Makes Some Pointed Remarks in An Address Here.

At a mass meeting in the Trades and Labor Council hall Wednesday afternoon Mr. Hoop, organizer of the Winnipeg letter carriers, gave an address on the labor situation in that city. At the outset he stated that nobody expected that it would be six weeks strike. The labor movement was a young man's fight, but there were too many old men in it who were inclined to be over-cautious.

Taking up the question of capital and labor, he said that they represented two great extremes, and declared that labor would be justified in putting up a scaffold for the capitalists who made 300 per cent and hoarded their ill-gotten gains as disclosed by the evidence taken before the cost of living commission. "Labor has got to become a religious movement," said Mr. Hoop, and referring to the One Big Union, he said it must be made bigger. This was the great objective of organized labor.

He could not see that an increase in wages has a chance for the increase in the cost of living. Taking up the Lethbridge Act he said it was the work of capitalists who control legislation, and in any adjustment made under it the dice were always loaded to the disadvantage of labor. But there is now a new era in the labor movement that calls for greater sacrifices than ever before. "We must take men by the seat of the neck and force them into our organizations," said the speaker. "You are justified in using almost any method to force men into organizations, for those outside the organization are parasites who benefit by every act of ours without any cost to themselves."

"Theologies and philosophies are meant to teach the worker that he is a hero in all-in-all, but it is the heresay that concerns the worker, and I am not so sure that I want to go to heaven."
"Man," said the speaker, "only thinks by comparisons: time, space and matter; right and wrong; past and future. The capitalist found his heaven in the accumulation and enjoyment of wealth, but the hell for the worker is what the capitalist robs him of." He explained the war of the capitalist class, but he said, labor was awake at last and now knows how to play the game.

OUT-OF-TOWN PEOPLE.

Have Been Summoned for Speeding On the City Streets.
The auto spacers snipped by the police are not all residents of Kingston. This week several summonses were issued for out-of-town people, who, it is alleged, violated the speed by-law while in Kingston. The parties summoned belong to various places. The summonses have been mailed to the police in the outside places, to be served on the people charged.
