THE RING.

Jeff Smith will try to eliminate Mike Gibbons as a contender for Mike O'Dowd's middleweight championship when he meets the St. Paul Phantom in a 12-round bout at Kansas City, Mo., July 4th. The two have met before in no-decision bouts.

Frank Darcy, brother of the late Les Darcy who started off to emulate his brother in the roped arena, is seriously ill, and his friends fear that he may not be able to box for a long time, if at all. Like his brother, Frank is a middleweight, and is said to be almost as hard a hitter as the late Australian champion.

Joe Lynch, the New York bantam, who fought Jimmy Wilde 15 rounds in London recently, will get a chance at Pete Herman. The two go six rounds at Shibe Park, Philadelphia, June 25th. Wilde was awarded the decision over Lynch on points, but the referee's action was greatly criticized by the English press and the boxing fans.

Because of a difference in weight Lew Tandler and Joe Welling may not get together in their six-round bout at Philadelphia, June 30th. Tandler wants the weight to be 134 pounds, ring-side, while Welling is holding out for a pound heavier at the same time. The one-pound dispute may keep the fight-weights apart.

Jimmy Clabby, the American middleweight, is still in Australia, where he is recovering from an attack of influenza which threatened for a time to be fatal. A letter from the Antipodes conveys the news that Clabby is still weak and will not be able to battle for some time. Clabby is quite a favorite in Australia, having enlisted in the Australian army while the war was on.

Clay Turner, the Indian light-heavyweight, who has been out of the ring for almost two months because of fractured ribs, expects to return to the ring very shortly. The Indian was beaten up pretty badly in a bout with Kid Norfolk the negro, and has done little work since then.

John Reiser, boxing promoter and manager at Tulsa, Okla., wants Bill Brennan and Billy Miske to meet in a 20-round decision on his 15th July 4th, to decide which should be the next challenger for the heavy-weight title. Miske cannot meet Brennan on that day as he boxes in Rosford, O., a suburb of Toledo, this night before the Willard-Dempsey fight.

Willie Jackson, the New York lightweight, was out on the Pacific coast recently, and took part in several bouts. He became quite a favorite, and was asked to return in July. Jackson has found that bouts will be plentiful in the east and middle west this summer, and has decided not to return to California until September.

Pal Moore will receive a record price for meeting Jimmy Wilde in London next month. Moore will get $15,000 for taking on the British champion. This is a higher price than any other bantam-weight has ever received for ring service. Johnny Coulton received $8,000 when he lost his title to Kid Williams, and this was the top figure for the little boys.

Johnny Ertle, who claimed the bantamweight championship after an alleged foul by Kid Williams in 1915 has never decisively beaten a top-notch boxer. Instead, he himself has been knocked out in turn by Dick Loadman, Frankie Burns, and recently by Pete Herman. He also lost to Pal Moore.

Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, regrets that he could not meet George Carpentier, French and European heavyweight titleholder, before returning to this country after service in France with the American army. O'Dowd challenged Carpentier while in France, but did not get a comeback.

Benny Valgar, who has claimed both the bantam and featherweight titles of France while boxing in this country, has never boxed a round in France. He was born in that country, but has been in America since he was a child. Valgar is a good boxer, but claiming titles that do not belong to him will not help his cause.

There is a dearth of lightweight boxing material in England and the title has lapsed since Freddy Welch, former lightweight champion of the world, decided to take up his residence in this country. The most likely successor for Welch's English honors was Jerry Delaney, and he gave up his life early in the war.

Harry Wills, the big negro heavy-weight who declares he can whip both Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard, is having a hard job getting most of the willow when his name is "drawn" the line when his own color don't want to meet him.

Rickard Inytes Flanagan, Tom Flanagan, Inspector of Dominion Police, Toronto, has been invited by Tex Rickard to go to Toledo to act as an official in connection with the Willard-Dempsey bout. The Toronto sportsman is rather too busy engaged with the duties of his office to make the trip, much as he would like to see the contest. However, he has not yet decided whether or not it will be possible for him to accept the appointment offered by Rickard.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM PERMANENTLY CURED

NEW BRUNSWICK LADY GIVES FULL PARTICULARS OF HER RECOVERY

There are many types of rheumatism, but none worse than inflammatory.

It was this kind that almost killed Mrs. Edw. Warman, of Kent, Jct., N. B.

Every known remedy she tried, different doctors gave their advice, but the disease increased.

Weak, and despairing, she was at her wit's end when the remarkable cure of Thos. Cullen was published. This gentleman was cured of rheumatism by "Ferrozone." Consequently Mrs. Warman used the same remedy. Here is her statement:

"For five years I have been rheumatic. I tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints and muscles, these swelled, caused excruciating pain and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Ferrozone. Every day I took Ferrozone. I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy and a feeling of new life. Ferrozone cured my rheumatism, cured it so that not an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me."

Ferrozone has power to destroy Uric Acid, neutralize and enrich the blood, and therefore does cure the worst cases. Mr. Warman's statement proves this.

By removing the cause of the disease and building up a reserve of energy, Ferrozone is certain to cure Sufferers, isn't it about time to stop experimenting? Ferrozone is a CURE, order to-day, 50c per box, or six for $2.50, sold by all dealers.

DEMPSEY FAVORED TO WIN FIGHT IN VOTE TAKEN

The completed poll, taken by the National Police Gazette of 336 opinions as to who will win the fight for the heavyweight championship of the world on July 4th, at Toledo, Ohio, shows that 172 favor Jack Dempsey to win the crown, while 144 believe that Jess Willard will conquer his challenger. Twenty others have declared themselves unable to figure out the winner. The opinions, obtained by the National Police Gazette, represent the solid convictions of men throughout the United States and Canada, who were held best qualified to render an opinion on the result of a sporting event of so great an importance as the Willard-Dempsey fight. For this reason they can be said to be an expression of popular sentiment throughout these two countries on the outcome of the big battle. The 172 that favor Dempsey are divided as follows: National and American League baseball players, 89; sporting editors, 44; fighters, 16; actors, 7; race track men, 5; fight promoters, 2; managers of fighters, 4; wrestlers, 1; miscellaneous, 3. The 144 that picked Willard are: National and American League baseball players, 97; sporting editors, 25; race track men, 6; fighters, 6; actors, 5; fight promoters, 1; managers of fighters, 1; miscellaneous, 3. The doubtful ones are: National and American League baseball players, 13; sporting editors, 5; fighters, 2.

Will Not Witness Fight.

Jess Willard's wife will not see him box on July 4th. That story was nailed to-day. She has never seen Jess in a ring suit, neither has any of the little Willards. The champion said: "I wish you would straighten that statement out. I never mix boxing with my domestic life. It is a business with me, and I leave business behind when I enter the home. In fact, I never talk ring affairs at home, especially before the youngsters. Of course, my boys are going to be taught to take care of themselves, and are to have the lessons of clean manhood pictured to them vividly, but they will never be trained for professional boxers. It seems to be the only vocation in the world where if a man strives to live straight and right, he becomes a target of abuse. I want my boys to be spared that."

Pugilist Johnson's Finish.

Jack Johnson wrote the finish of his boxing career Sunday afternoon in Mexico City, in an exhibition bout with Bob Roper, Chicago. Johnson weighs 210 pounds and has great rolls of fat on his stomach. He lacked judgment of distance, although he spent two months training. Johnson has stated to the press that Jack Dempsey has promised to visit Mexico for a 25-round bout with him, but, judging from Sunday's performance, Jack's usefulness as a boxer is limited to six-round exhibitions.
