The male Malekulan is a crack marksman with the bow and poisoned arrow, and as inveterate a clubman as a wealthy bachelor. In many islands of the New Hebrides each village has its clubhouse, and upon his standing among his club fellows depends his rank in the community. Moreover, there is a combination community forum, public dance hall, and children's playground under the banyan-tree of nearly every native

There are many differences between the Malekulan and the natives of other islands, though most of them are obviously Malanesian, from their thick, woolly hair, coal black skin, flat noses, and heavy lips. The Malekulans are accorded the palm for ferocity and cruelty by many travellers, though they are not unique among the Hebrides natives in these respects. On some islands the women expect to be buried alive with their husbands' bodies. A redeeming feature of the Malekulans is their scrupulous honesty. A traveller's life may not be worth much if he irritates a native, but his property is absolutely safe. Another Malekula distinction inheres in the wooden ancestor images found there. These effigies display a resemblance to human beings and attest a latent artistic taste in their crude coloring. Trouble in the New Hebrides is nothing new. In 1904 an Anglo-French expedition was needed to check a native uprising and nearly two decades earlier the French intervened to suppress a vigorous outbreak. The New Hebrides were discovered by a Portuguese sailor early in the seventeenth century, explored somewhat and named by Captain Cook a century and a half later, and were declared neutral by France and Great Britain in 1878. Later agreements provided joint control and administration. The New Hebrides are about 1,600 miles northeast of Sydney, Australia. 'Malekula is one of the larger islands of the group. The largest is Merena. The seat of Government is on the Sandwich Island.

Worthless Crown Jewels.

The greater portion of the imperial jewels, whether belonging to the Austrian er awn or privately owned by the for or emperor, have been substituted with spurious stones. This was done during the war or since hos lities ended.

This fact was discovered during an inventor of the crown property which was being made with the purpose of finding money with which to purchase food for the people and reported to President Seits

GINGHAM IN SMART DEVELOPMENTS

Firmly fixed in the favor of fashion leaders, gingham continues to assert itself. The first frock is in Chinese blue, with trimming details charmingly developed. The front is soutached in vest effect, while the sides of the skirt are stitched with narrow bias bands which hold in place tiny frills of self-materials. Flare cuffs finish the short sleeves. The straight belt is tied at one side with studied indifference. Medium size requires 5 yards 36-inch material and one bunch of soutache braid.

The color scheme in the plaid frock is white, lettuce green and black, with the belt and band about the neck in plain green gingham. The tunic blouse closes on the left shoulder and at the left side. The two-piece skirt is laid in plaits at the back. Medium size calls for 5% yards 36-inch plaid and 54 yard plain gingham, with 1% yard lining for foundations. First Model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 8408. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 25 cents

Second Model: Dress No. 8384, Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 25c. -For Sale by

Pyorrhea, with a premature less of teeth, is almost inevitable if you do not properly care for your gums. Here is

As you age, the body tissues naturally relax. You see this tissue loosening in the neck. It goes on in your gums, too. As you grow older, your gums shrink below the normal gum line. Through lack of care they become spongy and inflamed. Then you have Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease). Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea.
And many under forty, also.

Don't let a tender gum spot develop. These tender spots breed disease germs which enter the system through tiny openings-infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments. Immediately get Forhan's, which positively prevents Pyorrhea if used in time and used consistently. Forhan's tones the gums and hardens them. They in turn keep the teeth healthy. Bruch your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans them scientificallykeeps them white and clean,

If gum-shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment 35 and 60e tubes. All Druggists. FO. HAN'S, LTD., 307 St. James St., Montreal.
