WILL SEEK TO CURE HIM

AMARDALE HURT—SHE MAY BE UNABLE TO RACE

Speedy Syracuse Pacer Won Out at Cleveland Despite Sprained Tendon.

Syracuse, N.Y., Post-Standard.

Amar Dale, the sensational pacer, reared by Oliver Hawkins, Wolfe Island, Ont., is suffering with a sprained leg and may not start at the Cranwood, Ohio, meet next week.

John H. Cahill, State Fair commissioner, who is campaigning the speedy bay horse said yesterday that Amardale "pulled a tendon" at Erie two weeks ago and went into the Cleveland race a trifle lame.

"Amardale is entered in the pacing feature at Cranwood next week," said Mr. Cahill yesterday. "He may not be able to start, although I have hopes that his injury is not as serious as was at first feared. He made a gallant race, under severe handicaps at Cleveland, winning the first two heats of the 2:10 pace in fast time."

Mr. Cahill has entered Amardale in the 2:06 Chamber of Commerce pacing stake at the State Fair grand circuit meeting and Syracuse horsemen are anxious to have him perform. In his three starts this season he has won handily and harness drivers in Central New York expect him to come close to the 2:03 mark before the campaign ends.

In case his injury does not yield to treatment in time for him to race at Cranwood, Mr. Cahill will have Pat Chertier, who is driving the speeder, bring him to Syracuse and get him into shape for the big race here.

SWANS SECURED FOR CONDE FARM

Birds to Be Placed on Reserve and Stock Farm Near Crossmon Point.

Frederic Conde, who recently purchased 130 acres of land near Crossmon Point, just down Alexandria Bay, which he is going to convert into a game preserve and fancy stock farm, received word that six white swans had been secured for the place, and it is believed that they are one their way here.

The swans are of special beauty and this variety is considered more attractive than that of the famous European swans. A wire fence is being erected in the water not far from the shore in order to prevent the swans from swimming away and in a few days, it is expected, those on passing boats will have the opportunity to view these graceful birds. Some black swans will be added to the flock next year.

Bowling On Thursday

Buffalo Prospects Play the Ponies Here Saturday

Local fans will be glad to know that the City League executive has made arrangements for the return of the Buffalo Prospects to the city Saturday to play the Ponies. They were here the other night and were defeated by the Athletics and the city leaguers are hopeful that as many fans will turn out to the game at the cricket field at 3 p.m., on Saturday.

The Ponies are determined that the Athletics will not show up and better by comparison and they have set out to win the fixture. "Joe" Daley is going to have his best trotters on the diamond and a hot struggle is looked for.

The Prospects on the other hand are coming over and are looking for a win. They were rather up in the air that they lost the last game and they are going to make a strong bid for the beginning of a winning streak tomorrow. Whichever way the game goes it is sure to be one of the best games of the season.

A NEW EXECUTIVE FOR THE MILITARY FOOTBALL LEAGUE

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Military Football League on Thursday evening, the protest entered by the Army and Navy over the game between the District Depot and the G.W.V.A. game played Wednesday evening was withdrawn.

A general discussion took place upon a number of points that have been causing much dissatisfaction for some time and some officials resigned. Another meeting will be called and a new executive will likely be appointed.

GOLFER TO BE PINCHED IN TEST PROCEEDINGS

After Bluecoat Takes Custody of Player, Case Will Go to Courts.

Chief John H. Plunkett of the Massachusetts District Police announced yesterday at Boston that he had entered into an agreement with officers of the Massachusetts Golf Association, whereby a decision of the State Supreme Court on the legality of Sunday golf playing will be speedily obtained.

According to the agreement, a member of one of the clubs of the State Golf Association will begin a match next Sunday, and after playing a few shots will be summoned by district police officers to appear in court the next day, on a charge of violating the law by playing golf on Sunday. The case will be taken as soon as possible to the Supreme Court.

Chief Plunkett said that pending the court's decision he would make no further effort to stop Sunday golf. The decision to bring a test case was reached after the district police had stopped play on a number of courses in Massachusetts Sunday.

CORBETT SHED TEARS WHEN WILLARD QUIT

"Jim Corbett was in a seat near Jess Willard's corner when the big Kansas cowboy lost his title to Dempsey, and actually shed tears when Willard's seconds tossed up the towel as a signal of defeat," writes the sporting editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Jim thought that Jess was too big for Dempsey and was surprised when Jack flattened out the Kansas farmer."

"The writer was in a position to observe how a number of former champions acted under the excitement of the moment. Besides Corbett, Johnny Kilbane, Battling Nelson, Benny Leonard, Jack O'Brien, Freddie Welsh and Johnny Coulon had seats at the ringside. It was while the battle raged that the writer gave each of the men the once over and observed the expression on their faces. Corbett tried to keep his head by tying a silk handkerchief around his neck. He flung it nervously, with his eyes cast in the ring. He shuffled about in his seat and crossed his knees half a dozen times. Then the strain became too intense and Jim had to stand up. He did not utter a word at any time, but his eyes glued on Willard. When Willard's seconds threw up the towel Jim turned his head and tears were running down his cheeks. In his mind he probably could picture himself being knocked out at Carson City by Bob Fitzsimmons. Sympathy was plainly written on his face and he appeared to be deeply affected by the picture before him. Near Corbett stood his old manager, Billy Brady, who does not bother much with the fighting game nowadays. Bill watched all the proceedings, but did not get excited. He is an old hand at the game and does not fly off the handle very easily. Brady said to a friend after the fight that he was attracted to Toledo more out of curiosity than anything else. He was a bit put out because the arena was not filled, but stated that no one would have to borrow money to pay bills. From his conversation Brady thinks that it will be many moons before another such battle as this one will be staged in Ohio.

TO STUDY YACHTS.

English Yacht Racing Association Sending Delegates Out.

The English Yacht Racing Association are sending out a committee composed of W. P. Burton, vice-president, and Major H. Smith, secretary, of the association, to study the yachts built in America under what is known as the universal rule. They are arriving on the Megantic about Aug. 18th and will go to Toronto to first study the Royal Canadian Yacht Club "P" class yachts, of which that club has a fleet second to none. After that they will go to New York and Boston. Their visit is for the purpose of making a report to the committee of the Y.R.A. and to the committee of the International Yacht Association, on the advisability of adopting this rule and thus making the system of measuring racing yachts uniform on both sides of the Atlantic.
