

Northern Canadian Rockies and the Skeena River

In days no further back than five years ago, the glorious scenery of the Canadian Rockies in central British Columbia, which has been opened up by the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, was reserved for the intrepid hunter or prospector and the native red man. Today this playground, so expansive that distances do not describe it, is virtually at the door of tourists, travellers, alpinists and sportsmen. This unspoiled wilderness may be penetrated to the very heart in luxurious, modern railway trains.

PRINCE LANDS AT ST. JOHN

At the Union Club official luncheon the prince said: "I do not feel that I came to this great dominion as a stranger, since I have been so closely associated with the Dominion troops throughout the war and have made so many friends among them. Some, like my friend Sir Henry Burstall, are soldiers still. Many are now, no doubt, demobilized and have returned to their civil work. I look forward to seeing them one and all again during my tour through the Dominion which will take me from these maritime provinces to Quebec and Ontario, and thence through the western provinces to your Pacific coast."
"I hope that this feeling of mine will be shared by all of you. I want to look the same as a Canadian, if not actually by birth, yet certainly in mind and spirit, for as the eldest son of the ruler of the Great British Empire, it will always be my earnest endeavor to prove myself true to these friendships and worthy of your trust. I shall have many other occasions for saying all I feel of the splendid part that Canada played in the great world struggle just fought by the Empire and its Allies. We owe an imperishable debt, not only to your sailors, soldiers and airmen, but also to those who remained at home to carry on your industries and to the women of Canada, whose help was inestimable both at home and at the front. Of these noble services as a whole I hope to speak elsewhere."
His Royal Highness was dressed in a naval uniform without any distinctive trappings. He is twenty-four years of age, but looks younger. He shared a keen interest in all around him, and there was a touch of self-consciousness in his manner almost suggestive of shyness. The prince and his party will board the cruiser to-night for Halifax.

New Penitentiary Warden.
It is reported that Warden Creighton, of the Portsmouth penitentiary, will be succeeded by W. J. MacLeod, of the Prince Albert penitentiary, and a brother-in-law of Superintendent of Penitentiaries, W. S. Hughes. A brigadier-general of the west is slated for the Prince Albert penitentiary, which it is intended to still keep open. Superintendent Hughes went west this week.

Appointed To Office.
The Grand master of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Ontario has appointed the following Kingston men as officers of the Grand Lodge: Grand Senior Deacon, Wm. S. R. Murch; Grand Steward, K. S. Graham.

TROOPS MAN WALLS OF LONDONDERRY

To Prevent Nationalists and Sinn Fein "Lady Day" Demonstration.
(Canadian Press Despatch)
Londonderry, Ireland, Aug. 15.—Troops manned the walls of Londonderry, Ireland, Friday, for the first time since the siege of 1689 as part of the military effort to prevent the nationalist and Sinn Fein "lady day" demonstration forbidden by the British commander, Gen. Hackett-Paine. A number of members of the British House of Commons representing Irish districts left for Ireland Thursday night after it was announced the Government had decided to suppress all Sinn Fein and kindred organizations in County Clare.

LOOK FOR SETTLEMENT.

Another Kingstonian Had Narrow Escape.
George S. Coward, Pine street, who has been doing pathological work for the Dominion government, near Lacerte, Que., was one of those who narrowly escaped injury at the Mystic Hill, which was destroyed with loss of life at Dominion Park in Montreal on Sunday. Mr. Coward had just come from the Hill when smoke was seen to issue and the persons who entered the car after him were burned to death when the structure collapsed. Mr. Coward is now in the city, but is leaving for Lethbridge, Alta., on Saturday.

Very Enjoyable Trips.

The Saturday and Sunday trips of the steamer Brockville are the feature of the season. Captain Carnegie is probable one of the best navigators of the St. Lawrence and he endeavors to give those who go on these excursions through the islands the best possible views. The trips will be continued during the balance of the season. Owing to the slight draft of the vessel she is able to go through the Needle's Eye at the foot of Howe Island, between Gananoque and Tremont Park; the River further down where boats cannot pass, and who can almost jump from the vessel to the shore; Deer Island Plat at the head of Grenadier Island and thence to Alexandria Bay where three quarters of an hour is allowed. The boat leaves the foot of Brock street at 2 p.m. and returns at 11 p.m.

President Wilson on Friday vetoed the bill repealing the daylight saving law next year. He declared the pressing need of the country was for production.

At a meeting of Queen's Summer School Association the students voted to omit German and recommended a class in Spanish.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and, you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach, which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

Moral Uplift Of Prisoners.

The penitentiary wardens and chaplains have been sent questionnaires dealing with the moral uplift of prison inmates. There are twenty questions to which answers are required, based upon the past experience of these officials in their efforts to raise the moral conceptions of those under their charge. It is stated that a vast improvement is being sought in the administration of the penitentiaries.

Music in the Home

What the Government Should Do.
One thing that stands out prominently in the musical discussions of today is the insistent demand for a greater recognition of music on the part of the state. Governments and city councils are being urged by the citizens to give music the place it ought to have in their lives. Out in Australia state-aided music has made good progress. They have their government conservatory of music, supported and operated under the jurisdiction of the Australian government.

In a recent address, Professor W. A. Laver, of the Melbourne University Conservatorium of Music, outlined what he considered to be the duties of their government. His views are of more than passing interest in Canada. "I think the government should take steps," he said, "in the interests of a sound musical culture; to legalize the registration of all teachers of music:

(3) To set aside certain amounts from time to time, as necessity arises, for the development of its national music institution—the University Conservatorium of Music. A proscenium with stage effects has since been granted through private munificence.

(4) To establish a first-class State military band.

"I may mention that, at the last Interstate conference of the Pan-Australian examination scheme, arrangements were made for representatives of the various States to obtain information with the object of conducting examinations in brass and military band instrument playing, in order to encourage and create a finer standard of this class of player. Anyone who has heard the fine military bands of Great Britain and the Continent, will realize the value of initiating a first-class military band.

There is, I understand, a fine collection of military band music at the Forts at Queenscliff. This should be placed in the University or Public Library for use and reference.

(5) To establish a permanent symphony orchestra for the higher development of musical culture. The orchestra may either be associated with the University Conservatorium or be a separate body, controlled by an expert body under the chairmanship of the Minister or Director of Education.

(6) To establish grand opera. Before this is possible with any degree of success, it is necessary to establish an operatic school.

(7) The Government should also give a special grant of, say, £200 a year—a kind of research scholarship—for a period of three years, to an Australian-born possessed of outstanding creative ability as a composer, pianist, poet or dramatist.

"This would encourage creative art and help to form in course of time an Australian school of composition, painting and literature."

Keep them in the house says Bobby Just the thing for breakfast or lunch in summertime. POST TOASTIES Superior Corn Flakes
