CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

IT SANCTIONED THE PRESENT SYSTEM OF ROAD PATCHING

Gave the Board of Works $3,000 More Appropriation For Further Road Repairs—To Rectify Balliff's Seizure For Dog Tax.

The City Council had a special session Monday night after the reception to Brig-Gen. Ross and spent two hours in talking about road repairs, the manner of their doing and some irregularities reported upon by Auditor Muir, who wrote the acting city engineer that unless the schedules of paying by-laws were properly completed he would not pass the accounts for paying out any more money on the work. However everything was set to rights, and the council sanctioned the road patching system of the chairman of the Board of Works, who received praise from some members of council for the work he is gratuitously doing for the city and a scolding from others because he has not done some in their wards. A large number of citizens occupied the gallery benches and applauded when Ald. Graham recounted the amount of road patching and paving done so far this year.

Ald. Graham as usual was the leading man, and the mayor and the city auditor were his targets. He read a letter from the auditor to the acting engineer saying that he could not pass any further accounts for road work unless the by-laws were completed, and that the work on some of the blocks, which had been termed patching, looked to him like reconstruction and should be done on the local improvement plan. Ald. Graham claimed that the auditor was trying to block his street work and declared that the Utilities Commission was altogether too slow for him. They were always in his way and holding him back in paving. He had done no paving with coal tar. All the work was merely patching.

The Auditor's Denial

Auditor Muir denied that he was trying to hold up street work, but pointed out that the statutory requirements had to be fulfilled. It was his duty to see that moneys were not improperly paid out, and he would be remiss in his duty if he did not draw irregularities to the attention of the council when he became aware of them.

Ald. Wright came to the rescue at this stage of the discussion and the by-laws for the paving of Princess and Stuart streets were finally completed according to requirement. Ald. Corbett announced that the auditor had also drawn to his attention the necessity of making changes in the wording of the by-laws between the city and the fair association regarding the mode of the expenditure of money in repairs on the fair buildings and grounds. The changes were accordingly made, and that matter was set right, the auditor receiving Ald. Corbett's commendation.

In telling of the work done on the roads, Ald. Graham stated that he had patched twenty-nine blocks so far at an average cost of $145 a block. He still had $2,000 of his appropriation and $1,000 of coal patch on hand. He had used stone taken from Princess street in patching other streets. All he was charging the city for his labors was the cost of the gasoline to run his car through the day. Ald. Graham claimed that this year the city had something to show in road repairs for the money spent. He was working on a system, and if Ald. Litton would be patient he expected to get around Albert and upper Earl streets after he had patched the holes in Union street from Barrie.

The Board of Works chairman was praised for his work by Aids. Wright, Cooper and Stroud.

Money Illegally Spent.

Ald. Chown moved that the council sanction the system of road patching adopted by Ald. Graham, that the system be continued for the rest of the season and that the Board of Works be granted a further appropriation of $3,000 for road repairs.

Mayor Newman expressed the opinion that the part of the motion regarding a further appropriation was out of order until the finance committee had dealt with it, and before the motion was rectified, Ald. Graham and His Worship had a little argument. The Board of Works chairman asked the mayor how much money he had expended illegally during the year. The mayor strenuously objected to such a charge being laid at his door, and denied that he as mayor had done anything illegally. He asked Ald. Graham to respect the dignity of the mayor's chair. Ald. Graham replied that as he himself had been mayor for a year he knew what he was talking about, and drew to His Worship's attention the fact that the $700 expended upon the entertainment of the Union of Canadian Municipalities delegates here last week was illegal, because the money was not provided for in the budget. If any citizens complained, the mayor and aldermen who voted for the expenditure could be held liable.

Mayor Newman stated that the council as a body had passed a resolution authorizing the finance committee to make the expenditure. He as mayor was not given the authority, but the committee, of which Ald. Graham was a member.

A by-law was passed for the purchase of a steam roller from the Sawyer-Massey company of Hamilton for $2,500. This roller is needed at once, and is to arrive here this week.

To Settle Authority.

Before council adjourned, Ald. White asked what would Ald. Graham's position be in connection with road work after the 1st of September when City Engineer McClelland would be on the job again. It was decided to leave this matter over for another special meeting when it will be decided if the Board of Works chairman is to be given the same authority as he has exercised during Mr. McClelland's absence.

W. A. Stark applied for permission to drain the houses he is erecting on Concession street, just outside the city limits, into the Victoria street sewer. Objection is raised to this as the present sewer is insufficient for the purpose and should be enlarged. The matter was referred to the Board of Works for report.

On behalf of Alexander McGregor, Ald. Norris made an appeal for immediate action by council in regard to having the balliff return a side-board he seized from Mr. McGregor's home to meet a demand for dog tax. Mr. McGregor has had no dog for several years, but he failed to protect himself by making the required appeal to the Court of Revision, so the city officials had no other course but to collect the amount, and the result was that the balliff was sent in to make a seizure when Mr. McGregor, who is as Scotch as his name, refused on principle to pay something he did not owe. The council decided to pay the tax and secure the return of Mr. McGregor's sideboard.

In attendance at the meeting were Mayor Newman and Aids. Armstrong, Anglin, Chown, Couper, Corbett, Graham, Kent, Litton, Norris, Peters, Patterson, Rodger, Robertson, Simmonds, Stroud, Smith, Wright and White.

BRIG-GEN. ROSS WELCOMED HOME

may long be spared to serve with continued energy and public spirit the best interests of our country and city and to enjoy the affectionate esteem of your fellow citizens.

Signed on behalf of the citizens of Kingston.
H. W. NEWMAN, Mayor
Kingston, Aug. 18th, 1919.

On the conclusion of the reading of the address by the Mayor, W. J. Christmas, conducting the Salvation Army band and the 1st Canadian bandman to cross the Rhine into Germany, called for three cheers for the brigadier-general, which were heartily given with great gusto and vigor and were followed by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Brig-Gen. Ross' Reply.

In a simple reply Brig-Gen. Ross stated that he was deeply touched with the warmth of the reception and that it was a pleasure to be thus welcomed to his home city. He expressed his thanks of the very generous words and the kind feelings and assured Mayor Newman that he had made no attempt to escape the reception which had been planned for him.

He declared that it was a great opportunity to have served with the many fine officers and men that the war had produced and now that the conflict was terminated he was happy to return to the city in good health and to receive such testimonials of esteem and affection as the crowning event of five years' service. He expressed his thanks to those who had assisted in carrying on the struggle in the various spheres of duty—to the men from the trenches, to the nurses and to those who aided at home, especially the women whose work was a source of comfort and cheer at all times. Brig-Gen. Ross also paid a fine tribute to Lieutenant-General Currie, commander of the Canadian corps, who had stimulated the men by his very evident desire to ease their hardships and diminish their worries.

Must Combat Bolshevism.

Addressing more particularly those who had served Brig-Gen. Ross pointed out that as great a menace faces the British Empire today as at the beginning of the war. He noted the dangerous spirit of unrest in the British Isles and he pointed out that the soldiers who had returned to combat Bolshevism and anarchy with all their might. If this were done he was confident that disaster would be averted and he urged that the returned men show the same spirit of self-sacrifice and discipline and courage that carried them on to victory and peace.

"The time demands courage, the time demands discipline, all that is in the men for without them we lose everything to an enemy whom we have often defeated and who is now waiting for a chance to bring disaster upon us. Stand steady, show courage and let us all stand together when we go over the top to defeat the enemy. All must pull together for final victory. There should be no favoritism if we want to keep the empire as strong as ever," were the final words of Brig-Gen. Ross to his soldier comrades.

Eulogy For Queen's Hospital.

He told of his pride in the achievements of Kingston during the war and especially he called the attention of his hearers to the work of No. 7 (Queen's) General Hospital during the war. He stated that at the conclusion of the hostilities the director-general of medical services had appealed to him to retain No. 7 hospital as it was the most efficient in France.

"That hospital did more work in France for the time it was there than any other in the British Empire," said Brig-Gen. Ross. "You may be surprised to know that the Canadian units treated 900,000 cases and of these No. 7 did 103,000." Lieutenant-Col. W. F. Etherington, officer commanding the hospital, was standing behind a piano on the platform when these words were spoken but there was evidently satisfaction coming to him when such eulogies for the work of the hospital were spoken by Dr. Ross.

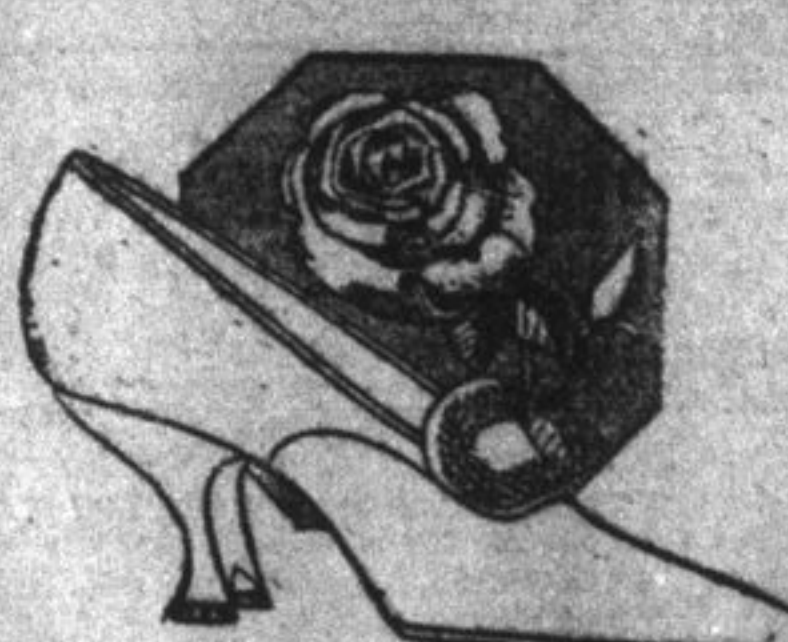

The speaker believed that there was no more beautiful place in the world than Kingston. He said that he had come in contact with many cities but that he had never seen any city as pretty as Kingston. (Applause.) He thought that the citizens did not realize its value and he declared that he had been in no residential section prettier than the second Barrie street and the water front.

In conclusion he said that he could not adequately express his feelings for the very generous reception accorded to him and he retired to a seat beside his young son, Donald, while denouncing cheers were being given.

Mayor Newman read an expression of regret for absence from Ex-Mayor A. Shaw and words of good will from the Army and Navy Veterans.

The meeting closed with three cheers for the King and the National Anthem, after which Brig-Gen. Ross had a handshake with many friends and acquaintances.

THE MILK QUESTION.

A Citizen Would Like the City Supply Regularly Tested.

In speaking about the milk question a citizen, who is an ex-farmer, said to a Whig representative: "As the milk producers of the district have announced that they intend to raise the price of milk from $2.50 to $4 a cwt. to the local retailers, what assurance is there that the kiddies will get better milk? When did our Inspector make his last test and what was the result? You see what Dairy Inspector Fublow has found. He laid charges against six milk producers of the county and secured a conviction in every case. Some of the milk being peddled in the city looks as if it had been diseased with water."
