Frenchman Said, "Je Viendral Mon Cheval," and Now Waits for Money.

Two more of the defaulters who were being held in the county jail pending the payment of a fine of $250 and costs for not reporting for duty were released on Thursday morning.

They were Omer Bourgeois and Noe Cere, and another of the men has announced that he is going to sell his trusty "cheval," that is his horse, in order to be released.

The governor of the jail, C. W. Toppling, has had some amusing experiences with the Frenchmen who are not able to speak a word of English but the language of signs is evidently coming into great use and both prisoners and keepers are very proficient in its use.
