At the Grand. For to-night and Wednesday only, the management of the Grand will offer an exceptionally entertaining programme of feature photoplays and superior vaudeville. Peggy Hyland, who has been a tonic for pleasant conversation since her last screen success, "Marriages Are Made," will appear in an equally amusing feature photoplay "Caught in the Act," a story of youth, love and adventure, beautifully enhanced by scenes of summer homes and stately urban residences, making suitable atmosphere for the superb acting of Miss Hyland. Another five reel feature with the Universal Screen Magazine and an excellent two reel comedy will be presented along with an act of the better class of vaudeville.—Advt.

The Great Blackstone. The Grand Opera House offers for three nights commencing Thursday, Sept. 4th, with a Saturday matinee, the Great Blackstone known as the World's Master Magician. This is the first time Blackstone has ever appeared here, and the super-man of mysticism is prepared to open eyes of those who doubt that the hand is quicker than the eye. He comes with fifteen attendants, the largest troupe carried by any magician. His mysterious and weird performance runs the gamut of magical innovations covering oriental mysticism, psychic phenomena, spiritualism, black and white magic, mind reading and card manipulation.—Advt.

At Griffin's. A very large audience attended the initial showing last evening of Bryant Washburn's new picture "Putting It Over," which is a light comedy drama in which the star has a role of a good natured hick with big town ambitions. No one is quite so successful in depicting characters of this sort as Mr. Washburn and the story is clever and original. He is a practical joker from a small town, who goes to the big city to make his fortune and whose propensity to play practical jokes nearly causes him to lose not only his ten dollar a week position as soda clerk, but the love of a charming girl as well. This joke wakes him up to the responsibilities of the hour, and he goes in with the big idea and wins. Don't miss this picture.—Advt.

At the Strand. Anita Stewart is to be seen at the Strand in "Mary Regan" Tuesday and Wednesday, matinee and evening. Her appearance has been looked for by a great many admirers for some time and in this great melodramatic feature play her abilities will be seen at their best. The play has its setting in dark blackmailing plots that were a part of the real life in the great city of New York, and those who love the detective story will find themselves entranced as the great drama unfolds, displaying the highest development of the detective's art or science, as it should rightly be termed. It is the human element, however, that appeals most to the audience, and here all of the passions are set in motion while the beautiful star, whose character survived every vicissitude, claims the homage of all lovers of the true, the beautiful and good.—Advt.

GIVEN A WELCOME. Brig.-Gen. Ross Greeted at the Toronto Exhibition. Sir W. H. Hearst at the Toronto Exhibition on Saturday extended a welcome to General Ross, Kingston, who, he said, gained the reputation of being the best man on the Western front to keep men fit for service. Gen. Currie in his remarks said it was true that no general on the Western front could keep men as fit for duty as the Kingston officer. General Ross was always busy going up and down the lines fighting typhoid, paratyphoid, trench feet and gonorrhoea. When he had been asked to have the lectures on the last disease cut out, Sir Arthur said he refused because he believed casualties were often just as serious from gonorrhoea as from gunshot. General Ross had at one time been offered the position of Director-General of the Fifth Army, but he decided to stay with the Canadian army.

At His Old Tricks. The false alarm sent is still at his old tricks. At 11.47 o'clock on Sunday night, the firemen received a call from Box 33, at Tete de Pont tracks, and upon arrival at the scene, found that they had been made the "goat" of some alleged joker. It is too bad the guilty parties are not caught, but perhaps some day some person will get landed.
