At Lundy Island in the British Channel there are no taxes. The owner is a clergyman named Heaven.

In three days pork dropped three dollars a hundred pounds in Chicago. If this keeps on, we wonder how long it will take for the reduction to affect retail prices in Kingston.

The Canadian Trade Commission has secured many large manufacturing contracts for Canada. That should help to stabilize conditions, providing the labor troubles subside.

The Prince of Wales is being made to feel at home in Canada, and he replies by saying that he is in mind and spirit a Canadian.

Ottawa, which is notoriously cool in giving public receptions, came out of its shell when the Prince was there and showed that it knew how to cheer.

President Wilson's attack upon prices is showing splendid results. Even although Canada will to some extent benefit from the reductions across the border, some similar action should be taken mighty soon in this country.

Although Ireland is under the British crown, the real rulers there at present are De Valera in the south and Carson in the north.

Kingston's fair opens in two weeks' time. In number and quality the exhibits and attractions promise to surpass anything ever before seen in Kingston.

The poor aldermen of Kingston have not had much of a holiday this summer. Special meetings have been very frequent, and the majority of them have been to ratify some new expenditure of the chairman of the board of works.

As headquarters of military district No. 3, it would be only fitting that Kingston should have a visit from General Sir Arthur Currie.

The Brockville Recorder and Times suggests that the H.C.L. needs a charge of T.N.T. As that explosive usually has the effect of sending things up in the air, we hardly think it would be the proper thing to use.

J. H. Burnham, M.P. for Peterboro, has got himself into the bad graces of the electors of his constituency because of his independence. Evidently the people of that city favor a hide-bound party man to a man who ties himself to no authority but his own conscience.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL. Although many of the men returning from military to civilian life are taking with them lessons learnt in the army, and are using them to good advantage in their new occupations, there is one feature of army work that has not so far been very largely

If at all, adopted in this country. That is the method used in disposing of garbage. In most of the cities, with the possible exception of the large centres of population, the garbage is simply burnt up, and there is an end of it. The garbage disposal department is an expense to the city, instead of returning it a profit.

DEEDS, NOT WORDS, WANTED. The advance reports of what the new Board of Commerce is going to do once it gets into action are very promising. The public have been told that reductions in the cost of living are sure to follow.

The man in the street does not care how the investigations are carried on. He is not greatly interested in what steps are taken to secure a change in the condition of things, which has rapidly been going from bad to worse during the past year.

PUBLIC OPINION. The public is the innocent third party to all disputes between railroad capital and railroad labor and the party really most in interest.

The One Requisite. Toronto has so fallen in love with the Prince of Wales that it might almost feel like electing him for mayor if it could be shown that he belonged to the right lodge.

Not Too Trusting. We trust the Government will bring down prices of food and shoes and other articles that we must have in order to live, but we are not going to begin buying porterhouse steak and broilers on the strength of our hopes.

NEW HOMES FOR WATERLOO. The Town Council Comes Under the Housing Act. Waterloo, Sept. 9.—Waterloo showed the way to Kitchener on Saturday night, when the town council, by a unanimous vote, passed a by-law placing the town under the Ontario housing commission.

The thirty Delaware and Hudson Coal company's anthracite coal mines in Lackawanna and Wyoming valleys employing 20,000 men and boys, are closed by a strike.

THE WHIG AND ITS WOMEN READERS

With the increased plant and equipment, and its greater facilities for producing a paper that ranks with that of any of the big cities of Canada or the United States, the Whig has become more and more the great home paper of Eastern Ontario, and the paper which has the biggest appeal to women.

First of all there is a woman's page, published in every issue of the Whig. This page contains as a leader a serial story by some noted novelist. At present the Whig is running "The Luck of Gertrude Laidr," one of Kathleen Norris' finest novels, as a serial, and this feature has met with general approval.

One of the newest and best features of the Whig is the "Dress and Household Page," under the charge of Anne Rittenhouse. In this section, which is published daily, with an enlarged page on Saturdays, our readers are given the latest changes in the world of dress; and the newest ideas in household economy by an expert.

Then what woman would miss the columns of social news which appear in the Whig weekly? This, in addition to the news sent in by the Whig's country correspondents, is eagerly looked for by every woman reader of the Whig.

Then, last, but not least, the women make a regular study of the store news as contained in the advertising columns of the Whig. The dry goods stores in Kingston, realize this by making their ads large and of a nature to appeal to the feminine taste.

In fact, there is hardly a page which does not contain several features which are of special and absorbing interest to the women of Kingston and Eastern Ontario.

should realize that the Whig is read by more women in this district than any other newspaper, no matter where it is printed. The value of the Whig, then, does not need to be emphasized any more than this, for as women handle the large amount of money spent through the power of advertising, the Whig is the only logical choice for any concern or manufacturer who wishes to cover Eastern Ontario in an advertising campaign.

SIMCOE ISLAND WEDDING.

George Eves and Miss E. L. Sudds United in Marriage. Simcoe Island, Sept. 6.—A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sudds, Simcoe Island, when their second daughter Ethel Lorena was united in marriage to George Eves, eldest son of Mrs. George Eves.

The bride was attended by her sister Lillian who was becomingly costumed in old rose silk poplin, while Robert, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Masters Wesley and Carl, brother of the bride followed carrying a bouquet of flowers.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch, to the bride-maid a brooch set with emeralds and pearls, and to the best man a topia pin set with pearls. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents which show the esteem in which the young couple are held.

WHAT HE WILL DO.

Prince Will Visit India, Not Australia, in 1920. London, Sept. 9.—The National News is informed that nothing is known, either at the Colonial Office or among the Royal Entourage, to bear out the Australian report that the Prince of Wales will visit Australia next spring.

The supreme council of the peace conference on Monday informed Rumania that she must sign the peace treaty with Austria without reservation or abstain altogether from signing.

Rippling Rhymes

A SMALL WORLD. I'm resting in the mountains, where countless people come, to sit beside the fountains and swallow Adam's rum. From regions superheated they come, to see the snow; and every day I'm greeted by friends of long ago.
