Theatrical

At The Grand.
An exceptional entertainment was offered at the Grand Opera House last evening. Alice Brady, the charming Goldwyn beauty, appeared in a five reel feature, "The Whirlpool." Mary McLaren, the pretty Universal favorite, was seen in a five reel feature of youth, "A Petal on the Current." A Charlie Chaplin comedy was also shown. Eugene Lockhart, appeared in a vaudeville act of pianologue and songs, that won the approval of all. This bill will be repeated tonight for the last time. For the first half of next week, a special programme of feature films and vaudeville has been arranged. Albert Ray, the Fox Film star, will be seen in a five reel feature, "Words and Music." Harry Casey will be seen in an equally exciting picture, in "Ace of the Saddle." Comedies and other reels will be shown.—Advt.

Clever Musical Show Comings.
The most talked of musical show of the entire season is the brilliant musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," coming to the Grand next Friday and Saturday evening and Saturday matinee. The gorgeous costumes and fashion plates of the latest design, the novel numbers are staged under the careful direction of one of our best ballet masters, and the feature novelties are many. "Flirtation walk," an illuminated run-beard extending from the stage nearly half way to the rear wall of the theatre and the many numbers introduced on the "walk" offer new and amusing entertainment. There are some twenty musical hits, including "My Soldier Girl," "Jasper's Ragtime Band," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," "Wrap Me in a Bundle of Love" and "Won't You Be My Beau," which are the popular favorites.—Advt.

At Griffin's.
To-night will be the last opportunity to see Wallace Reid, the popular photoplay artist, in his newest characterization, "The Love Burglar," which has proven so attractive during the last two days. Mr. Reid's ability is finely displayed in optimistic roles and in "The Love Burglar," his cheerfulness is delightfully apparent. There is also a surprise finish to the picture which is highly dramatic. The photoplay is filled with thrills and we believe we are safe in saying that it is one of the best starring vehicles in which Mr. Reid has been seen in many a day. Anna Q. Nilsson, one of the most beautiful and talented leading women on the screen, plays the leading feminine support, and her role, that of a siren in a dive of crooks, affords her many opportunities for the display of her dramatic talents. Taken all in all the picture is one you would not want to miss, and patrons and admirers of Wallace Reid will spend a thoroughly enjoyable evening at Griffin's to-night, when "The Love Burglar" will be shown for the last time.—Advt.

At The Strand.
"The Microbe," the latest Metro production starring Viola Dana, will be the feature at the Strand theatre on Monday next. This picture was adapted from the popular story of the same name by Henry Altimus, published in Ainslie's Magazine, and is the dramatic and heart-rending story of The Microbe, a girl of the New York slums who is rescued from her unsavory surroundings by a young author in search of local color. Her quick wit and winsome personality, coupled with the ease with which she acquires polish and refinement in her new environment, quickens his interest in her—an interest which soon develops into something deeper. In fact, De Witt finds himself falling in love with his protégée. This state of affairs is also evident to Judith Winthrop, a young widow whose matrimonial designs center on the author. Jealousy leads her to treachery and deceit and the Microbe is forced to leave the home she has grown to love. Startling events follow in rapid succession—each one more amazing than the last until a tremendous climax lays bare the treachery which has embittered the life of the girl who at last finds complete happiness and love.—Advt.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. D. Ellis. The couple were attended by Miss Mae McBride sister of the bride and Kenneth Moncrief.
