FREE BOOKS FOR SCHOOL CHIL-

In the issue of March 20th of this lera, but just now he seems to year, the Whig put forward a strong appeal in favor of abolishing the collection of fees for school supplies in the Kingston schools. It is with great pleasure, then, that the Whig observes that Trustee Godwin has ished, and that in future they be borne by the board. His metion is one on which there should be no two opinions. The expenditure involved be adequately estimated.

The revenue derived from pupils' OUT-OF-TOWN REPRESENTATIVES supplies during the last session was R. Uncle Sam is feebly swearing; as he never did before, and his wintry locks he's fearing, and we see our old time peace is blighted, and the wrongs that should be righted come a-rapping at his door. man has got a hammer, and we all rear up and knock, and we yawp around and yammer, and we heave the brick and rock; and we strike and quit our labors, and go rioting with neighbors, till the soldiers with their sabres drive us homeward in a flock. We are full of pep and mettled, and we stamp old systems flat, for the country is unsettled, and we don't know where we're at; profiteers are driving shoppers to the refuge of the paupers, and we whip the village coppers, and knock off the statesman's hat. All respect for law and order we have lost and care no hoot, and we're drifting to the border of black chaos and its loot; but we'll stop before arriving, and our Uncle, still surviving, will behold us nobly striving to o'erwhelm that chaos brute. For a time we've lost our senses, after all the wartime strain, and we're tearing down the fencesbut we'll put them up again; for we all are too blamed clever to keep up this lick forever, and we soon will make endeavor to convince you that
