PRESENTATION OF GIFTS HAFNER-JACOB WEDDING

TO MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR CRAIG AT ST. ANDREW'S.

On the Occasion of Their Leaving for Toronto To Reside—Mr. Craig Directed St. Andrew's Choir For Years Past.

An reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig last evening in St. Andrew's Hall, on the occasion of their near departure for Toronto, where Mr. Craig will take over the business of Warrens, Ltd.

The programme was opened with a violin selection by the Misses Yorma Teigmann and Bartels with Mrs. A. W. Richardson as accompanist. Lieut. Strouger gave a song.

Rev. Mr. Stephen then expressed the sincere regret of all at St. Andrew's over the departure of two of its most faithful adherents in Mr. and Mrs. Craig. He eulogized the wonderful work that Mr. Craig had done in promoting to a high degree of proficiency the musical direction of the church choir. On behalf of the choir, the session and the management committee of the church he had great pleasure in presenting both Mr. and Mrs. Craig with a small present in token of the high esteem in which they are both held in the church circles, and he wished them all success and happiness in their new home. The gift consisted of a gold watch chain for Mr. Craig and a silver-handled silk umbrella for Mrs. Craig.

In expressing thanks, Mr. Craig said that he was due for two very lonely years away from Kingston, but hoped to be able to visit here often and see his old friends again.

Speeches were made by James A. Minnes, Dr. James Third and Rev. Dr. Torrance all of whom praised the work done by Mr. Craig in both church and business circles. Refreshments were then served at a daintily arranged table.

Theatrical

At the Grand.

For to-night and to-morrow matinee only the Grand will present Besic Barriscale's latest success "The White Lie," a splendid feature which gives the best opportunities to score heavily, not only with her emotional powers, but with her effervescent personality as well. This production is full of thrilling scenes, the setting for the story being of the best, showing beautiful scenery. Throughout the five reels this picture is one which holds the audience in suspense, wondering how it will end. The cast in support of the talented artist are worthy of praise for the splendid manner in which they perform their respective parts. Another excellent feature will also be shown along with comedy and other reels. Superior vaudeville will wind-up this fine performance.—Advt.

"His Bridal Night."

Producing managers invariably experience considerable difficulty in getting a good story for their offerings. Particularly is this true of those who confine their outputs to the musical form of entertainment. And stage annals show that some of the biggest musical successes have resulted from reviving and musicalizing some comedy or farcial success of years gone by. "The Three Twins," which was one of the reigning hits of a decade ago, was musicalized version of "Ince," produced at the Madison Square Theatre in New York in the early '90's, where it met with only partial success. "His Bridal Night" comes to the Grand Opera House for Friday night, and Saturday matinee and night with Robert Knight, the Crisp Twins, Frank Cullen, Charles Bennett, Bertha Julian, Beatrice Lett, Clarice Grey and other well-known players in the cast.—Advt.

At The Strand.

Far too seldom are motion picture goers treated to such a combination of beauty and talent as is featured in the forthcoming attraction at the Strand Theatre, to-day, when the beautiful Emmy Wehlen makes her bow in the Metro production of "The Belle of the Season." "The Belle of the Season" is a comedy-drama of intense human interest adapted to the screen by S. Rankin Drew from Ella Wheeler Wilcox's celebrated poem, and in it Miss Wehlen is again presented as "the fashion plate of the screen."

There is in all probability no other star of the photoplay who displays with such ease and grace the stunning editorial creations which have made Emmy Wehlen a famous personage on both the stage and screen. From her first appearance in American theatricals, being imported from the London Gaiety by Broadway producers, Miss Wehlen has led her sisters in styles of the last minute and with the production of "The Belle of the Season" she will maintain her enviable reputation with a brand new series of luxurious gowns and millinery. Among some of her most notable performances on the screen are such successes as "Sylvia on a Spree," "The House of Gold," "The Amateur Adventurer" and "Fools and Their Money," all Metro offerings and with this, her latest, she is said to surpass herself in the role of the sole heiress to millions who interests herself in the welfare of the working classes who have aided her father in amassing his wealth.—Advt.

At Griffin's.

Marguerite Clark in "Come Out of the Kitchen," her newest picture will headline the bill at Griffin's for to-day, Friday and Saturday. Miss Clark has a charming role in this picture. The photoplay has been sumptuously produced while the supporting players are of the best. Miss Clark is seen as an aristocratic Virginia girl who finds it necessary to assume the role of cook, but while her accomplishments in this line are nil, she manages to win the love of a rich Northerner, which after all proved the best she could have done. A delightful programme of vaudeville will also be shown, which consists of Al Turner, the Zylphonist Supreme, Macker & Miller in a harmony singing and dancing act, and Jack Durst, comedy cartoonist. All three are the best in their respective lines, and patrons of Griffin's may expect something unusually entertaining when they visit Griffin's.—Advt.

The Groom Was Frederick A. Hafner of Kingston and the Bride Miss Mabel Marion Jacob of Athens.

The Methodist church, Athens, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 6.30 o'clock Wednesday, Sept. 24th, when Mabel Marion, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jacob, was united in marriage to Frederick A. Hafner, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hafner, Kingston, by the Rev. Theo. Vickery. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion with flowers and autumn leaves. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of ivory satin with drapings of silk georgette, surmounted with a beautiful tulle mob cap effect veil with seed pearls and a wreath of orange blossoms, which was most graceful and becoming to the bride. She carried a bouquet of opelia roses and wore the bridegroom's gift, a platinum and diamond pendant. The bridesmaid, Miss Enid A. Howard, Elgin, wore a dainty gown of pink silk georgette with pale blue trimmings and picture hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, and wore the groom's gift, a cameo pendant. The bridegroom was supported by George Holland, of Kingston.

The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by Mrs. Mamie Derbyshire, organist of the church. The ushers were George Holmes and Harold Jacob, only brother of the bride. During the signing of the register, Dr. Allan B. Hafner, only brother of the groom, sang sweetly "For You Alone."

The groom's gift to the best man was a set of gold masonic cuff links, to the ushers pearl tiepins, and to the organist, a pearl and peridot brooch.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when about seventy-five guests sat down to a sumptuous repast. The bride's table was decorated with roses, carnations, amaranth and maiden-hair fern. The luncheon was served by the Misses Cora Grey, Georgia Spry, Mary Alguire and Birdie Derbyshire.

The bride travelled in a navy blue wool jersey cloth suit, apricot georgette blouse, and wore a marabout cape and brown feather toque hat. She was the recipient of a large number of costly and beautiful gifts, including many substantial cheques, which testified to the popularity of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Hafner left on a trip to Toronto, London, and western points. On their return they will reside at 146 Frontenac street, Kingston.
