LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Prohibition in Sweden.
Toronto, Sept. 25.—Every Ontario elector should read the clear, detailed account of the experience of Sweden in dealing with the liquor problem which appears in the September number of the American Scandinavian Review, published at 25 West 42nd street, New York.

The Swedes had total prohibition during the war, following a system of governmental control. It proved a failure; intemperance increased; illicit stills could not be controlled. They have now adopted what is called the Bratt System of individual control. This has been so satisfactory that it is about to be adopted by Norway. The sale of liquor is confined to a few companies controlled by the local authorities. These companies must pay all profits over five per cent to the government. Every person who wants to purchase liquor must first obtain a license to buy from the nearest vendor. The license is not to be refused for good reasons, and may be cancelled if the license is abused. Every license bears the signature of the purchaser, and has coupons attached which are held as vouchers for liquor sold. A card system is kept by the vendor, with the record and duplicate signature of every license.

A committee of sensible men could easily formulate a scheme along these lines which will fit this province. The underlying principle is control of the consumer. I have given the outstanding points of this system. There are other regulations which make the control complete. The young man and the weak man can be absolutely protected, and pure government liquor will be purchased at a reasonable price by the certificate of the government in case of an emergency. Instead of bad liquor, too late, by a doctor's certificate.

Every man of common sense will resist with all his might the attempt to make the referendum a dog fight between prohibition and the bar. There are a few renegades, whose slogan is "Prohibition or Bust, and Damn the Consequences." The rest of us want to vote for what is best for the country. We know that no government can cope with the illicit stills; liquor is too easily made. We know that hundreds of our best citizens who never broke the law before are breaking it now with a clear conscience. We know that people are poisoning themselves with drugs, and we know that as sure as day follows night there is bound to be a reaction if total prohibition is suddenly forced upon the province as a settled policy. The only reason that any of us are considering prohibition at all is that we will not have the old bar system back at any price, and up to now no alternative plan has been placed before us. Here is the alternative—control of the consumer in place of control of the vendor only. It is a sane solution of the problem at any rate in dealing with spirituous liquors.

The practical question now is—how shall we vote on this referendum? Obviously, we must first clear the decks of existing legislation by voting "Yes" to the first question—"Are you in favour of a repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act." Some people would make us believe that this vote will restore the open bar as it previously existed in Ontario. This is a false cry, plainly invented to drive people to vote for the present act against their convictions. It would stultify the whole referendum. The old license law was repealed by the Ontario Temperance Act; there are no outstanding licenses, and no stretch of the imagination can make an affirmative vote on this question serve as a mandate to permit the sale of any liquor over the bar.

Yours truly,
ERNEST HEATON,
Editor of Heaton's Annual.

Appointment By Promotion.
Kingston, Sept. 26.—(To the Editor): Permit me to say a word in connection with the news item in last Saturday's Whig regarding the Warden of the Penitentiary. Not being a prison official I have no knowledge of who is likely to be appointed. Possibly a returned military officer, or a politician will secure the position.

Would those who have to do with the selecting of a warden not be justified in promoting either of the officers mentioned in your paper. Deputy Warden O'Leary has been nearly twenty-five years in his present position. He is credited with being strict in discipline, and has on many occasions acted as warden for extended periods. His service ought to entitle him to promotion.

Officer Caughey began as a guard and has served in different positions, gained by promotion. He is considered energetic and a disciplinarian, and appears to have made good in his fifteen years' service. In the opinion of many the Justice Department would be well advised to appoint either of those officers as warden.

—M. ALLISON.

A Book Worth Reading.
Kingston, Sept. 25.—(To the Editor): I trust you will pardon my presumption in asking a small space in your extensively read paper to draw the attention of our citizens as well as others to a book, now in our public library, entitled "The Clash"—a study in nationalities by Wm. Moore. I do this because I know that many thousands of our Ontario people need the information given there-in, in brief and most interesting manner, in regard to our relationship, particularly with our French fellow-citizens. I have advocated and preached this doctrine for many years, to a goodly extent and thus am delighted to tell the people of something that will do them good. A review of the book by the Whig, in the true spirit of brotherliness and sound statesmanship, giving several quotations therefrom, would not diminish the already readable popularity of your paper. It is beautiful of splendid things, even pointers for indiscreet politicians and super-self-satisfied Christians.

—(Rev.) GORE A. BELL.

Disagreeable At The Cape.
Kingston, Sept. 27.—(To the Editor): I noticed an item in your paper dated Sept. 26th, headed "No Trouble on the Border." You have certainly been misinformed, for I know from experience.

I am an American woman, born and raised in Oregon, and have lived there thirty-six years. Last April I crossed the line into Canada at Blaine without a bit of trouble, came to Kingston and visited relatives; then on Sept. 3rd I started to Watertown to visit more relatives. When I got to Cape Vincent, the immigration officer was very disagreeable with me, and every other person on the boat that day. He asked for a birth certificate (which I didn't have), said I should know better than travel without it; talked of charging me head tax, but later decided not to. I kept us there nearly two hours (no later for the busses); told me I should be working. There was a very large crowd crossed that day, and lots had more trouble than I did. I am sure the officer never spoke a pleasant word to any passenger. Every one was thoroughly disgusted. A large number were assessed head tax; and a good many were American citizens.

TENDER GUMS
—A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pycorrhoea. Four out of five people over forty have Pycorrhoea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pycorrhoea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infected the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pycorrhoea, if used in time and used conscientiously. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If your shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.
