Aviation has added over 200 words to the language, including those the farmer uses when an airplane lands in his cornfield.—Peterboro Review.

The British railway strike has been settled, neither party having won, we are told. But the public, as usual, lost, the strike having cost the British taxpayer $250,000.

New Zealand has just defeated prohibition by a majority of 10,000 in a total vote of over half a million.

The Hamilton Herald is authority for the statement that the restaurateurs in that city have lowered their prices considerably.

Whatever tends to reduce production tends to make prices higher. The people who are working shorter hours than formerly need to realize this.

THE NEW WAR LOAN. There is no question as to Canada's ability to successfully float the new war loan.

THE ART OF STICKING TO IT. Keeping everlastingly at it won the war. The Germans proved to their own satisfaction, not once, but a score of times, that the Allies were beaten and that the British Empire was a mere wreck on the shore of Time.

Canada in the war kept everlastingly at it. The record of the fighting corps shows clearly the iron determination of officers and men, from the gas attack at Ypres to the day of the Cesse Fire.

Such generosity as Canadians displayed in supporting every appeal for the welfare of the men overseas was beyond precedent, almost beyond imagination.

the people, their clear understanding of public questions, and their ardent enthusiasm will be effective. The Victory Loan of 1919 may not appeal to quitters. But it is welcomed by those who have the spirit of keeping everlastingly at it, the spirit which won the war.

AUGMENT BY BRICKBAT.

A truthful description of mankind just now is, that whenever somebody sees somebody hitting somebody else with a brick he himself succumbs to an impulse to get a brick and hit somebody.

This is as true a description of what is happening in Central Europe as it is of what is happening in the steel districts and other places where force, economic or physical, is taking the place of reason.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON ACCEPTS. Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, has notified the local committee that he will accept the nomination as Unionist candidate in Kingston.

As the Whig pointed out last Saturday, Kingston owes much to the present government, which has spent many millions of dollars here during the past few years.

With the retirement of Ald. William Patterson, labor candidate, ex-Mayor J. M. Hughes is the only opposition in the field. He is a man who has served the city well in several capacities, but it is generally conceded that he is ill-advised to oppose the government's candidate at this juncture.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Plain Lesson. Canadian trade unionism wants nothing to do with intolerance and class hatred. That is the plain lesson in the action of the Hamilton convention in administering a black eye to the One Big Union.

A View Of Life. We have yet to see what would happen in church and state, in business and social life, in domestic and national well-being, if people came more to look upon the whole of life as a stewardship.

seen on every hand. We do not need to wait till a whole nation hears this call of the hour. If those who do hear will respond a new day will be born.

Why General Strikes Fail.

The fatal defect in the general strike is that as each hour goes by popular inconvenience increases and as people grow angrier their sympathy for the strikers diminishes.

The New Ambassador. Viscount Grey, the newly appointed British Ambassador to the United States, has left home for his post of duty. His appointment testifies to a new appraisal by the British Government of its embassy here.

Kingston Firm Has Contract. The contract for the addition to "Leahurst," the nurses' home at Rockwood Hospital, has been awarded to McKelvey & Birch, the contractor price being in the neighborhood of $27,000.

Rippling Rhymes

THE OTHER SHORE. In that happy land we're nearing there's no graft or proffering, you might rake the country over and you'd find no sign of woe; and it seems to me surprising, yet the fact there's no disguising, that it's hard to find a fellow who is in a rush to go.

LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE. Is a woman's love for her husband ever dead? I wonder? Kate Gordon says, "seven now if John pays me the slightest attention or smiles at me with the old warmth, I have that feeling of utter surrender which I experienced the first time I saw him."

Dominion Happenings of Other Days.

Lifting the Ban.

Ontario and Quebec, peaceful and prosperous as they are now, have little to indicate that they once passed through troublesome and rebellious days.

After the conflicts were over and the rebellion had been crushed and order restored an edict was issued by the Governor of the country, Lord Durham, exiling from the land the most prominent leaders of the trouble.

He was bitterly disappointed with his experiences in Upper and Lower Canada. But later years have proved the great value of the general administration of the Governor whose career on this side of the Atlantic was so stormy.
