BIG PROHIBITION MEETING INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

FOR WOMEN HELD IN THE SALVATION ARMY CITADEL.

Mrs. Anderson of Toronto Was the Chief Speaker—Mrs. George E. Bateman Presided.

A mass meeting of the women of Kingston was held in the Salvation Army Citadel on Thursday evening to hear Mrs. Anderson, prohibition lecturer from Toronto, and the hall was crowded. At the beginning of the meeting, Rev. W. T. G. Brown and Rev. W. Craig placed large cartoons on the wall, showing how the boy was to be saved by voting "No" four times, and how the demon booze could be destroyed.

Mrs. George E. Bateman presided and introduced the speaker. Mrs. Anderson told of the work in British Columbia and the taking of the referendum there when the prohibitionists went "over the top." She pointed out that in the Ontario referendum there were three enemies to fight. The first was the Citizens Liberty League, who were really doing the work of those interested in the traffic, and the second and third were "Confusion and Compromise" presented in the ballot to be used. The opponents were working ceaselessly in secret, and the speaker uttered a warning against the People's Liberty League which was flooding the homes with literature. She said that there were 5,000 polling subdivisions in Ontario and every one of them must give a majority for prohibition. Jack Canuck's influence was very bad on a certain class of people, and she deplored the attitude of the publishers. The Ontario Temperance had been broken with frequency, but other laws too were broken. The O.T.A. was ignored during the past six weeks and a great deal of liquor had been illegally brought into the province and consigned to the Dominion Government to prohibit the importation and manufacture was the cause.

Reviewing the past three years, the speaker believed that the records of the banks, the home and the business of the country showed conclusively that prohibition was a success. If the act were repealed she knew scores of people who would not ride in a motor car for the motor driver who drank was a danger to efficiency in every direction, and this was needed to pay off the national debt. This could not be accomplished when one boy in every five or six furnished the raw material for the brewer and distiller and drunkenness was their finished product.

In 1917 $43,000,000 was invested in breweries and distilleries in Canada. The office staff of these numerous places received high salaries but the workmen were merely laborers. The money represented here would pay for the re-establishment of the soldiers in Ontario.

The United States has gone bone dry, with forty-five states out of forty-eight voting for it, and can Canada do less? We can't allow the repeal of the O.T.A., and we must have amendments made to the act that will make it stricter still. It was plainly evident that the liquor men in the United States were helping their friends in Canada in this campaign, but we are not going to be the dumping ground for the United States.

The speaker gave a detailed account of the injurious effects of the abuse of liquor, which was beneficial only as medicine. The one great danger was in the appetite acquired for strong drink. This often carried weak minded men to destruction and many a fine home was ruined. Billy Sunday said: "You might as well try to regulate hell as try to regulate the liquor traffic." The reform of the liquor traffic was impossible.

Mrs. Anderson then took up the ballot and showed that ballot beer was stronger than the two per cent. now in use, and was more injurious than whiskey itself. At the conclusion of her address, Mrs. A. E. Knapp moved a hearty vote of thanks, which was seconded by Mrs. H. A. Lavell. Both of the speakers paid a very high tribute to Mrs. Anderson for her most interesting and instructive address. All felt much encouraged and helped by what she said. Mrs. Bateman then presided over a straw vote, which was taken to show the people assembled how the ballot should be marked on polling day.

QUEEN'S RUGBY LINE-UP

THE PLAYERS TO MEET VARSITY IN TORONTO.

Coach Williams Assisted By J. Howard Box and Lindsay Malcolm Have Whipped the Team Into Shape.

Queen's senior rugby team will play in Toronto in the first game of the Inter-Collegiate series Saturday afternoon. The players left for the Queen city on the noon train.

It has been a very hard job to get the players trained up to scratch this year, but thanks to "Jack" Williams, Dr. J. Howard Box and Lindsay Malcolm, they have been put into pretty fair shape.

The line-up for the big game will be chosen from the following: Backs, Brownfield, McKelvey, Campbell and Stewart; quarterbacks, Carroll and Evans; scrummage, Ferguson, Atchison, Hill; middle wings, Ellis and Carson; inside wings, Brandon and Bowman; outside wings, D'Esterre, Carruthers and Blakney.

The Late Richard Boyd.

The funeral of the late Richard Boyd took place from his late residence, 17 Colborne street, to Cataract cemetery at 2.30 p.m. Thursday. The religious ceremony was conducted at the residence by Rev. Taylor Dale, pastor of Cooke's Presbyterian church of which the deceased was a life-long member. Rev. Mr. Dunn assisted. The bier was banked with beautiful floral offerings, bearing testimony to the regard in which the deceased was held by a large number of friends. After the service the cortege proceeded to Cataract cemetery where interment took place in the family plot. The pall bearers were William Graves, H. Small, William McQuinn, George Gibson, William McCatmon and Joseph Tierney.

Will Rebuild A Hotel. Frank L. Raymond, lessee and manager of the Marsden House, Alexandria Bay, N.Y., has made public plans for the rebuilding of the hotel and improvement of the water front, that will make it one of the finest on the river, and that will be a credit alike to the islands and Alexandria Bay. The intention is to remove all unnecessary buildings from the tract known as Cornwall square, enlarge the hotel and give it a proper setting. The present structure will be remodelled.

The Dupe Of Germany. Rev. Mr. Codling spoke on the prohibition issue to a large gathering at Inverary on Wednesday evening and made a good impression. He said that the propaganda of the Personal Liberty League was incited by the Germans in the United States two years ago, in order to retard the output of munitions in that country, and he regarded the Canadian league as the dupe of Germany.

Addressed The Children. Thursday was regarded as Fire Prevention Day all over the province. Fire Chief Armstrong spent a very busy day addressing the scholars in several of the schools on fire prevention.
