To Decorate City Buildings. The Eaton Company, Toronto, have been engaged to decorate the city buildings and it will be done in a very elaborate way.

Good Time To Test Them. Every fire hydrant should receive a thorough inspection and be pronounced all right before cold weather sets in. This is an easy act of precaution.

Boys' Black Rubber Coats. We have on sale boys' black rubber coats at the same price as last year, $2.98 each. Sizes 6 to 12 years. Just the thing for the fall rains. —Corrigan's.

City Hotels Crowded. As a result of the special ceremonies at Queen's University this week, the hotels have been filled to overflowing. This again shows the need for more hotel accommodation.

The Voters in Kingston. On Monday there will be a big vote east on the referendum issue. There are some fifty-three polling sub-divisions for the 14,299 voters to mark their ballots. There are only 8,204 voters on the bye-election lists.

For Fall and Winter. Prevost Brock street has a great assortment of Ready Made Clothing in suits and overcoats and a splendid assortment of Gents Furnishings. Its order clothing department was never better assorted at extremely low prices.

To Change His Place. Rev. J. de Lancey Scovill, who has been rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Cape Vincent, N.Y., for the past two years, has been transferred to St. Peter's church, at Brainbridge.

SCENE OF TWO WRECKS

ROCK ISLAND IN THE THOUSAND ISLAND REGION.

Two Vessels Lie Sunken and Third Narrowly Escaped Disaster By Crashing Into Wreckage.

The Observer in On The St. Lawrence, Clayton: At the gasbovy shoal, between Rock Island lighthouse and Fine View, the Oconto, a large lake passenger and freight steamer, lies sunken in water a hundred feet deep. The boat struck the rocks at night time and sank so that but about a third of its length remained above the surface. Wrecking crews with barges came next day to remove a part of the freight, which lightened up the forward end so that the boat slid backward to where it now lies, or stands rather, nearly on end at the foot of a submerged side hill. Several of the wreckers came near going down with the boat but saved themselves by leaping into the water and grasping ropes thrown to them. A couple of years later a party of roving plunder seekers came in mid-winter from some seacoast locality. The river, with the exception of a few holes in the swift currents near the wreck was solidly frozen. The submarine divers went down to send a considerable part of the cargo to the surface, after which they departed for fields afresh and pastures new.

Perhaps we may imagine the sensation that might come to an amateur if to don a diver's suit to descend alone a hundred feet into zero temperature whirlpools, to feel the way in semi-darkness through windows and gangways into a submerged wreck, then along slippery decks and through all sorts of misplaced and broken rigging, machinery and freight, to break open boxes and bales and hitch ropes to the plunder to be hauled aloft. It may be nerve; or it may be lack of nerve and sensitiveness and a callous indifference to death.

One of the divers with that party came to the surface one day and making motions with hands that he wished the headpiece of his suit to be unscrewed, replied to questions, "Oh, yes! There's a lot of stuff down there, but please don't light my pipe for me. I'm dying for a smoke." Five years later a large sailing vessel from the upper lakes, by mistake of the pilot, struck the rocks at the head of Rock Island where the lighthouse is situated, and sank so that but part of the top masts were above the surface.

The boat was loaded with corn, and divers went down, chopped open hatches, and placed a canvas tubing of about the diameter of a water-pail to reach from the surface to the cargo, much of which was brought up by suction-pumps and sold as stock feed to farmers who came for miles and from all directions. No attempt has ever been made to raise the vessel that went down with all sails set and flags flying.

A peculiar, and near disastrous incident, occurred next night after the sinking of the boat. The steamer Sport, of Alexandria Bay, was returning from a fishing trip at Lake Ontario. The owner and a party of

Nothing Like It For Bronchitis And Weak Throat

Remarkable Cures in the Worst Cases Reported Daily

CURES WITHOUT USING DRUGS

Doctors now advocate an entirely new method for treating bronchitis and irritable throat. Stomach dosing is no longer necessary. The most approved treatment consists of a healing vapor resembling the pure air of the Adirondacks.

This soothing vapor is full of germ-destroying substances, and at the same time is a powerful healing agent. It is sent to the bronchial tubes and lungs through a skillfully devised inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket. Simplicity itself is the keynote of this splendid treatment.

CATARRHOZONE is the name of this wonderful invention that is daily curing chronic cases of weak throat, bronchitis and catarrh. Every breath through the inhaler is laden with soothing, healing substances that destroy all diseased conditions in the breathing organs. It can't fail to cure because it sees where the trouble really exists, and doesn't attempt to cure an illness in the head or throat by means of medicine taken into the stomach. Catarrhozone is a direct, breathable, scientific cure.

There is no suffering from a grippe cold or any winter ill, that won't find a cure in Catarrhozone, which is employed by physicians, ministers, lawyers and public men throughout many foreign lands. Large size lasts two months and cost $1.00 and is guaranteed; small size 50c, sample size 25c; all storekeepers and druggists.

N.Y., and will assume the duties of his new pastorate on Nov 1st.

Seeking Sugar Supplies. Large numbers of residents of Morrisville, points in Northern New York are going to Brockville daily seeking supplies of sugar, a scarce commodity on the other side of the line these days.

A Cabinet Minister's Shoes. A cabinet minister who was in the city recently said that he was wearing the shoes he had on when the war began. As a matter of fact he had only bought one pair of shoes since the war began. He was a believer in strict economy.

Hang To The Old Clothes. Wear out that stuff that is in the clothes press and that which is in your bureau drawer instead of buying everything you see, and there may be a slump in the price of wearing material. So long as you keep buying stuff that you don't need the prices will stay up.

Butter Factory Closed. The Cape Vincent butter factory, conducted during the past few months by F. L. Vallesu, closed for the season on Tuesday. The factory did a good business, and Mr. Vallesu expects to open the same next season, provided there is no government restrictions on bringing the cream from Canada.

In Marine Circles. The steamer Jex arrived from Oswego.

The steamers Haddington and Ionic passed up.

The steamer Bickerdike passed down.

The steamer Ottawa cleared for Toronto.

A Very Young Farmer. Howard Radley will take possession of the S. T. Lyle farm, east of invited guests were on board and the pilot, not having heard of the vessel wreck, steered straight into the spars and rigging. The engines of the Sport stopped with a bang as the sidewheels became tangled with the wreckage to near destruction. There was panic, with shouts and screams of passengers on board, the steamer that was feared to be sinking. The lighthouse keeper put out with boats and rescued the thoroughly frightened passengers and crew from what might have been a tragedy.

PAWCETT'S POLLY And the Farmers of Frontenac.

From the moment the Dominion Government proposed to build a new Welland canal, which will permit the largest grain boats to enter Lake Ontario, Dr. Edwards, M.P., has persistently advocated the building of a government grain elevator at Kingston. Such an elevator would be of immense value to the farmers of Frontenac, because of the screenings and inferior grain (unfit to ship) which the farmers could get at a very low cost. Every farmer who has been up against the high price of bran and shorts will appreciate this fact. In view of these facts the farmers who attended Mr. Rankin's meetings at Battersea on Monday night and at Barriefield on Tuesday night were astonished to learn that certain members of the U.F.O. in Frontenac had sent petitions to Dr. Edwards, M.P., asking him to use his influence with the Federal Government to have the terminal elevator built in Toronto.

In this connection Dr. Edwards read a letter sent to him by William Pawcett, the U.F.O. candidate, which is as follows:

"Wolfe Island, Ont., Feb. 15th, 1919.

"Dear Sir,—The directors of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, Limited, passed the following resolution at their last meeting: This resolution is to emphasize strongly the accompanying proposal for an elevator at Toronto for the use of the people. We trust that you will do all in your power to promote this project.

"Hoping you will give this your favorable consideration, I am very respectfully yours,

"William Pawcett."

The petition was accompanied Mr. Pawcett's letter states that the object desired is to give service "particularly to Central and Western Ontario."

How any man seeking to represent the farmers of Frontenac could do so, Mr. Pawcett has done is difficult to understand, for if the government builds an elevator in Toronto it will not build in Kingston. The head officials of the U.F.O. live in Toronto or close to that city and want everything for Central and Western Ontario, and Mr. Pawcett works with them. A vote for Pawcett is a vote for the west. A vote for Rankin is a vote for Frontenac and Eastern Ontario.—Adv.

PUSH IT UP EIGHT STOREYS.

Structure, if Built, Will Cost Approximately $700,000. At a conference of several parties interested in the project for a new summer hotel in Clayton, N.Y., it was decided to increase the height of the hotel from four to eight storeys. The plans and specifications were carefully gone over with Mr. Wright, one of the chief promoters, and certain suggestions made. The hotel, if built, will be a concrete structure, costing about $700,000, and will be located on the site of the present Walton House, although taking in considerable adjoining property as well.

Suffered A Stroke. Mrs. Mary E. Flower, widow of George Flower, of 311 Washington street, Watertown, N.Y., who suffered a stroke, is reported as much improved. For some time after the stroke Mrs. Flower appeared to be in a critical condition, but later recovered her strength and she is resting comfortably and relatives have hopes of her complete recovery.

If you appreciate what the Hearst government has done for temperance back the Hearst candidate in Frontenac by voting Rankin.—Adv.
