QUEEN'S TEAM STRONGER

AND EXPECT TO GIVE 'VARSITY A HARD GAME

"Jack" Williams Has a Better Line-Up This Week—McKelvey, Ferguson and Carson are Out Again.

Queen's chances in the senior intercollegiate rugby game on Saturday against Toronto University, are far brighter than they were for the game with McGill. Some alteration has been made in the line up of the team. The boys have been at it steadily practising and it has made a world of improvement in them.

Both "Mick" Freda and "Eddie" Elliott have been kept at it this week, and are rapidly rounding into shape. There is still a possibility of Sheehy, the crack Ottawa, playing and should he get in with the tricolor, they should have as good a chance as any of winning the advantage that Queen's have is that they will be playing on their home ground.

"Jack" Williams will have some of those who were crippled last week back on the team this Saturday. Ferguson, the crack scrimmage man, is now better and will take his place although he is not in as good shape as he might be. McKelvey, the eighteen-year-old half-back, will be playing. He was sick last week, but is now fit and training hard. Carson, who had a bad shoulder when the McGill game was played, is out practising, and is doing well. Both McIntyre and Brownfield were under the weather last Saturday, but are now feeling fine. So, it will be seen that the tricolor is going to have its best men on the gridiron this week, and "Jack" Williams the coach, is quite confident that they will give 'Varsity a tussle. Harris and McConville are still in hospital and reports state that their sojourn there will exceed two weeks yet, whilst Aitchison, who was injured in the McGill game, is in hospital with a broken collar bone.

The line up for Saturday will be: Brownfield, flying wing; Carroll, McKelvey and Campbell, halves; Evans, quarter; Ferguson, Freda and Elliott, scrum; Bowman and Brandon, inside wings; Ellis and Carson, middle wings; McIntyre and Vanastine, outside wings; Gibson and Stewart, spares.

Queen's are hoping that the officials for the game will be Col. Constantine and E. O. Shter.

English Golfers' Contempt.

In the fairway on the North Cliff golf course at Scarborough, England, is a large circular hole, not very deep now, and a notice board which those who play may read. The board records the fact that during the bombardment of Scarborough in December, 1914, one of the German shells fell and exploded, making the hole in the course as still seen. The golfer who plays his ball into the hole may lift and drop without penalty. It is a typically English way of viewing the enemy's senseless act. The shell hole is left as the German runners, seeking the lives of unprotected citizens, made it, and the golfer's contempt for it is shown by the instruction to lift and drop without penalty.

Joe Lally Is Encouraged.

Believing that a dearth of sticks had something to do with the lack of interest taken by the younger element in the national game, Joe Lally, the Cornwall lacrosse authority, is going to start manufacturing them again. A year ago the Mann Cup trustee had just about made up his mind that the end of the lacrosse was in sight, but after his journey around the country and his investigation of conditions in sport he expresses the opinion that the game is due for a greater comeback than ever. And he intends to forthwith furnish the younger generation with the tools.

Rich Australian Races.

The great turf events of Australia have drawn big nonions for 1920. There are 279 entries for the Melbourne Cup race, which will have $35,000 added money and will be run November 4th. A total of 164 have entered for the $25,000 Caulfield Cup to be decided on October 15th. Both turf classics are annually run at Melbourne, Victoria.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS.

Queen's and R.M.C. Cadets Were Early Eliminated.

Queen's and Royal Military College were eliminated in the first two rounds of single play in the opening day of the intercollegiate tennis championships on the McGill courts in Montreal. In the doubles, only one round of which has been played to date, University of Toronto retains two contending teams, while McGill and Queen's each hold one. Three players remain to represent Toronto in the singles, while the fourth is a McGill man. The finals will be played on Saturday afternoon.

On the first day's play University of Toronto took a strong lead, but Kramer and Green remain to fight for the Red and White in the doubles, while Green is the sole remaining McGill man in the singles. Green is probably one of the strongest intercollegiate tennis men in Canada, and can be relied upon to show up well. It had been intended to hold the intercollegiate tennis tourney in Kingston, but on the arrival of the teams there it was found that the courts were in no condition for play, so adjournment to Montreal was made to hold play on the McGill courts. Results:

OTTAWA TEAM WEAK.

Cassels, Abelson, Kilt and Tubman Not Available.

Ottawa football team will not be at its best for Saturday's game against the Tigers at Hamilton. Kenby Cassels twisted the ligaments of his right knee in practice and had to be carried off the field. It was announced that he would be laid up for a week or so. Jimmie Ingram was knocked unconscious in a scrimmage, and is also under a doctor's care.

In addition, Jess Abelson and Martin Kilt, who are both in business here, announce that they cannot spare further time, and have dropped out. On top of this series of misfortunes Reid Tubman is ill, and has been forced to lay off for the balance of the season. The Senators nevertheless, will send their best possible squad to Hamilton. They leave Friday night in command of Manager Harry Ackland.

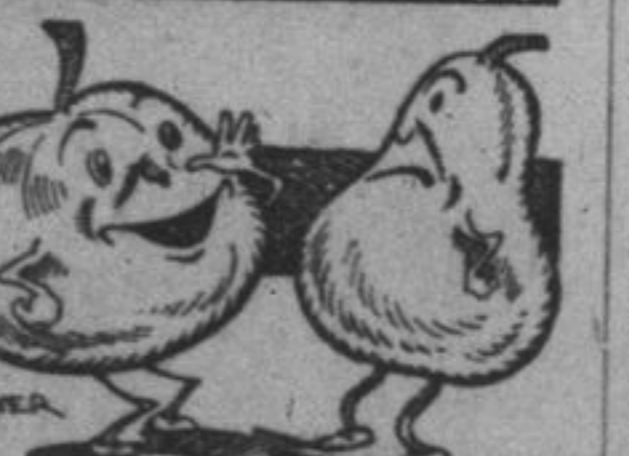

France Builds Many Stadiums.

Winter athletics in France are beginning to boom. Teams in all sports are shaping for action, and as an indication of the growing popularity of football, for instance, it is interesting to note that grounds are being prepared to provide larger accommodation for spectators. The Olympique Club has taken over the spacious Bergoyre Stadium (Battes Chaumont) for its football season, which includes matches with leading Paris, provincial, and foreign teams. Stadiums are being opened elsewhere in France. That of the city of Lyons was inaugurated on Sunday, and the construction has started of the Jean-Bouin Stadium at Marseilles, named after the famous French distance runner who was killed at Verdun.

"Getting About."

Early in the English racing season the crack jockey, Stephen Donoghue, whose services are in great demand, lived in railroad trains and ships for some ten days. During the term he rode on four English courses and two Irish ones. It is Donoghue's idea to make a record by riding a winner in France and in England on the same day, a possibility in these days of airplane travelling.

R.M.C. CADETS WON, 23-7

IN JUNIOR INTERCOLLEGIATE RUGBY GAME

The Young Soldiers Defeated the Kingston Collegiate Thursday Afternoon—Superior Weight Told.

A fine intercollegiate game of rugby was played on Thursday afternoon between the Kingston Collegiate and Royal Military College Juniors. The game resulted in a win for the Cadets with a score of 23 to 7. The game was clearly played, and it was only through superior weight that the R.M.C. made good. The K.C.I. has a fine bunch of youngsters all of whom played a good fast game. Up until half time the Collegiate held the cadets down well, but the heavy scrimmage of the soldiers' lads told in the latter half and they piled up the score. The K.C.I. have the makings of a champion team, and it would be hard to beat now, against a bunch of their own weight. Sugel, who played outside wing, was a dandy, his play exciting great comment from the spectators. Wilkinson and R. Carr-Harris, also of the Collegiate, played a magnificent game and deserved great praise. Carr-Harris and Evans of the R.M.C. were the cadets best men, although all played very well.

The teams: R.M.C.—Evans, flying wing; Carr-Harris, MacDougall and Howard, halves; Ballantyne, quarter; Hudson Bowman and Panet, scrum; MacDonald, McMurtie, outside wings; Holt, Sinclair, middle wings; Elliott and Carsely, inside wings. K.C.I.—F. Morris, flying wing; G. Wilkinson, G. Thompson, B. Morris, halves; B. Carr-Harris, quarter; H. Cliff, G. Carson, I. Yampolsky, scrum; K. Wilson, C. Vokes, inside wings; A. Wright, D. Gimblett, middle wing; H. Sugel, R. Carr-Harris, outside wing.
