Briefs From Oso.

Oso Station, Oct. 23.—William Bailey has finished the painting on Christ church. Miss Mary Hamilton spent the week-end at her home in Glenvale. Many attended the Swain-England wedding at Glenvale, on the 15th. A referendum meeting was held in school No. 1 on Sunday. The collectors for the Oso memorial fund are busy. The many friends of Mrs. Joshua Bishop were sorry to learn of her death on Oct. 16th.

The honest man doesn't derive much benefit because there is honor among thieves.

FAILED TO SAVE YOUNG SCIENTIST

Turkish Bullet Ended His Life Before He Could Be Recalled.

London, Oct. 25.— Lecturing at Hampstead, last night, Sir Oliver Lodge told how the services of a distinguished young scientist were lost to the world through the war. Sir Oliver said there are more atoms in a tumberful of water than there are tumberfuls of water in the Atlantic, and even smaller than an atom in an elektron. But the elektrons of an atom were counted just before the war by this young man whose genius enabled him to achieve that discovery before he felt it incumbent on him to fight for his country. He was too valuable to be allowed to risk himself, and the Royal Society moved to have him returned. The necessary papers were sent out, but a Turkish bullet had already gone through his heart in Galipoli.
