"IN THE PUBLIC EYE"
By J. Stewart

GLASSES that merely seem helpful to your sight are not necessarily the lenses that will correct your vision any more than a pleasant-to-taste drug is certain to correct some other physical ailment. Allow our optometrist to look back through your pupil—back through the cornea of your eyes at the crystalline lens. If there are no opacities he will discover by other tests the manner in which your weakened eye muscles have interfered with your sight.

COL. HERBERT J. DAWSON LEVIES FINE ON CHINAMAN

APPOINTED GENERAL STAFF OFFICER OF M. D. NO. 3 WHO ASSAULTED TWO TRAVELLERS IN RESTAURANT

He Served With Distinction During the War—Has Been a Professor in the Royal Military College.

Colonel H. J. Dawson, C.M.G., D.S.O., and bar, Croix de Guerre Belgium, and associate professor of mathematics at the Royal Military College, has been appointed General Staff Officer, M. D. No. 3, succeeding Brigadier-General H. J. S. Maunsell. Colonel Dawson was born in England. In 1901 he became associate professor of mathematics at the Royal Military College. When the war broke out in 1914, he was Lieut.-Colonel of the 14th Regiment P.W.O.R. He immediately volunteered for service overseas, but was placed in command at Fort Henry where he served from August 1914 till May 1915, when he relinquished his command to organize the 59th Battalion C.E.F. He took the battalion to England and went to France, where he was placed in command of the Belgium Croix de Guerre. Col. Dawson returned to Canada upon the withdrawal of the army of occupation and the general demobilization of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and received a very warm reception upon his arrival home. His record was one of which his friends and the citizens of Kingston generally are proud, and his appointment to the District Headquarters Staff is a very popular one.

In recognition of his services he was created a C.M.G. and awarded the D.S.O. with bar and the Belgium Croix de Guerre. Col. Dawson returned to Canada upon the withdrawal of the army of occupation and the general demobilization of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, and received a very warm reception upon his arrival home. His record was one of which his friends and the citizens of Kingston generally are proud, and his appointment to the District Headquarters Staff is a very popular one.

THE U.F.O. AND U.F.W.O.

By Marjory Mills.

We are too apt to think that our education is obtained mainly in schools. This is a false conception unless we mean the great school—the school of experience.

"I am a part of all that I have met," said Ulysses of old, and his statement is true now as then.

If you and I, the Farm people of Canada, shut ourselves into the four walls of our homes, or the limits set by the lines fences of our farms, our lives will be very narrow, our experience very limited and our education very meagre. But if we cease to regard ourselves as mere individuals, our farms, and the business connected with them as mere personal interest, and step up to higher vantage ground, seeing ourselves as a class of people, citizens of a great nation, and our industry as a part of the basic industry of this great country, we immediately broaden our vision, and see before us the open door into well nigh limitless service to the nation.

"No man liveth to himself" in secular affairs any more than he does in his religious life, and this is one of the chief letters of the alphabet of this new education that is being disseminated far and wide today.

The nation is calling very loudly these days upon you and me to estimate at its true worth our individual and collective worth and our corresponding responsibility as citizens.

We are certainly facing a great crisis and it is absolutely necessary that we go to our work as citizens with a fixed purpose, a rigid determination, that so far as our influence reaches, and so far as our powers of brain and heart extend, we shall see to it that the reins of government are placed in competent hands—in the hands of men whose records are clean, whose purposes are clear, and who are responsible to us, for their action between the date of their election and the date of the dissolution of the parliament to which we elect them.

If we believe in democracy, in representative government, in responsible government, let us prove our faith by our works, for faith without works is dead.

Heart Fluttering Easily Corrected

GOOD ADVICE TO FOLKS BOTH-ERED WITH PALPITATION, WEAKNESS, ETC.

If your heart flutters, be careful. An attack is liable to come on at any time. Excitement, over-exertion or emotion may cause it.

If blood rushes to the head, if palpitation and short breath are noticeable, there's cause for alarm.

If you want a good honest remedy try Ferruzone. We recommend Ferruzone because we know it's just right. It cured A. F. Beattie, who lives at Allen Hotel, Bay City, Mich. See if your symptoms resemble these:

Some Symptoms of Weak Heart
Nervousness, Palpitation,
Trembling, Dizziness,
Sinking Feeling, Heart Pain,
Short Breath, Weakness.

Mr. Beattie says:
"I was weak and miserable. I was subject to heart palpitation and dizziness."
"As I grew worse I began to have trembling and sinking sensations."
"Ferruzone strengthened my heart, gave vigor to my nerves, soon made me well. It's a great builder."
By strengthening the muscles of the heart, giving proper circulation and causing a general rebuilding of the whole system, Ferruzone is bound to do good work. Try it, 50c per box, or six for $2.50.

Sam Y. Lee of New England Cafe Found Guilty in Police Court—Magistrate Said Chinaman Lied.

Sam Y. Lee of the New England Cafe, King street, was found guilty of assaulting Desmond Green, of Toronto, on Tuesday afternoon, and was fined $5 and costs. He must also pay $5 for clothing which was destroyed in the scuffle. The case, which required nearly three hours time, was not disposed of until three o'clock Wednesday afternoon after two adjournments had been made.

The magistrate in summing up the case stated that both the witnesses for the plaintiff had shown that the assault was committed and the defendant had failed to produce any evidence which would deny what the plaintiff had sworn to.

The two celestials, who worked in the kitchen, gave their version of the whole affair. The first celestial testified that he was peeling potatoes in the kitchen, and the door leading into the dining room was directly in front of him, but although he heard a noise in the dining room, though there was trouble, he paid no attention to it. At first he claimed that he never saw either Green or Smith, and then declared that he saw them standing at different places in the dining room.

The second celestial said that he was making pies at the time and that he heard a noise but did not pay any attention to it.

The magistrate said he was convinced that these witnesses lied. He was also sure that if Green had been assaulting the defendant, both the witnesses would have been able to give all kinds of evidence.

There is every possibility that the celestial will hear more from "Jack" Smith, as it is his intention to take his case into court and get damages for the loss of business he suffered as a result of being forced to remain in Kingston for an additional two days, and also for the cost of his medical treatment.

A CATARAQUI AUTHOR.

Of a Charming Little Book on Winter Birds' Paradise.

"The Winter Birds' Paradise at Pleasant View" by A. R. Morrison of Cataraqui, is a charming little book and will be of special interest to Kingstonians who are familiar with the scene of the "Paradise." In Morrison's home on the York Road, just outside the outskirts of Cataraqui, the spacious grounds with their hedges and fir trees, which surround the large brick house, provide a natural shelter from the winter storms and the authors shows, with the aid of many admirable photographs, taken by himself, how he has assisted nature and made the birds who stay with us during our long cold winter, happy and comfortable. As one follows the story of the dwellers in "Paradise Garden," "Miss Dell," the chickadee, who's besetting sin is jealousy, the tragedy of "little blind Nell," and the pathetic love story of "Grandpa and Grandma," the author realizes that Mr. Morrison's understanding sympathy with his little feathered friends has drawn from them the perfect love that "catches out fear" demonstrated in the frosts, which shows him in the garden at "Pleasant View" with one chickadee perched on his hat and another on his finger. This little book is a real treat for bird lovers, not only from the simplicity and quaint humor with which the story is told, but for the information given out of the author's intimate knowledge of the needs of his pets, of how best to shelter and feed the birds who prefer our long, cold, northern winter to the sunny south.

SAW THE STEAMER WARREN

Capt. Mack Shaw Spoke to the Captain of the Toronto Vessel—The Warren Had to Return to Port On Monday.

Captain Mack Shaw of the steamer Jex owned by the Seawards Coal Company, which arrived in Kingston on Wednesday was probably one of the last men who saw the steamer Homer Warren of Toronto before she sank in Lake Ontario on Tuesday.

On Thursday morning when speaking to the Whig, Capt. Shaw said that Captain Scaller of the ill-fated vessel, must have left Oswego about four o'clock on Tuesday. Monday afternoon the steamer Warren left Oswego but the captain had only gone a short distance until he was forced to return as there was a heavy sea blowing. When he returned to the wharf Captain Shaw was speaking to him.

The two steamers were tied up at the wharf waiting for the wind to drop. At two o'clock on Tuesday morning, Captain Shaw got up out of bed and noticed that the Warren was still tied up at the wharf.

When the steamer Jex was ready to clear at 6 o'clock, the Warren had cleared for Toronto.

When the Jex cleared there was a short distance until he was forced to return as there was a heavy sea blowing. When he returned to the wharf Captain Shaw was speaking to him.

Captain Shaw states that the wind was simply terrible, and for that reason he had to make for Sacket's Harbor and remain there until the wind dropped. During the trip from Oswego to Sacket's Harbor the waves were breaking over the stern and much water went into the hold of the steamer but fortunately it did not flood the engine.

It is thought that Capt. Scaller as soon as he saw he was caught in the storm was doing all in his power to make Charlotte.

Child Injured By Auto.
A five-year old boy named Alderidge, who resides on Alfred street, was struck by an automobile on Princess street on Wednesday afternoon. Dr. S. J. Keyes, who has the case in hand, stated on Thursday morning that he did not know the extent of the child's injuries until he was examined by X-ray.

SUGGEST ATHLETIC ORGANIZATION HERE

The military and civil sporting enterprises were so successful the past summer that some leaders are seriously considering the formation of a permanent athletic association that will include all sports, both winter and summer, and ensure an effective organization under which it will be possible to carry on with greater ease and maintain the enthusiasm of the competitors. There are other reasons for a proper organization, and among them the most important is the high place that sport holds as a diversion for men in military service and a positive aid to the civil re-establishment of returned soldiers. This is recognized by those who have had much to do in adjusting soldiers' claims and the A. and N. Veterans and G.W.V.A. are expected to support the proposal. The work of the military teams throughout the season in baseball and football was splendid, and the keen interest shown is an encouragement to those who promoted the games and who now wish to form the association.

KINGSTON EVENTS

25 YEARS AGO.

There are twenty men and four women in the jail.

The curfew bell was rung for the first time last night by Constable Snodden, and the boys and girls on the streets scattered for their homes. Messrs. J. B. McKay, Cooke Bros., A. McMahon and Prof. Allen gave a great concert at Portsmouth to a crowded audience.

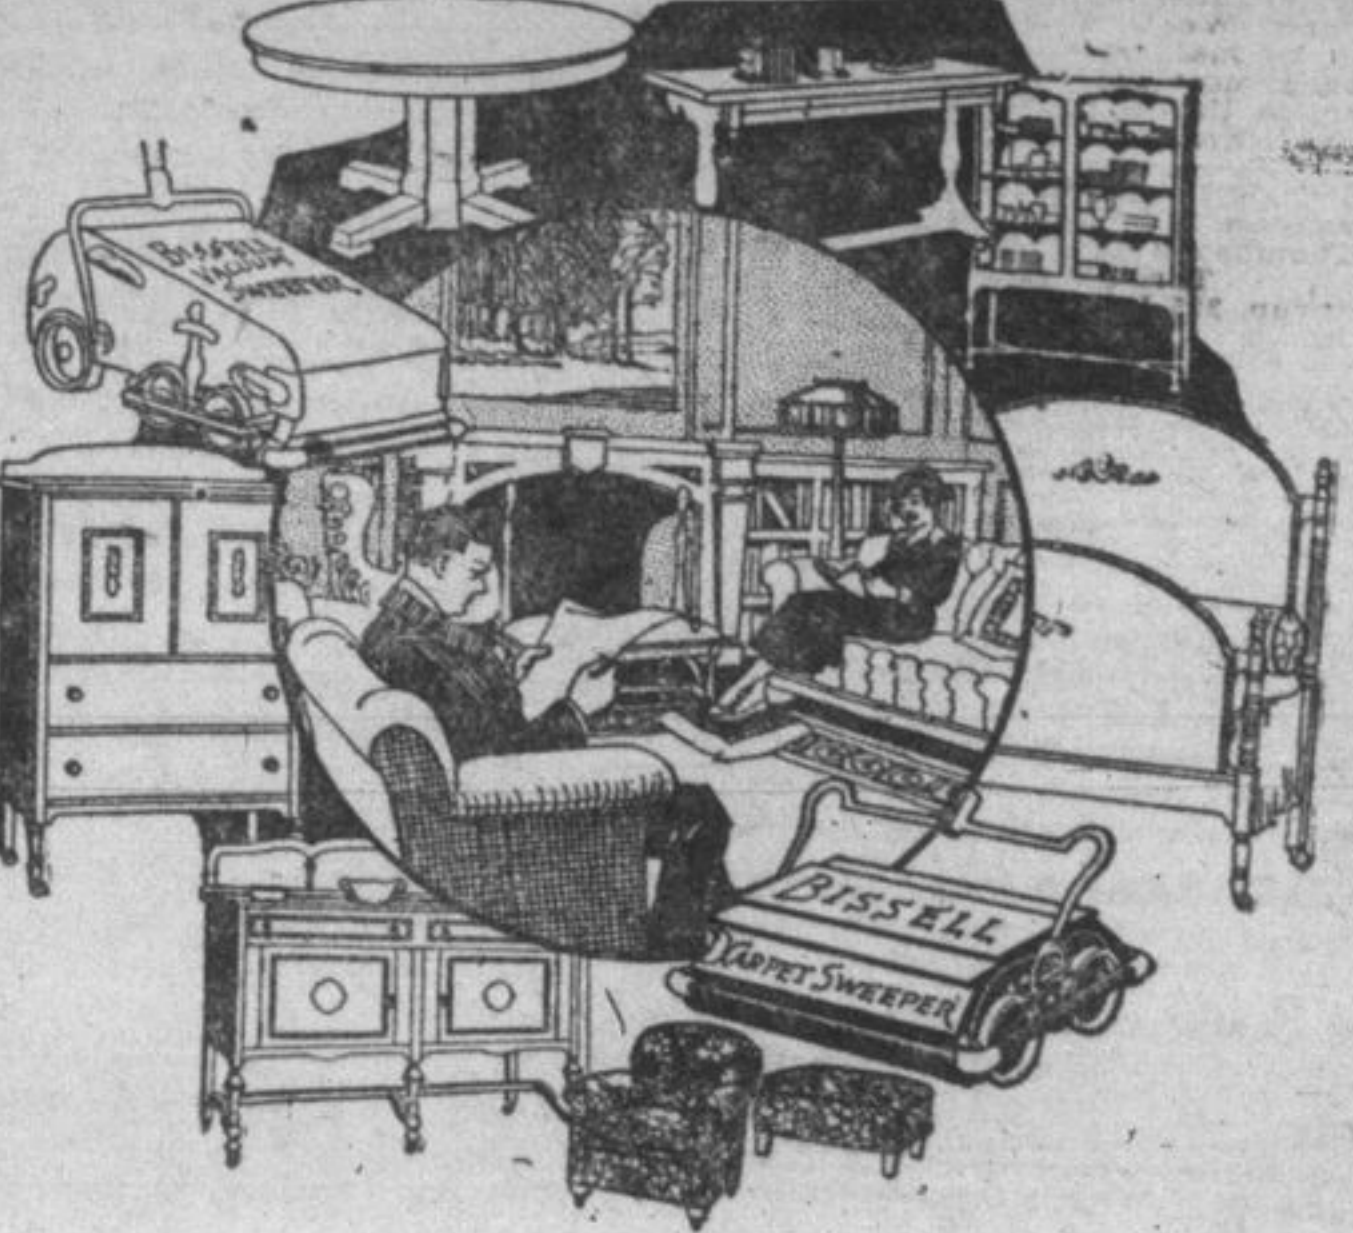

How often you and I find ourselves ready to believe that man who has time after time, furnished conclusive proof that he is a liar.
