"It wasn't all luck," chuckled the Professor, as he related his experience to Miss Mary.

"It was more a question of Eye Glasses," continued the Professor, as the school marm listened attentively.

"What was the fine?" inquired Miss Mary. "Not a bean," and, incidentally I suggested to the Inspector that he see our good friend

FEARED HE WOULD GET FLU INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

YOUNG MAN GOT LIQUOR AND TOOK AN OVERDOSE OF IT.

Also Treated Friend Who Was Suffering From a Cold and Both Land in Police Cells—Case in Police Court Thursday morning.

Fearing that he was about to be taken down with the "flu," a young man secured some whiskey and tried to drive off the much-traded disease, with a liberal application of his medicine. He took too much of it, however, and landed in the police cells. He had a friend who was suffering from a bad cold. He gave him a liberal supply of his medicine, and he, too, fell into the hands of the police. They were gathered in on Wednesday night, about eleven o'clock by Constables Frederick Clark and John Naylor. They were at the corner of Wellington and Prince streets, doing a "tangle-foot tango" when Constable Clark came along. They had no notion of going home, saying they could go home when they could not go any other place. They were intoxicated and wanted to paint the town. Constable Clark felt that the police station was the only safe place for the tippers, and so started in to put the two under arrest, but the midnight disturbers took strong objections to going to the police station and tried to start some thing. One made a bee line around the corner as best he could, only to fall into the arms of Constable Naylor, who happened to be "Johnny-on-the-spot." Constables Mullinger and Beaupre also happened along at the same time, and the tippers and the load they carried were soon bundled off to the lockup.

When they appeared before Magistrate Farrell on Thursday morning the two young men had tamed down, but were still very dry, and would have given a dollar for a good "eye-opener." One of the offenders declared that he was suffering from a cold, and thought he was getting the "flu." He was given an order for whiskey from a doctor, and he and his friend partook of the refreshments at their boarding house.

Evidently the medicine made them feel good, as they left the boarding house to take in the sights down town, only to run foul of the police. A fine of $10 and costs was imposed in each case.

A DEANERY CONFERENCE

Held by the Woman's Auxiliary in St. George's Hall.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada held a deanery conference in St. George's hall, Tuesday afternoon, which was well attended. Rural Dean Crisp opened the meeting with prayer and a short address, after which Mrs. Leech, Wolfe Island, took the chair.

Greetings were read from Mrs. Mortimer Atkinson, secretary for Leeds deanery, who was unable to be present, and a very practical paper, entitled, "Responsibility," written by Mrs. Atkinson, was read by Mrs. Jeremy Taylor.

Mrs. T. Auston Smith was elected secretary for Frontenac deanery, succeeding Mrs. Crisp, who was obliged to resign.

Mrs. Reynolds, Brockville, diocesan chairman of the Forward Movement, said a few words and expressed her willingness to explain, if informed, of any misunderstanding with regard to the proposed work.

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, D.C.L., touched briefly on the Forward Movement with which she was to deal fully at the evening meeting, and spoke of the "Letter Leaflet," the difficulty in procuring the necessary paper and the great increase in price. Some interesting and surprising missionary news was given in the course of Mrs. Cummings' short address.

Reports were read from the deaneries of Frontenac, Lennox and Adirondack. Prince Edward and Hastings, showing good work done by the various branches of the Woman's Auxiliary. Particularly encouraging were the amounts raised for Indian and Eskimo endowment fund and for the general pledge fund which in most cases greatly exceeded the objectives. At the close of the meeting tea was served by ladies of the city branches of the W.A. and a social hour spent.

IN THE HALLS OF QUEEN'S.

Prisoners-of-War Scholarship.—The Freshmen's Reception.

The Canadian Women's Patriotic Club of Ottawa, is now available for the students of Queen's. Only those who have passed their junior matriculation and have been prisoners-of-war, or are relatives of prisoners-of-war are eligible for the scholarship. It is not thought there are many students in the university who have been prisoners-of-war in the past five years' campaign, though there are a few direct relatives of those who have.

The annual freshmen's reception is to take place on Thursday evening. The puck chasers of the university are already getting things going, as conditioning practices, under the direction of Trainer Bews, are to be started at once, and a large turn-out is promised.

The game was a thriller all the way through, and kept the fans on tip toes with excitement. The gallery was filled with spectators. On Monday the 15th, P. W. O. R., team will play the R.C.H.A.

Gave Fine Results.

A splendid concert was given by the combined Orange lodges of the city, on Wednesday evening, and fully 400 members with their wives were present. Hon. A. E. Ross, C.M.G., presided and gave a brief address. The musical programme was of an exceptionally high class and there were several recitations, while Mr. Gates, a special entertainer, pleased everybody. Others taking part were Mrs. Morrison, solo; Miss Ferguson, violin; J. Perryman and Miss Poshel-white, recitations.
