COMMONS VOTES 100 TO 35

Against Referring Back the Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment Report.

THE GRAND TRUNK BILL

PASSES THE THIRD READING IN THE SENATE. The Government Will Try and Rush Through All Business so as to Prorogue Saturday Night. (Canadian Press Despatch) Ottawa, Nov. 8.—By the overwhelming vote of 100 to 35, a majority of sixty-five for the Government, the House of Commons yesterday rejected the motion of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, to refer back to committee the special report on soldiers' civil re-establishment. There were two bolters from the Government side, Col. John A. Currie, of North Simcoe, and William Smith, of South Ontario. All cross-benchers voted with the administration, including the new farmer member from Gengarry, Mr. Kennedy. The Liberal members of the special committee evidently did not concur in the amendment of their leader, as none of them voted.

The Grand Trunk bill passed the third reading in the Senate last night. It will have to go back to the Commons once again, as the bill has been amended to prevent a board of arbitrators setting a value on the preferred and common stock of the Grand Trunk Company above an amount which would render more than two and a half million dollars annually in interest to the holders of the stock.

WOULD HIDE COTTON TO MAKE PRICE GO HIGH

Would Retire Two Million Bales to Be Held Until Price Is Forced Up.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 8.—A movement to retire 2,000,000 bales of cotton from the market in an effort to force a rise in price has been launched by the American Cotton Association, a growers' organization, according to a statement issued here by its president, J. S. Wannemaker, who last night said a recommendation to this effect had been sent members of the association. "The plans which were recommended and which have been adopted call on the membership of each state to voluntarily transfer to designated banks warehouse receipts for specified amounts of cotton, this cotton to be held in trust until such time as the association decides that prices justify the cotton being placed on the market."

'T WAS A WILD SCRAMBLE

ONE DEAD, MANY HURT IN RIOT AT ARMY HALL

Ten Thousand Persons Storm Doors of Buffalo Armory—Scores Are Jammed Against Rough Walls and Bruised. Buffalo, N.Y., Nov. 8.—One woman is dead, a score of persons were injured and a number of others faint as the result of a riot when a crowd of 10,000 stormed the doors of the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory. The crowd had gathered for the opening of a sale of United States army goods. The dead woman is Mrs. Emma Baumeister, sixty-five years old, who fainted in the crush and died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital. The injured were jammed up against the rough stone surface of the armory and many were badly cut. Crowds had been waiting at the armory doors since early in the morning. When the doors were thrown open at three o'clock there was a rush which swept aside twelve policemen who were on hand to keep order. The fight to get into the hall continued until a riot call brought enough policemen to get control of the situation. Police Chief Higgins ordered the army officers to call off the sale for the day. His announcement that the doors must be closed was greeted with hisses and cat calls.

LONGED FOR HIS RETURN

The Sing Sing Editor Is at His Job in the Prison.

Ossining, N.Y., Nov. 8.—You can't keep a good editor down—or out. When Albert Van Ness was discharged recently from Sing Sing, he was forced to leave the editorial desk of the Star of Hope, the prison publication. The tone of the paper fell off to a certain extent, though it is not believed the home readers made any very great complaint. As loyal readers, "Vox Populi" and "Liberty for All" continued their subscriptions. Nevertheless, with the departure of Van Ness they felt there was something missing. They decided it was Albert. Now all is well and joy at Sing Sing has replaced the gloom. Van Ness is back on his old job through a slight dispute over the ownership of a watch.

A LARGE INCREASE IN COMPENSATION

Workmen Will Get Over Four Million Dollars in 1919. Toronto, Nov. 8.—The tremendous value of the Workmen's Compensation Act to the workers of the Province is indicated in a statement issued by the board yesterday showing the payment of $2,859,448 in compensation for the first ten months of the year, an amount that exceeded that for the corresponding period of last year, though accidents during 1919 were fewer in number. The increase is accounted for by the general upward trend in wages and the allowances in accidents happening after April 24th. The total for the year is expected to be well over that for 1918, which was $2,514,648, exclusive of $265,346 paid for medical aid.

An interesting feature of the statement is the record of accidents for October which reflects an important increase in industrial activity since midsummer. The number of accidents reported was 4,323, compared with a monthly average since the beginning of the year of 3,879. The boom in the building trades is contributing largely to the total of accidents.

CLERGYMAN IS SHOCKED

Girls' Knives Shown Below Kilts Are "Subtle Menace." New York, Nov. 8.—Six inches of bare and dimpled midriff knees displayed in kilts. Scottish and low necked, sleeveless and knee length dresses worn by shapely Port Chester girls in a Vanity fair parade for charity are all wrong, according to the Rev. Harry B. Head, the severest gentleman in rector of the village Episcopal Church, and he regards costumes as described a "subtle menace" to society.

Therefore he withdrew his patronage from the woman's club tuberculosis fund activities, and also the patronage of his wife, in the following language, to wit: "I am entirely in sympathy with the woman's club in the work. There is, however, a menace to the welfare of our nation more subtle and destructive than bodily disease. That menace is the tendency toward extremes in dress which are both immodest and immoral."

FRANCE'S WAR EXPENSES

FIANCE'S SUSPICIONS LEAD TO A SUICIDE

Such is Inference From Information Given to Deputy Coroner.

Montreal, Nov. 8.—A romance which ended with the death of Irene Messalina, alias Wilson, twenty-seven years of age, of 30 Richmond Square, at Cedars, several days ago, was uncovered by Deputy-Coroner Prince yesterday afternoon, when he held an inquest into the cause of the death of the woman, whose body was taken from the river last Saturday afternoon.

In making the personal investigation Deputy-Coroner Prince found that the woman had been house-keeper of a club for the employees of the Cedar Rapids Manufacturing Company until a year ago. During her stay as matron of the club the woman became engaged to one of the employees of the company, who was to have married her next month. Information given to the Deputy-Coroner was to the effect that several weeks ago the woman received a letter from her fiancé, in which he asked her to explain certain things he had heard about her. It is thought that the woman, hurt by her fiancé's suspicions, went to Cedars and threw herself into the river.

SAYS WOMEN CAN STOP BAD MOVIES

Lady Astor Argues the Right to Be Elected to British Commons.

London, Nov. 8.—The amazing energy of Lady Astor continued to be the feature of the bye-election in the Sutton division of Plymouth. She not only contrives to address a great number of meetings and to keep in touch with the organizing work of the campaign, but she also finds time to show her continued interest in the social work which she has done so much to promote in town.

At a women's meeting in the afternoon Lady Astor said it was too late to talk about women having no place in the House of Commons. They had a right to be there, and they were going. Though she could not insist a more terrible prospect than the House of Commons consisting of women, there were certain legislative questions with which it was positively indecent of men to concern themselves.

Alluding to the cinema, she expressed the opinion that there should be a very strict censorship of films if they wanted children to be clean. A lot of horrible stuff was shown and women were the only people to stop it.

Clarence Doan and George Berdan, each about sixteen years old, were wounded with birdshot fired at them on Guy Fawkes night by David H. Hughes, an elderly man. Salt fish to the value of nearly $160,000,000 had been sold at Christiania to a Norwegian company acting on behalf of the Pan-Russian Association of Co-operative Societies.
