Jack Miner ^{now} Beavers Are Being Exterminated.

Chatham, Nov. 13.—Ninety per cent. of the beavers will have been taken when the season closes this year.

That is the opinion expressed by Jack Miner, of Kingsville, noted bird and animal authority, who was in the city for a few hours today on his return home from a two weeks' trip to the Stratak country, northwest of Sudbury. The above statement of the well-known sportsman is sufficient evidence of the gradual extirpation of the paddle-tailed water animal.

It is the contention of Mr. Miner that the Indians are in a large way responsible for the killing off of the beaver. Yet he fears the treaty existing between the government and the Indians, and handed down for years, is so broad and loop-holed that little can be done to curtail the slaughter.

Next year," stated the sportsman, "I'm going after game with the kodak."

Here's a short sermon for misers: "Shrubs have no pockets." Never bet on a sure thing unless you can afford to lose.

SAY HE INTENDED TO SHOOT THE KING

Lunatic Arrested in Dublin Had Police Permit to Buy a Revolver.

London, Nov. 12.—A Scotchman, with a police permit to buy a revolver and one from the military to import explosives, has been arrested in Dublin because he said he intended to assassinate the King. He was charged in the Dublin courts yesterday with being a dangerous lunatic. His name is Henry Ferguson, of Waterford. He described himself as the manager of the Ardmore mines, which were worth £500,000,000 to Ireland.

On Saturday afternoon, according to the evidence, he was at the College Green and told the constable who arrested him of his intention to go to Buckingham Palace and shoot the King. He also said he had a taxicab waiting to take him to Kingston, where he intended to shoot the manager of the Royal Marine Hotel and his assistants. He was committed to the Richmond Asylum.

A train of tough runs regardless of time-tables.

REFUSE TO TELL WHERE THEY STAND

United States Manufacturers Make No Confidants of Canadian Employers.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Discussions have taken place between members of the Canadian Employers' group, at the International Labor Conference, and representatives of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States.

Among the Canadian Employers' group the question how United States employers will be prepared to meet any international on limiting the hours of labor is regarded as being of the greatest consequence to the Canadian position. During the discussions the point was considered in all its bearings, but it is understood the American employers declined to commit themselves to any definite line of policy. They were "sphinx-like" in their attitude, according to the remark of one who was present.

So far American employers have sent no representative to the International Conference, although a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers has been attending the meetings of the general
