Theatrical

At The Grand.
Pauline Frederick in "One Week of Life" will be seen at the Grand for the last time this evening. The story deals with one of the social problems of to-day, and the plot is handled in such a manner that the audience does not go away feeling dissatisfied as is the case with some of the pictures of this type. "The Rider of the Law" with Harry Carey in the lead is a story of the struggle of a Ranger to carry out his orders even to the extent of arresting his own brother. A Mutt and Jeff comedy and Curtis and Carin in an act of good vaudeville complete this bill which is seen for the last time tonight. For the first part of next week Benno Barriscale in "Tangled Threads" will be one of the featured attractions at the Grand. Miss Barriscale has excellent support in this production and it promises to be one of the best seen here in some time. There will be comedy and other reels and an act of superior vaudeville. This bill will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday.—Advt.

"Experience" Coming.
George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy drama will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Galt at the Grand Opera House for one performance only, Tuesday Nov. 18th. This drama now in its sixth season, is one of the most successful of recent years and in every city where it has been presented it has met with a tremendous success. It has been endorsed by the clergy of all denominations. "Experience" shows the adventures of Youth—the average young man of today—who leaves his boyhood home to go out into the great world and win success in the turbulent ways of life. He begins his journey with a pure heart, an innocent mind and a soul inspired with high and noble purpose. Soon he meets Temptation, the temptations that beset every young man when he leaves the protection and shelter of his paternal roof to take his place in the busy marts of trade and commerce. Youth succumbs to the allurements of Vice, until he finds himself on the very brink of crime and the lowest degradation, when he is recalled to a sense of better things by hearing the words of a hymn which brings back to his mind tender recollections of his dear mother and his boyhood home. Youth turns from his follies, retraces his steps and courageously begins life anew with Love, Hope and Ambition guiding his footsteps.—Advt.

At Griffin's.
To-night will be the last opportunity to see the celebrated Diva Mme. Cavalleri, in one of the best picture subjects seen in Kingston for some time, "Love's Conquest," and that this is the opinion of all who have seen it is proven by the large audiences which have attended each showing during the last two days. No expense from the standpoint of artistry and photograph, was spared to make it the finest of its class and both is unexcelled. The beautiful gowns worn by Mme. Cavalleri are another special feature of this tremendous picture, and the jewels she wears are worth a King's ransom. The photoplay is based upon the celebrated play "Gismonda," written by Victorien Sardou, the famous French playwright, and the story is one of absorbing dramatic action and intense heart appeal. We are convinced that all who have not seen this picture will find it one of unusual interest and would urge you not to miss seeing "Love's Conquest" this evening.—Advt.

At The Strand.
Evelyn Grealey, who has been co-starred for a number of months with Carlyle Blackwell in delightful comedy dramas, has been made a full fledged star. This advancement has been brought about through the demands of picture patrons from all over the country, these people writing to World-Pictures and commending on Miss Grealey's winsomeness, beauty and acting ability and declaring that they wanted to see her starred alone. An extraordinary large number of these letters came to World-Pictures with the result that the management of the company felt that the demands should be acceded to. The first starring vehicle in which Miss Grealey will make her appearance on the screen is "Phil-for-Short," a delightful, amazing, fascinating production written by Clara S. Beranger and Forest Halsey. It is a pleasing, interesting, wholly entertaining story and it is told in a charming manner. The Strand theatre takes great pleasure in announcing the coming appearance of Miss Grealey in "Phil-for-Short."—Advt.

BAN WORD EMIGRATION.

Objection to Term Defining Removal of Citizens.
London, Nov. 15.—Colonel Amery, the Under Secretary for the Colonies, in a Morning Post interview, says: "We ought to regard closely the relations between Britain and Canada and between Canada and Australia as equally important developments. He thought the word 'emigration' should be banned in describing the removal of citizens from one part of the Empire to another. Nothing in the League of Nations mandates is likely to interfere with British imperial policy. There was neither to Australia nor to Canada any possible menace of an organization of Asia against their interests since from Asia's eight hundred millions were partners with them in the Empire and at permanent peace with them."

OUTLOOK IS FAMINE.

The Fuel Problem Acute in Saskatchewan Now.
Saskatoon, Nov. 15.—So acute has the fuel problem become in many sections of Saskatchewan that farmers are burning scrub lumber, fence posts and even old hobs to save their families from freezing. At Macrorie, Kerrobert and other points along the C.P.R. not a shovelful of coal is available. The present situation recalls that of 1909, when a similar famine existed and at many points trains were raided and the fuel commandeered to relieve the suffering.

The Europe of To-Day

Brussels During Period of Reconstruction.

By H. Wisely Bragg.

(Special to The Whig)

Brussels, Belgium—It is indeed a revelation to the numerous American and Canadian visitors to come in contact with the fullness of life and gaiety at Brussels so well re-established within the year following the five year period of German occupation. In my several visits to Brussels since the Germans vacated, I have marked the changes in the populace and the rapid readjustment to normal life and the desire on the part of these progressive people to restore order in their economic life. After an absence of nearly four months the change is remarkable. Brussels assumes a normal aspect and one can hardly realize the privations and hardships that were suffered through the war. However, on contemplating this remarkable change, it must be remembered that before the war these most progressive people were at the point of wrestling from France the enviable position of being the fourth exporting nation of the world, a remarkable position when area and population are considered.

To-day the re-establishment of these people is beyond anything that was anticipated a year ago, and one wonders how soon this little country will overcome the obstacles of the adverse rate of exchange and the destruction of their manufacturing plants, and enter the competition which will place them in the position of fourth exporting nation which they covet. Evidence of the progressiveness of Belgium is shown in the matter of exchange of the Belgian franc, which continues much better value than the French franc.

The super-gaiety of Armistice days has been superseded by the normal pleasures of the people. When the business of the day is over, carers and worries are quickly tossed to one side and the cafes, so characteristic of Europe in pre-war days, are again well filled. Splendid orchestras or cabarets provide the evening programmes. The cafes are again numerous and of all sorts to suit all classes and conditions. One particularly interesting place charges an entrance fee as low as four cents, and provides an excellent entertainment, including an orchestra and vocal talent. It may be interesting for those on the other side of the Atlantic to know that here one may have anything to drink, the limit depending only upon his thirst and his pocketbook.

Of hotel accommodations, the visitor has a wide choice, but such hotels as the Palace in Brussels appeal to the average American and Canadian owing to its similarity to hotels in New York, Montreal and Toronto.

Prices are still somewhat high, but an excellent meal may be obtained for 15 to 20 francs. Wine and coffee, the national drinks, are not included in the price of the meal.

In Brussels one finds the necessities of life higher than in Canada or the United States, but there is every indication that these will be reduced as readjustment of trade continues. Previous to the war Belgium was considered one of the cheapest and best places in the world in which to live. There is little hope, however, of prices dropping to the pre-war figure.

The opera season opened some time ago, and pleasure loving Brussels attends regularly the theatre de la Monnaie, a miniature of the Opera House in Paris, where each night some favorite opera is given. Surf boats from Eagle Harbor coast guard station have been despatched to Manitou Island in an attempt to locate and identify wreckage reported in that vicinity by the steamer Wilpen. The missing Owen carried a crew of twenty and was last sighted on Wednesday.

INTERESTING FACTS REGARDING WOMEN'S FEET AND FOOTWEAR

FEET SMALLEST IN CHICAGO

4 1/2 Size Also Average of Women in Atlanta and San Francisco—New York Feet Grow Longer and Narrower.

The honor of possessing the national Cinderella was jointly claimed to-day by Chicago, San Francisco and Atlanta. Inquiry among shoe dealers in many principal cities revealed that the average woman of those three communities possesses the smallest feet in the country—size 4 1/2. Atlanta dealers said their sales were about equally divided among the intermediate sizes from 4 to 5 1/2. In Chicago and San Francisco the average size was definitely fixed at 4 1/2. It was indicated that the largest community foot—size 5. Since the South and the Pacific coast were conceded an edge in the pedal handicap the honor apparently goes to Chicago, once popularly supposed to be the habitat of fairly large feet. As regards styles and colors, brown and tan lace boots apparently are the most popular just at present, although many cities evince a decidedly cosmopolitan taste, particularly New York. Dealers here explained that their customers' feet are becoming longer but narrower, which they regarded as commendable. Milwaukee retailers bluntly declared that "women's feet seem to be growing larger every year," and let it go at that.

The reports by cities follow: Chicago—Average size, 4 1/2. Heavy tan oxfords, with short vamp and wide toe, worn with wool socks, most popular.

Atlanta—Average, 2 1/2 to 5 1/2, with equal amount of sales on intermediate sizes. Brown most popular color.

San Francisco—Average, 4 1/2. Brown lace boots with French heels the favorite.

New York—Average, 4 1/2. Tan lace range from blunt toed brown walking boots to silk pumps with French heel. All styles. Low shoes with square toe.

Detroit—Average, 4 1/2 to 5 1/2. Brown boots of medium height and conservative style most popular.

Indianapolis—Average, 4 1/2 to 5. High top military heel favorite.

Cleveland—Average, 4 1/2. Brown, gray and black equally popular. Nine-inch lace boots with French heel favorite. One dealer said: "Women's feet seem to be growing larger every year. Only a few years back 3 1/2 to 4 were the popular size; No. 3 and 4 are in demand, with 5 1/2 leading. We frequently sell sizes up to 11."

Portland, Ore.—Average, 5 1/2. Favorite is high-heeled brown lace boot.

Los Angeles—Average, 5. Black pumps the favorite.

Washington—Average, 5. Brown boots with French heels most popular.

Pittsburg—Average, 5 1/2. Brown walking shoes most popular.

Boston—Average, 5 to 5 1/2. Brown walking shoes with military heels best sellers.

Cincinnati—Average, 5 1/2. The favorite is the brown high-heeled boot.

Philadelphia—Average, 5 1/2. Black and tan boots equally popular.
