Vaccination.

The first compulsory vaccination act was passed in England 84 years ago. Ten years later vaccination became obligatory in Scotland and Ireland, and this means of protection against smallpox has since become general in nearly all civilized countries. There was, of course, much opposition to the new law in many quarters, and anti-vaccination societies were formed. These exist even to-day in many parts of the world. Thirty-three years ago an anti-vaccination riot occurred in Montreal. A mob attacked the City Hall and threatened to burn the newspaper offices, but the police succeeded in quelling the disturbance. Similar outbreaks, especially among eastern peoples, have occurred from time to time.

It was a Fine Occasion in Pittsburg On Monday.

On the afternoon of Nov. 24th, the marriage of Archibald Penton Webster, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Webster, Gananoque, and Mary Elizabeth, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Greenless, Joyceville, was solemnized in St. John's Manse, Pittsburg, by Rev. J. A. MacLean. The bride, who was unattended, looked all that could be desired in a gown of sand shade tulle and satin with vestee of coral georgette and corsage bouquet of pink roses. Her only ornament was a gold wrist watch the gift of the groom. A hat of the same colors and seal coat with sable trimmings completed the simple yet pretty costume. Immediately following the ceremony the couple, accompanied by Miss Blythe Batams, Gananoque, and W. Greenless, brother of the bride, repaired to the home of the bride's parents where the immediate families greeted them in which all found their way to the dining room, where a dainty dinner was served. The happy couple left by motor for a trip in New York state amid showers of confetti and good wishes. The bride and groom's gifts were both numerous and costly. Among them several pieces of gold, as well as substantial cheques.

OBITUARY

The Late F. J. Fralick, Hamilton.

Although the late Frederick J. Fralick has been ailing for almost six months, his energetic nature kept him in attendance at his place of business on North James street until last Sunday. After returning from a motor drive he was taken suddenly ill, his trouble becoming so serious as to necessitate his removal to St. Joseph's Hospital. He died there early on Friday.

Mr. Fralick was born fifty-nine years ago at Picton, Ont., of sturdy United Empire Loyalist stock. Attending public and high school at Picton, he clerked in Kingston and then joined the sales staff of the John Calder Company, with which he was connected when he first came to Hamilton in 1883. One year later he
