 Prevost Brock street has a great assortment of Ready Made Clothing in suits and overcoats and a splendid assortment of Gents Furnishings, his order clothing department was never better assorted at extremely low prices.

Goes to New York.
 Wilfrid L. Fair, son of W. J. Fair, King street, who recently returned from service in France, has secured a position in New York city with the Aetna Life Insurance Company, as claim adjuster of the accident branch.

S.S.A.A.A. Executive
 A meeting of the executive of the S.S.A.A.A. has been called for next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock for the purpose of drawing up the senior basketball schedule and also to decide the age limit for the junior basketball series.

Appointed Editor.
 "The Union Bank of Canada has begun the publication of a handsome monthly filled with what newspaper men call "good stuff." Its editor is J. Herbert Hodgins of the bank's statistical department, Toronto," a former member of the Whig reportorial staff.

Liquor Runner Caught.
 Wednesday night Inspectors Sykes and Taber took into custody, on G.T. R. express No. 19, a resident of Montreal giving the name of Harry Noonan, who was en route to Trenton with twenty-four bottles of whiskey. He was fined $200 and costs by Magistrate Page and is making arrangements to pay.

Dr. Kenneth Millan Decorated.
 Dr. Kenneth Millan, at present on the staff of the Presbyterian Hospital, New York City, had the honor of being decorated with the Military Cross, by his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The investiture took place on board the British ship Reynold. Dr. Millan is a former Kingstonian and an graduate of Queen's University.

Gananoque Rectorship.
 A special meeting of the Vestry of Christ Church was held in the Parish House, Gananoque, Monday evening, to consider the appointment of a successor to the Rev. Walter Cox, who has resigned his charge here to enable him to take a much needed rest. It is gratifying that the church at large is not to lose Mr. Cox's services as the Bishop of the Diocese has granted a year's leave of absence.

Died At Chayton, N.Y.
 The funeral took place at Chayton, N.Y., on Tuesday of Anastasia Goodfriend, wife of Anthony Charlebois, of Chayton, who died in St. Joachim's Hospital, Watertown, N.Y. Deceased was born at Howe Island. Surviving are her husband, two sons, Vincent Charlebois, Chayton; one daughter, Mrs. Lyle Snider, Alexandria Bay; one brother, John Goodfriend, Kingston, and two sisters, Mrs. Thomas O'Grady, Warburton, and Miss Mary Goodfriend, Howe Island.

Chalmers Tea and Sale.
 A most successful tea and sale was conducted by the Ladies Aid of Chalmers church on Thursday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. R. J. Wilson, University avenue. The sum of $125 was realized. Those in charge of the tables were Mrs. D. Murray, Mrs. G. W. Mylks, Mrs. T. Robertson, Mrs. H. N. Snelling and Mrs. Percy Murray. A splendid musical programme was rendered under the direction of Mrs. J. R. C. Dobbs, and there was a good attendance.

Mounting of Insects.
 The collecting and preserving of insects and the mounting of insect collections has become an important part of the work of the students in many of our schools. The teachers who have specialized in agriculture have learned something of the methods of collecting and preserving insects and are arousing the interest of their pupils in this fascinating subject. In order to assist those desirous of securing accurate information, Entomological Circular No. 12 "Directions for Collecting and Pre-

Confirmation was received by local Grand Trunk Railway officials, says the Brookline Recorder Times, of the cancellation of trains Nos. 6, 7, and 106 on Sundays hereafter until further notice on account of the coal shortage. Should the situation not improve it is possible there may be a greater reduction in the passenger service. The changes will have no effect upon the running of trains on days other than Sundays. The trains affected are the eastbound and westbound day-time mail trains. No. 6 is known on Sundays as No. 106 after it leaves Brockville for Montreal.

Rev. Dr. Pidgeon Lectures.
 Rev. Dr. E. D. Pidgeon of Toronto was the speaker at two meetings on Thursday. The first was before Queen's University Mission Association in the afternoon when he spoke upon "The Outlook for the Races in Canada." In St. Andrew's church in the evening his subject was "Methods and Management of Home Mission Work." Dr. Pidgeon has given a great deal of attention to these features of the church's work and his addresses were most entertaining and instructive. This evening he will speak at Chalmers church on "The General Outlook of the Forward Movement in the Church."

Trying To Get Queen's Clinic.
 The Ottawa Civic Hospital Committee has placed a businesslike proposal before the Board of Trustees of Queen's University with respect to the university establishing a medical school for advanced students in connection with the new civic hospital. The most important feature is the question of the control of the medical end of the hospital, and when this is settled it is expected by the committee that a definite agreement will be made.

It is understood the new hospital will be so arranged that plenty of accommodation for the students will be available. The Board of Trustees of Queen's will hold a meeting soon to consider the Ottawa proposition.

Queen Street Church Ladies Sale
 A very successful tea and sale was held by the Ladies' Aid society of Queen Street Methodist Church at the parsonage, 30 Queen street, on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. D. Ellis and Mrs. R. J. SCOTTISH EDUCATION ACT.

Status of Gaelic in the Scottish Schools.
 Light is being thrown upon the genesis of that remarkable amendment to Scottish Education Act, of last year, which gives to Gaelic a less ambiguous position than formerly in the schools of Gaelic-speaking Scotland. Prof. W. J. Watson, who holds the Celtic chair at Edinburgh University, has been reading a paper to the members of a Commemorative Council on the teaching of Gaelic in those schools. In the course of his address, Prof. Watson said that the official attitude to Gaelic in Scotland had been substantially the same ever since the Education Act of 1872 was passed.

The policy had been to ignore the claims of Gaelic to be taught as an ordinary school subject in Gaelic-speaking districts, and to have children whose mother tongue was Gaelic, and who thought in Gaelic all continued to think in Gaelic all through their lives, taught in precisely the same way as children whose language was English. The results of that policy had been that very many children had grown up illiterate in respect both of Gaelic and English. The smattering of English which they acquired in school gave them no power to appreciate English literature; their English was the stock phrase of the market and the shop.

The latest census report stated that 73 per cent. of the children of the Isles entered school without any knowledge of English. For the great majority of these Gaelic remained the language of thought and of ordinary intercourse, but they could not write a Gaelic letter, and if some of them were able to read the Bible in their native language that was not due to their school system but in spite of it. It became exceedingly clear to himself and others that there was little, if any, hope for Gaelic in their schools as long as the matter was a question of administration.

When, therefore, a new education bill for Scotland was brought forward, they saw that the time had come to secure for Gaelic a statutory position which would remove it from the chances of administrative apathy. The Gaelic people were appealed to, and gave their voice with considerable emphasis in a petition. That expression of opinion backed by the strong demand of the Presbyterian Churches and by an An Commemorative Council, resulted in the unanimous adoption of an amendment to the bill making it compulsory on education authorities to provide facilities for the teaching of Gaelic in the Gaelic-speaking areas. They were entitled to assume that the new education authorities would discharge their statutory obligation in regard to Gaelic in an intelligent and sympathetic spirit, and they must in fairness recollect that they had to do with a difficult situation for which they were not responsible.
