OSO-OLDEN ROAD DISPUTE

AWARD THAT WAS MADE BY JUDGE LAVELL.

The Award is Given in Full at the Request of G. M. Drew, of Long Lake.

Long Lake, Dec. 20.—(To the Editor):—Would you be kind enough to publish the following letter in your valuable paper? I noticed in your December 15th issue a statement headed "Road Dispute Settled," and it goes on to tell a few things about a boundary road dispute between Olden and Oso townships.

I thought perhaps in a few days the decision of the judge would be given in full for the benefit of a large number of ratepayers in both townships. However, in your paper of December 18th, in another statement headed "Road Dispute Settled," and leaving the ratepayers still wondering what the decision is.

But to make things worse, in the last issue, someone has made a false statement and being very much interested in Olden's affairs I am ready to prove that the statement is false when it says that:

"It will be remembered that previous to this matter being taken before Judge Lavell, the township of Oso paid the whole cost of the upkeep of the road, although part of the boundary road was in the township of Olden."

Now there are dozens of ratepayers who know that the statement is not true. I could go on and tell of a good many miles of road Oso wanted Olden to help maintain, but space will not permit. However, I know that if you would print the judge's decision in full it would be read with much interest by a large number of subscribers and ratepayers.

—G. M. DREW. The Whig herewith presents the entire judgment as handed out by Judge Lavell, and readers can draw their own conclusions as to the facts. The text of the judgment was kindly supplied by King & Smythe, solicitors, for the township of Oso.

In the Matter of an Arbitration Between the Township of Oso and the Township of Olden:

I, Harry Anson Lavell, Judge of the County Court of the County of Frontenac, having been duly appointed arbitrator by the said Townships to determine whether and to what extent a certain public highway situated partly on the said Township of Oso and partly on the said Township of Olden should be declared a boundary road and to fix the proportion which each Township should bear of the cost of maintenance there of and control of monies expended thereon.

And having on the 2nd day of December, 1919, pursuant to appointment, heard the evidence offered by the parties and what was alleged by their respective counsel and having duly weighed and considered same, do now award and adjudge as follows:

1. The public highway commencing from its point of junction with the said boundary line adjoining Lot 1 in the 1st Concession of Oso thence northerly either upon or close to said boundary line to a point approximately in the centre of the western limit of lot 3 in said concession, thence crossing slightly toward the east across lots 9, 10, 11 and part of 12 in said concession to the shores of Sharbot Lake and thence by the floating bridge across said lake, I declare to be a boundary road within the meaning and intent of the Municipal Act.

2. The public highway commencing on the boundary line west of lot 15 in said concession thence northerly upon or close to said line to a point thereon a short distance south of the line, between lots 19 and 20 in said concession, thence easterly across the northerly part of said lot 19 until as it approaches the easterly limit thereof it turns in a northerly direction, thence across lots 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24 to a point on the easterly limit of said lot 24, thence westerly across the north easterly part of said lot 24 and diagonally across lot 25 to the boundary line between said Townships thence across the allowance for road on said line into Olden and thence northerly to its junction with the highway running east and west near the northerly boundary of the Township of Olden, I declare to be a boundary road within the meaning of the Municipal Act.

3. The deviations of said roads from the actual boundary line where-soever the same occur were rendered necessary by physical difficulties or obstructions on said line and a better road was thus obtained.

4. The boundary road above described lying south of Sharbot Lake and that part of the boundary road north of Sharbot Lake from its southermost point to the point where it turns north on lot 19 in the first con-

When one thinks of a gift at Christmas time it may be gloves or kerchiefs, perhaps a long-hoped-for wrap of silken fur, a diamond ring or some such thing, according to one's tastes, desires—or expectations.

But when she hasn't seen Him for a long long time—the longest ever, for he has been far away—and there comes a letter saying that he is to be with her on Christmas—what better gift could there be than his presence?

A Christmas Reverie

When the Christmas bells are ringing o'er a wintry world once more,

Can we hear the angels singing through the night— The sweet and tender story of the Babe Divine of yore, And the glory of the Lord of Life and Light? Can we hear arieth the Song of heavenly Peace and Love Through the clash of earthly bitterness and hate? Can the peoples in the darkness see the radiance from above, With Oppression frowning darkly at their gate?

Can we forget the ravage of the fair and fruitful lands, The fury of the onset of the foe? The blood of babes and women on the tyrant's cruel hands, As it happened once, in Bethlehem, long ago? Can we forget the millions driven to their fate like sheep, The anguish of the mothers and the wives— The murderous midnight missile killing children in their sleep, And the good ship's precious freight of human lives?

Nay, rather let us think of the heroes of our race Rising swiftly up to buckle on the sword, In the ranks of Truth and Freedom to take their rightful place In the battle for the glory of the Lord! O'er weary wastes of desert—o'er countless leagues of sea, With one impulse and one purpose—on they came, To vanquish the arch-tyrant, and set the prisoners free, And banish war forever "in His Name."

Can we forget the trenches, their dark and noisome breath, The never-ceasing thunder of the guns! The stifling and the burning of the unseen flying Death— The countless perils brooding o'er our sons? Well may our hearts give thanks for the victory won at last— For the strength and courage sent them from above; While we think, with grateful memory, of the peril that is past, And ask a fuller measure of His Love!

And let us not forget the calm and quiet rest Of those who sleep, afar—yet not alone, They gave their lives for others, at their Leader's high behest, And His faithful love is watching o'er His own! May the memory of their sacrifice nerve those who follow on, To keep the Christmas spirit strong and pure, Holding high the Christmas standard, till the victory is won Of the Peace that shall forevermore endure!

Then let the earth be glad, though wintry mists are falling, For still, through midnight darkness, the herald angels sing, And from the pasture-fields, we hear the shepherds calling— "Arise, and let us kneel before our King!" For the glory of the Lord is brightening o'er our work, And the Christmas stars still whisper of His Love, And the weary world is watching for its coming Christmas Day, And the "City" that descendeth from above! —Fidelis.

King George as a Collector. King George's collection of stamps is estimated to be worth at least $100,000.

Of stamp collecting he once wrote to a personal friend: "It is one of the greatest pleasures of my life."

A curious hobby of his Majesty is the collection of babies' photographs. But then there is no man alive more fond of children than he and not a better father among all his subjects.

Fortune-Telling. A fortune teller was sending cold streams of horror down her victim's back as she predicted the bad things in store for him in the immediate future.

"You will die in a year!" she said, at least. "This line in your palm tells me so."

"Help!" gasped the victim. "It surely cannot be as bad as that!" "As I said," continued the seer, "you will die in a year—but what year I cannot say."

Judged by Ancient Law.

A law suit was decided in England recently under a decree of Justinian about 1,400 years old. Justinian, Emperor of Constantinople and Rome, in the sixth century, drew up the famous code that is the basis of the Roman law that prevails almost everywhere except in English-speaking countries. He decreed that a swarm of bees belonged to a man only as long as he could see them with ease and no longer, after that they became the property of the first person who saw them. Fourteen centuries later, in the Roman city of Bath, a man seeking to recover the value of a swarm of bees from a neighbor was judged, appropriately enough by the ancient Roman law of Justinian, and consequently, lost his case and his bees together.

Mrs. Keene was greeting the eligible bachelor guest effusively and as she took his hat Miss Keene in the next room could be heard exclaiming a song to her own accompaniment. "Ah!" exclaimed the fond mother, proudly, "my daughter is breaking into song!" "You are right, madam!" growled the exasperated hostess, "You can tell that she's breaking in, for obviously she hasn't been able to find the key."
