SOME BASEBALL CHANGES

That Are Suggested by Chick Evans, Expert.

Define the status of a substitute player who enters the game as pinch hitter or fielder without informing the umpire which makes getting on the rubber by the pitcher without the ball in his possession a balk.

A rule that does justice to the batter who hits a ball over the fence or into the stands, in the final or extra inning, and yet fails to get credit because the run of some player on the bases decides the game.

A clause that will prevent disputes that now arise as to status of a runner who scores a run when a preceding runner has failed to touch a base on his way to the plate.

When the infield is drawn in for a play at the plate, and the batter hits a ball that gets by the first line of defense, no further play being possible by any member of the infield, such a ball should be considered in play if it comes into contact with the person of the umpire back of the infield.

When a batter hits a ball that is fair when it passes over the fence or into a stand, it should be considered a fair ball. All jurisdiction over it should end when it passes out of the playing field, instead of compelling the umpire to watch its course until it disappears.

With first and second base, or first second and third base occupied any attempt to bunt a ball that goes fair should not be regarded as an infield fly, though the attempt results in a fly ball that goes to the infield.

Jack Dempsy, heavyweight champion of the world, has affixed his signature to a motion picture contract by the terms of which he is to be starred in a forthcoming serial to be produced by the Pathe organization. Dempsy made his debut at the Robert Brunton studios in Los Angeles a few days ago, and began work on a serial which is to run for 15 episodes entitled "Dead and Alive."

Dempsy in his motion picture role is cast as a sturdy young athlete who is working his way through an eastern college. The action begins in the college town, and is carried to the western country.

Lipton's Challenge.

Definite announcement of the acceptance or rejection of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenge for the American Cup, the racing classic of the yachting world, will be made at a meeting of the New York Yacht Club on January 15.

The committee in charge of the challenge announced at the annual meeting that negotiations with the Royal Yacht Club for the proposed race were progressing satisfactorily. J. P. Morgan was re-elected commodore of the club.

Public Wants Carpenter to Win.

Georges Carpentier will at least meet with this pleasant experience when he meets Dempsy—whether the battle is in America, France or England he will find the bulk of the crowd pulling for him to win. A record of five years in uniform against a record of no months in uniform where both men were slightly over twenty doesn't admit of debate; this friendliness of the crowd will help the temperamental Frenchman, but it won't affect Dempsy, who, at the age of twenty-two, in 1917, when war was declared, proved well enough the amazing thickness of his hide.

Once Was Enough.

The Vancouver Daily Province says:—"The National Hockey Association will not declare war on the Pacific Coast Hockey Association. The St. Patrick's officials hoped for such a declaration at last Saturday's meeting, but having in mind what happened when the leagues went to war a few years ago, the representatives of the remaining Eastern clubs decided there should be no break. On that occasion one league was shaken to its very foundations, and the organization was not the one operating on the Pacific Coast."
