Prof. and Mrs. Iva Martin, King street, entertained on Christmas evening, when a few other guests joined the family circle. The whole house looked lovely with bright Christmas decorations, including holly, with its pretty red berries, and crimson carnations were artistically arranged in vases on the three dinner tables. The sparkling electric lights and the bright glow from the fires burning in the grates seemed to add to the warm welcome of the host and hostess, whose guests were: Gen. and Mrs. Rutherford, Misses, Aline and Cicely Rutherford, Bob Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Carruthers, Misses, Kathleen and Edith Carruthers, Capt. Douglas Carruthers, Count de Bury, Mrs. Constantine, Col. and Mrs. S. C. Constantine, Major and Mrs. Hanson (Montreal), Col. and Mrs. W. H. P. Elkins, Bab Elkins (New York), Miss Hora, Harold Brownfield and Hartley Holmes.

A very delightful birthday party was that given by Miss Nina Ferguson, Bagot street, yesterday afternoon when she asked a number of old friends to celebrate her father's natal day, he having reached his eighty-ninth year. Heartiest congratulations were showered upon "this grand old man" as well as gifts of lovely flowers and sweets. Miss May Ross presided over the tea table, while Miss Annie Fowler cut the ices. Some of the guests were Lady Macdonell, Prof. and Mrs. Morrison, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Connell, Mrs. Bellhouse, Miss Agnes Bellhouse, Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Stephen, Mrs. Callendar, the Misses Cathie and Julia Lyman, Percy Lyman, Miss Strange, Mrs. Charles Constantine and the Misses Mowat.

On Tuesday evening a very bright informal dance was given by Mrs. E. F. Torrance, Alfred street, for her daughter, Miss Kitty Torrance, who has been attending Compton College, Que., and is here for the holidays. Christmas decorations were much in evidence, the scarlet and green adding their brightness to the festive scene.

Miss Jessie Torrance and Fred Torrance assisted in looking after the guests, and a very happy time was spent by all.

A happy ending to Christmas day was the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Nickle, Earl street, when their guests were the friends of William Nickle and Douglas, both being home from Osquode Hall for the holidays. The decorations were truly Christmas, green and scarlet being the color scheme. Salisbury's orchestra played for the eager dancers, and the merriment was kept up till the "wee sma' hours of the morning."

Hon. W. Harty, Bagot street, entertained at a delightful family party on Christmas day. A beautiful Christmas tree gladdened the hearts of the little ones, but not for them alone was the joy of receiving, for the grown-ups were also remembered with gifts from the tree.

Archdeacon Dobbs, King street, was host at a small family dinner party on Christmas night. The usual Christmas decorations were much in evidence and a delightful social evening was spent.
