BROKE THROUGH ICE ON LAKE RAILWAY MEN WON CONCESSIONS

The Narrow Escape of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McRory.

CLUNG LONG TIME TO ICE UNTIL LAD WHO WAS SKATING SUMMONED HELP.

The Mishap Occurred a Mile From the Millhaven Shore—The Couple Were Walking From Stella.

Joseph McRory and his wife, who reside at Wagarville, had a miraculous escape from death on Friday morning, when they broke through the ice on the lake, while they were walking over from Stella to Millhaven.

Just a few days ago the mail carrier went through the ice with his ice boat, and it was at this spot that Mr. McRory and his wife happened to get into. It had been frozen over, and covered with snow, and as a result they did not know they were on the dangerous spot. Both had their heavy fur coats on at the time, but they managed to cling to the ice for about half an hour, when they were rescued. Mrs. McRory was the first to break through the ice. She went down under the water, but her husband grabbed her when she too went into the water. They both managed to hang on to the ice and called for help. The mishap occurred about a mile from the Millhaven shore, and a lad named Collins, who was skating on the ice, heard the calls for help and summoned aid.

Charles Collins and a Mr. Wemp hastened to the scene with a plank, a piece of rope and an axe, and succeeded in pulling Mr. McRory and his wife out of the hole. They were both suffering terribly from the cold, but Mr. Collins took them to his home, where they were given every attention, and on Saturday morning both had quite recovered from their terrible experience.

Mr. McRory was in Kingston on Saturday morning, and told the story of his experience to the Whig. He said those who took part in the rescue were deserving of great praise for their work. He and his wife had a terrible time trying to hold on to the ice until aid came. Their heavy coats weighed them down, and at times it looked as if they would have to give way, but they grimly held on.

EXPORTING STOCK AGAINST PEACE TERMS

Germany Has Been Selling Horses and Cattle to Sweden.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Paris, Jan. 3.—Germany is exporting horses and cattle extensively to neutral countries in contravention of the terms of the peace treaty. It is reported in despatches from Brussels. On Nov. 10th the Allies had their attention called to an offer made by Germany to Sweden for the sale of stallions, and more recently it was ascertained the Germans had been selling a considerable quantity of live stock to the neutral countries. The matter is being investigated by the reparations committee.

RAILWAY MEN WON CONCESSIONS

From the Government of a Very Important Nature.

WAR DISPUTES

THE MEN OF ALL GRADES ARE WELL LOOKED AFTER.

The Details of the Agreement Show That Wages Will Run From Forty to Seventy-five Shillings a Week.

London, Jan. 3.—The railroad workers seem to have won an important concession from the Government in the negotiations preliminary to the settlement of the wage disputes. The details of the agreement show that the men of the lowest grade will receive a minimum of forty shillings per week, with other grades running up to seventy-five shillings, according to the Herald, the Labor organ. Decreases, under a sliding scale, agreed upon, cannot reduce the wages below the minimum agreed upon, which is 100 per cent. above the rates prevailing before the war. The Government's offer will be laid before a meeting of the railwaymen's delegates on Wednesday.

AN ACTRESS KILLED IN A MOTOR SMASH

Miss Venita Fitzhugh Flung Over New York Bridge on New Year's Morn.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 3.—Miss Venita Fitzhugh, 24 years old, an actress just returned from a six months' engagement in England, was killed at four o'clock Thursday morning, when she was flung from an automobile on Walnut street bridge to the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The machine in which she was a passenger skidded sharply on the downgrade at Thirtieth and Walnut streets, when the driver, William A. Clader, a public accountant, tried to turn out to avoid a street car. Before he could right the machine it had gone up on the curb and crashed into the heavy iron guard rail of the bridge, bending it with the force of the blow, and hurling the girl out of the machine and over the side of the bridge.

Coasting Down Hill He Ran Into An Auto.

Brockville, Jan. 3.—Sliding head foremost into a passenger automobile yesterday Irl Kirby, aged eleven of 160 Pease street east, suffered such terrible injuries about the head that he died a moment after being taken to an adjacent surgery. In company with Byron and Lorne Kirby, brothers, and Stanley Kirby, a cousin, the boy had been sliding down the hill on Ormond street, leading to King, and continuing to Water street. As he was making his last descent, a McLaughlin coupe owned by Mrs. C. E. Fulford, 225 King street east, and driven by Roy Dufour, came along. A collision could not be averted, the boy striking the car head-on, suffering a fracture of the base of the skull, a broken jaw and other injuries. The sleigh was shattered by the impact.

SWEEPING UP RED RADICALS

The United States Justice Department Has Arrested Several Thousand.

THEY WILL BE DEPORTED

AND THE BACKBONE OF RADICALISM BROKEN.

Detroit and Chicago Are the Strongholds of the Red Movement—Many Women Included in the Lists.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Washington, Jan. 3.—In a sweeping drive against Radicalism, the Department of Justice agents were completing to-day the nation-wide sweep against the communist organization, in which several thousand radicals were taken into custody with a view to deportation. Early this morning the number of arrests had arisen to the highest figures in the history of the country. The Government hopes to fill another "soviet ark" and send it across the Atlantic, where the radicals will be permitted to rejoin kith and kin in Bolshevik Russia.

Officials estimated that 3,000 "undesirables" would be caught in the drag net, and with their deportation it was believed the backbone of radicalism will be broken.

Incomplete figures show that nearly 150 suspected revolutionaries were held in New York City. Forty-four were taken in San Francisco, while about 1,000 arrests were made in Detroit and Chicago, described as strongholds of the Red movement. Four hundred were apprehended in Philadelphia, while Milwaukee and Cleveland supplied about 100 each. Many women are included in the lists, and the men are of a wide variety of nationality.

PROTEST AGAINST CARVING ULSTER

Lord Dunraven Says This Feature of Home Rule Bill is Bad One.

AN ARTIFICIAL CREATION

OF A BOUNDARY IS NOT POSSIBLE.

Ireland Cannot Be Subdivided Geographically, for Its Provinces Are Ancient Territorial Divisions.

London, Jan. 3.—Lord Dunraven, writing to the London Times on the Irish question, says: "The Government proposes to set up a dual system of government in Ireland in the hope that Irishmen will reduce it to unity, and accounts for the preliminary dualism by the alleged existence of two distinct nationalities in Ireland. That seems to be the groundwork of its bill. The Prime Minister labors to give substance and reality to the unsubstantial notion of two nationalities. The population of certain districts in Ulster are, according to him, aliens in race, aliens in sympathy, aliens in religion, aliens in tradition, aliens in outlook, and, concentrating upon religion, he finds himself compelled to carve Ulster and to cut up counties in order to form a distinct Protestant majority."

"I protest against the definition as being incorrect in history, and the creation of a boundary as being unwise in politics and government, and both as unnecessary. "Ireland is inhabited by a mixture of many races. It can be subdivided geographically, for its provinces are ancient territorial divisions and have a certain individual existence, but it cannot be sub-divided linguistically, racially or religiously, and any attempt to do so on the latter basis means the mutilation of the provinces and an artificial creation of a boundary of the very worst kind."

SORRY FOR CANADA.

This Detroit Editor May Be Jealous, However.

Detroit, Jan. 3.—Commenting editorially on the letting down of the whiskey bars in Ontario, The Detroit Times says: "We are sorry for the neighbor's daughter—the Daughter of the Snows." She was too splendidly resolute and sacrificial in the mother country's trouble to become a barmaid in a taproom and devote herself to imported thirsts from the U.S.A.

"We are sorry for the Dominion itself—for long its shore cities are sorry comparison commercially with the throbbing life of the ports on the American side, but now beginning to feel the urge of a great industrial awakening.

"Canada pickled will be under a serious handicap in competition with this nation with its production freed from the might and burden of booze.

"The New Year's swearing on in Quebec and slopping over into Ontario is a calamitous turn of events for our neighbor."

Will Decline To Extend Stay.

London, Jan. 3.—The Globe says there is good authority for the statement that the Duke of Devonshire will decline an invitation to extend his stay at Ottawa, private interests rendering his return to England specially desirable.

GERMAN WAR LORDS MAKING MUCH MONEY

Made Mess of Things as Warriors But Shine As Novelists.

Berlin, Jan. 3.—The unsuccessful German war lords have developed into the most successful money-makers. Nearly all the prominent figures in the old Germany have written books. Those of Ludendorff, Tirpitz, Falkenhayn, Bethmann-Hollweg, and Helfferich have already appeared, and Hindenburg, too, is in the field. The amounts of money which these people have made or are making out of their literary efforts are enormous.

Hindenburg has sold the American rights of his book for a sum which at the present rate of exchange, makes him a millionaire in marks twice over. It is believed that he will get 4,000,000 marks altogether for his book. Ludendorff has done magnificently, too. He held out for $240,000 for the English, Colonial and American rights. He had some difficulty in persuading those who wished to buy that his vast volume was really worth so much.

"Well," he was in the habit of saying pompously, "I have fought the world for four years on a much more serious matter, so I can easily hold out for a while against it until it comes to my terms in this instance." He did eventually modify his terms slightly, but he obtained a sum which worked out at slightly over 2,500,000 marks. Agreements for other countries raised the amount he received to 3,500,000 marks.

Von Tirpitz rather bungled his money-making business, but still he has come within a short distance of being a German millionaire.

The money netted from their books by the persons who lost the war is declared to be as follows: Hindenburg, 4,000,000 marks; Ludendorff, 3,500,000; Tirpitz, 900,000; Helfferich, 275,000; Bethmann-Hollweg, 250,000; Falkenhayn, 180,000.

There are more books to come. Admiral von Scheer, who asserts that he won the Battle of Jutland, is busy, and so is Count von Bernstorff.

PUT DOUBLE GUARD ON CROWN JEWELS

Seen Through Windows in Thick Hexagonal Steel Barrier.

London, Jan. 3.—Never have the British Crown jewels been more heavily guarded than now. In consequence they are to be seen at the Tower of London only through windows in a thick hexagonal steel barrier erected around the showcase in which they have been on view for years in this historic place.

It is only symptomatic of the extreme care with which this famous collection of jewels is being guarded as a consequence of scores of robberies by astute thieves. Besides the steel barriers around the Crown jewels the guard has been doubled in the room where the jewels are shown and every person entering the room is closely watched. To obtain a view of the jewels it is necessary to peer through small windows with prison-like bars in them. The famous Cullinan and Kohinoor diamonds are represented by "dummies."

Although Scotland Yard is reticent about the suggestion that some of the craftiest international crooks are now at work, it is known that the detectives suspect that some criminals active before the war were engaged in recent sensational robberies.

STATE OF SIEGE IN IRKUTSK CITY

Social Revolutionists Hold Railroad Westward to Krasnoyarsk.

Irkutsk, Jan. 3.—Irkutsk is in a state of siege. Martial law was declared following an uprising of social revolutionary troops on Dec. 24, during which they captured the railway station, but were unable to take the city from the Kolchak forces. Peace is being preserved by the Czecho-Slovak troops. Citizens of the United States in Irkutsk are safe and will be evacuated to Verkhne-Udinsk, 160 miles east of Irkutsk.

Communication across the Angara River is difficult because of the cutting of the pontoon bridge, and Red Cross boats are the only means of transportation.

Several of the Cabinet Ministers have been arrested. The revolutionary forces are in virtual control of the railroad from Irkutsk westward to Krasnoyarsk, but no serious outbreaks have been reported.

Admiral Kolchak is said to be at Achinsk, 220 miles east of Tomsk.

STARTING CENSUS IN UNITED STATES

Army of 85,000 Enumerators Will Begin Work To-day.

Washington, Jan. 3.—An army of 85,000 enumerators began on Friday the work of counting the men, women and children of the United States and of collecting certain information about the resources of the country. The taking of this census, the fourteenth in the history of the nation, is expected to require only about two weeks, but figures showing the total population probably will not be available until the end of April.

The count is expected to show a population of from 108,000,000 to 112,000,000, as compared with 93,000,000 in 1910. The estimated population on July 1, 1919, was 106,871,204.

NEARLY MILLION GERMAN FORCES

Terms of the Peace Treaty Are Not Yet Fulfilled.

REDUCTION IS PROCEEDING

BRITISH OFFICERS SAY PEOPLE ARE WAR-WEARY.

The Allies May Insist That the Military Organizations Be Guarded—Von Kluck Serving in Abolished as a Private.

London, Jan. 3.—Germany's armed forces are estimated by the British War Office to total close to a million men. These are divided into the regular army of 400,000, the land forces of the regular navy, 13,000, the armed constabulary, forty to fifty thousand; the temporary volunteers or regular army reserves, 150,000 to 200,000; civic guards, 300,000 to 400,000.

The figures with regard to the last named branches are rough estimates, the exact totals being unknown.

Under the terms of the peace treaty, Germany is compelled to reduce her regular forces to 100,000 by March 31st, and the number of gendarmes must not exceed those functioning as military police in 1913.

The reduction of the regular army in compliance with the treaty obligations is proceeding, although at a slower pace than originally was contemplated owing to the delay in ratification of the peace treaty, the unsettled state of Germany and the desire of the German Government not to increase the number of persons unemployed.

Quite apart from the British official statement, but bearing on the subject, is unofficial information brought to England from Germany by British army officers. The substance of their report is summed up as follows:

"There is no truth in the stories that Germany has a secret, mobile army. Not only are the German people war weary and anxious for peace, but there is a great shortage of war supplies such as rubber, petrol, coal, horses and in addition the rolling stock of the country is greatly depleted. Manufacture of arms and munitions is not going on in any large degree, although it is probable that to force the Germans to give up all the rifles stipulated in the peace treaty will be impossible, since the concealment of arms is not difficult. There is no danger of warlike aggression from Germany in the immediate future. However, if the Germans are permitted to maintain volunteers and civic guard bodies would constitute a potential danger as they would provide basic material for a big war army."

It is stated in well-informed circles in London that the Allies will insist that the military organizations be abolished. It is conceded, however, that the maintenance of a constabulary is necessary to protect property from hoodlums and organized bodies of thieves.

Army officers are said to believe that considerable grounds exist for Germany's claim that she needs a regular army of more than 100,000, as this force would be very small for a country so great in extent. Many citizens of Germany as a patriotic duty are said to be joining the civil guards to protect themselves and others as well as their property from Spartacan outbreaks. Numerous generals are among the guards, including the famous Field Marshal von Kluck, who is serving as a private.
