

his mother presented
him with a dandy rifie, and Johnny took the four targets that came with the rifie and went out to the back yard to try his skill. Shortly after, his mother came out too to satisfy herself that Johnny knew how to use his gun. Upon examining the targets showing all the holes made by the bullets, and being a quick-thinking woman, she exclaimed: why, Johnny, what a good shot you are and do you know that you have made every target spell a word? Can you tell me what each target spells?" Can YOU Puzzle It Out?

We All
We for the bold of the state of the state of the four things wanted.

Johnny couldn't, so his mother told him

How To Do IT. Each target spells a word. Each circle of each target shows a number of bullet holes, as you can see by the targets, and each circle represents a letter.

The number of holes indicates the position of that letter in the alphabet. For instance: "A" would be represented by one hole.

"B" by two holes, "C" by three holes, and so on.

After you have worked out all the letters that are represented in each word, you will find that they are not in their proper order.

Put them into their proper order to spell out correctly the names of the four things wanted.

In order to help you, we will tell you that the letter represented In order to help you, we will tell you that the letter represented by the middle circle of first target is "A," because "A" is the first letter of the alphabet. This is not an easy puzzle, but with perse-Wear and you an work it out—and the prizes are worth trying for.

Copy your answer upon a plain white steet of paper as neatly as you can, because neatness, spelling, handwriting and punctuation count if more than one answer is correct. Put your name and address in the top right-hand corner of the paper. If you have to write a letter, or show anything else, put it upon a separate sheet and you a complete illustrated list of the grand prizes that you can win.

WASTE space is "slacker" space—put it to work. The empty attic might just as well be a den, play room, study or extra bed room. Even the basement can be transformed into a workroom or laundry. In business buildings Beaver Board also provides the practical way to permanently restore old walls and ceilings, partition offices, build extra rooms, and utilize unused lofts or other waste space.
