INSURANCE MEN FEAST

THE MANUFACTURERS LIFE INSURANCE AGENTS GATHER.

As Guests of Manager Johnson—the Kingston Agency Did Great Work During the Past Year.

A few months ago the displaying of a magnificent silver trophy in the window of Kinross & Co.'s Jewellery store, caused considerable comment in city circles, particularly when it was learned that this trophy was awarded the Kingston agency of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, for the collection of the largest percentage of new premiums during the year 1918. Naturally this progressive agency, under the able management of Manager M. G. Johnston, was determined to exceed in 1919 the splendid results obtained in 1918. The new business written in 1919 exceeded the year 1918, which in itself was a banner year by nearly 200%. In appreciation of the wonderful work accomplished, Manager Johnston acted as host at a sumptuous banquet at the Hotel Randolph Thursday evening to the Kingston agency force.

A. Mackenzie, manager of agencies; L. A. Spalding, superintendent, and J. P. Lyons, advertising manager of the home office, came down from Toronto to extend congratulations. Mr. Mackenzie in the course of his remarks mentioned the appreciation in which life insurance is held pointing out that during 1919 the Manufacturers Life wrote new assurances in excess of forty million dollars and that the insurance in force now exceeds one hundred and thirty-eight million dollars.

The banquet proved a feast of reason and a flow of soul. Mr. Gates, of Kingston, entertained the guests in his own inimitable way and his sections were much appreciated.

The following enjoyed the evening immensely, and left for their respective fields determined that 1920 would see the Kingston branch the company's banner agency in Ontario: Milton Storms, Picton; G. A. Ireland, Trenton; A. D. McIntosh, Stirling; C. E. Creighton, Napawan; F. C. Avery, Perth; E. B. Code, Perth; W. F. Heffron, Lanark; J. J. Bradley, Smith's Falls; G. A. Dixon, Winchester; M. C. Robinson, Winchester; J. W. Marcellus, Iroquois; A. W. Burtch, Brockville; E. C. Heffron, Kingston; A. Kinch, Kingston; J. V. Grace, Kingston.

Theatrical

At The Grand.

To-night will be the last showing of the splendid feature picture programme now playing at the Grand. Evelyn Grealey, the dainty World Film star, is seen in "Bringing Up Betty," which is one of the best put-together pictures shown here in some time. It's a corking play, full of good humor and fun, with a well-written plot running through it. The photography in this picture is especially worthy of note, as it contains many of the most beautiful scenes ever thrown upon the screen. Miss Grealey is supported by a large and talented cast, and this picture is among the best she has as yet appeared in. "When Fate Decides," a five-reel Fox Film release, starring the famous emotional actress, Madeline Travers, will also complete its engagement to-night. The plot is certainly well developed, and is a photoplay with a great big heart appeal. Miss Travers makes a point of appearing in none but the most exquisite gowns, and this feature will appeal to all the ladies especially. There is also one of the very laughable Sunshine comedies that have become so popular, and an act of splendid vaudeville. This bill will be seen for the last time to-night.—Advt.

"Fiddlers Three" Coming.

The Grand Opera House will have for its attraction for Saturday, Jan. 17th, matinee and night, John Cort's musical comedy, "Fiddlers Three." William Cory Dumas has provided the book and Alexander Johnston, the writer of many pleasing tunes, has given "Fiddlers Three" a graceful and at the same time a delightful score. The cast, with a few exceptions, is the same that was seen at the New York Cort Theatre for eighteen weeks, and includes the beautiful and accomplished Belgian prima donna, Tavia Belge. Others that bring a brightness and happiness to the score and dialogue are Thomas Conkey, Tom Dingle, Edna Morn, Horace Bincham, Katharine, Clara Ward, Ether Dwyer, Marins Rogati and others. The stage pictures are beautiful and fill the eye with a warmth and coloring that will please the most discriminating. The chorus has been chosen for its youth and beauty and has been highly criticized for its ability to sing with a brilliancy that fascinates the eye and tickles the ear with the melodious music of the score.—Advt.

At the Strand.

In spite of the intense cold weather the Strand was full, and the people fairly rocked with laughter at Mary Pickford's latest picture, "Heart of the Hills." In this story Mary Pickford takes the part of a mountain girl, whose family relations are unsatisfactory, whose education is limited, and whose sweetheart insists on making her bait her own book worms, replete with comedy incidents and rare pathos and capably handled by the greatest of all screen stars. "Heart of the Hills" has been one of the most popular attractions seen at the Strand for a long time. Special mention should be made to the fine music rendered by the Strand orchestra, under the capable leadership of Gerald Radcliffe.—Advt.

At Griffin's.

A highly pleased audience witnessed the excellent bill shown for the first time at Griffin's last night, and were enthusiastic in their praise of the same. The feature picture, "Raffles," starring Jack Brudersma is alone worthy of the price of admission. The story deals with the adventures of a society thief, who steals from the sheer love of it and outwitting the police in a most intensely dramatic story, and one in which the famous star is seen to wonderful advantage. The special feature on our programme caused such favorable comment and is the first of a series of Stagewomen's war work, the title is "Lola's Little Star," and presents a cast of notable stars, who make the picture one of superior merit. Our usual line of added attraction including good comedy and splendid scenic pictures, are of the usual high standard of excellence and balance out a most entertaining programme for to-night and to-morrow.—Advt.

The Late James Compton.

James Compton, one of Kingston's most industrious and highly respected citizens, passed away in the General Hospital on Thursday. He was ailing for some time. The deceased was born in Buckinghamshire, England, and came to Canada forty years ago, becoming a resident of Kingston. He was an expert gardener and followed that occupation. Mr. Compton was seventy-five years of age, and is survived by his wife, who is ill in the hospital at the present time; two sons, George of Kingston and Harry of Vermilion, Alberta, and two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Poulson of Shaunavoo, Sask., and Mrs. George Nobes, Arch street, this city.

A Soldier Missing.

A despatch from Brockville states that a returned soldier under treatment in a Toronto military hospital, and absent without leave, is being sought in that city. He got off the eastbound train there on Wednesday morning, and was missed by the conductor because he had a ticket for Halifax. The department of soldiers' civil re-establishment when informed, asked that the man be held if found until an escort could go from Kingston and receive him. After leaving the railway station he reappeared and was detained, but later gave his guard the slip. He is said to be suffering from lapse of memory as the result of shell-shock at the front. He is twenty-five years of age, smooth face, fair complexion and about five feet in height. He wears a blue hospital band on the sleeve of his tunic.
