

Livingston's January Sale

The Clothing buyer who has neglected our 20 per cent. Discount Sale in our Ready-to-wear department and wants to "get in" on it will have to get busy, as there are not many more days left in January. We sound this note of warning because we dislike to have our patrons say, as they often do, after missing one of our sales:

"I'm so sorry that I did not get in when you were holding your January Discount sale."

—All sales for cash.

R. WALDRON

SEEKING THE CANCELLATION

OF APPOINTMENT OF ISSUER OF MOTOR LICENSES

He Secured Quarters But Local Motorists Took Objection—Incensed At the Opposition Offered.

What looks like an attempt to deprive a returned soldier who lost a leg at the front of a position to which he was appointed by the provincial motor permit department has come to light during the past two days. A week ago, William Bourdeau a veteran, who went overseas with the C. M. R. Depot Regiment under Major Allan Stroud, and who lost his leg at Vimy Ridge, was notified from Toronto that he had been appointed issuer of motor permits for Kingston. Finding difficulty in securing suitable quarters, he applied to the local veterans' associations. He was offered free office room by both the G.W.V.A. and Army and Navy Veterans, and made arrangements to locate in the G.W.V.A. Committee room. He was then informed, indirectly, that if he located there the local automobile owners would not recognize him as an official, but would secure their licenses direct from Toronto. He then made arrangements with the Veterans' Clothing Company to have an office in their building, the use of which was given to him free of charge. This is said to have met with the disapproval of the local motor club.

On Thursday morning Mr. Bourdeau received a communication in which the provincial department pointed out that as the salary for the position was only $500 a year, it was thought advisable to change the appointment, and give it to some man who was already established in business and who had an office and office staff for the work. As he is in receipt of a pension of approximately $360 a year, on account of having lost a leg, this salary would have enabled Mr. Bourdeau, to live comfortably, so he naturally felt rather incensed at the opposition to his appointment. The Army and Navy and Great War Veterans are protesting very strongly against the cancelling of his appointment, as this position is one which is admirably suited to a man who has been seriously disabled, but who does not receive sufficient pension to enable him to live in comfort. They claim that this disabled man's claims should go before those of a man who has already an established business.

Theatrical

"Fair and Warmer" Coming.
"Fair and Warmer," the Avery Hopwood farce, which set a new pace for all farces by a year run in New York, without a vacant seat at any performance, comes to the Grand Opera House, Saturday, Jan. 24th, matinee and night. So great was the momentum of "Fair and Warmer's" New York success that before its first six weeks were out the whole country was curious about it, interested in it, and anxious for it. All New York's visitors were taken to see New York's greatest single amusement centre, and they all went back home to spread the glad tidings that "Fair and Warmer" was the funniest farce in the world.—Adv.

"Why Smith Left Home"
A Rhymed Review.
"This handsome Smith's a gay young dog,"
Were Auntie's words to pretty Marian.
She little knew her niece had planned
Elopement with the suave barbarian.

With great success the scheme was sprung;
The pair were wedded "on the double"
And caught the Honey-moon Express,
That night saw started all their trouble.

While Smith was whispering fond adieus,
The train was wrecked; by luck escaping,
In Jones' old "fire-proof" hotel
The pair sought shelter from the gaping.

Here Fate again stayed Smith's embrace,
For fire sent bride and groom ascurrying,
Undaunted, Smith begged clothes and reached
His journey's end—and further worrying.

For hard-faced Auntie waited there,
She smiled and tipped the bride off grimly
When Smith messed up the family chow
And failed to treat fair Julie primly.

When wife fled in Auntie's car,
Smith donned a mask a la Dick Turpin,
Kidnapped her—Crash! an earthquake burst
And brought forgiveness, joy—and curtain.

Blithe Bryant Washburn scores once more,
As King of Farce he's now a fixture,
The gayest riot ever screened;
Like Smith; "leave home" and see the picture! —Adv.

At Griffin's.
A large audience witnessed the initial showing of our excellent programme last night, and were immensely pleased with the same. Frank Keenan, "America's greatest character actor," in "The False Code" is the main feature, and gives a splendid portrayal of a most difficult role. In "The False Code" Mr. Keenan gives us a picture that can be truthfully likened unto a good magazine story—the kind of a story that once you start to read you can't let go of until the finish—perhaps you turn to the last page to see how it turns out. "The False Code" is Frank Keenan's best production, and cannot fail to please all who see it. The second picture of the stage, women's war work series, entitled "Fighting Mad," is an added attraction which proved very popular with the audience last evening, and the Sensational comedy, "The Footlight Maids," brought down the house with laughter. Taken on the whole, the programme was one of exceptional merit, and will amply repay a visit to Griffin's either to-night or tomorrow.—Adv.
