QUEEN'S IS MUCH PLEASED

THAT HEARST GOVERNMENT WENT DOWN TO DEFEAT.

As its Faculty of Education Would Have Been Interfered With—Drury Government Policy Suits Queen's.

In a statement issued at Queen's University, Principal Bruce Taylor says:

Graduates and friends of the university will be pleased to learn that the Queen's Faculty of Education has survived another crisis—and that the severest one of its history. There is every reason for believing that the late provincial Government had decided upon the policy of establishing a central normal college for the training of candidates for first class public school and high school teachers—certificates, and were merely waiting for return to power to put that policy into effect. This would probably have meant the withdrawal of the annual government grant in aid of the Queen's faculty and would, through the discontinuance of all intramural work, have made the continuance of the faculty in its present form quite impossible.

The new provincial Government has already declared against this policy of centralization and has shown marked sympathy with the university for the continuance and enlargement of its Faculty of Education. The university has already approached the Government for aid in the erection of an experimental school and has applied for an increased grant to meet the increased expense which the erection of such a school would entail.

The university has also made strong representations as to the necessity for a reasonable amount of freedom in the control of her own Faculty of Education. Unfortunately for the university and for the province, the provincial Department of Education has in the past insisted upon reserving to itself the control of faculty policy and administration, while at the same time it has sought to place the entire responsibility for the results upon the university. It is entirely gratifying to the university that the new Government has announced its intention of adopting a broader and more intelligent policy.

MILK INSPECTOR'S WORK

DR. G. W. BELL TELLS WHAT HE HAS BEEN DOING

Has Received Few Complaints Regarding Quality of Milk—Makes Examination of Cows and Water Supply.

When interviewed regarding the milk supply of the city, Dr. George W. Bell, milk inspector, stated that at the present time it is very satisfactory. He had during the past year been very busy visiting dairy farms, and inspecting cows and their water supply. There were examined in all 4,500 cows, in Ernestown, Storrington, Portland, Pittsburg and Kingston townships, points from which milk is brought to the city for sale. In winter it takes 600 quarts of milk to supply the city and this quantity is furnished at the present time from 1,200 to 1,400 cows. About 8,000 quarts is consumed by families, and 1,000 quarts by hospitals, and storekeepers. There are thirty milk vendors selling on the streets, being an increase of four during the year. An estimate of the amount of milk used per day per citizen, by Dr. Bell, is one half pint for every man, woman and child. In addition to the milk there is a very large quantity of cream delivered to tea room parlors, stores and restaurants. This is also under the inspector's supervision.

When the typhoid fever epidemic occurred in 1918, a special visit of inspection was made to every place from which milk and cream came and samples of the water used for the cattle were obtained and analyzed," Dr. Bell said. "On this occasion I had to go nearly to Brockville on the east. It entailed a great deal of work but nothing unusual was found on that occasion. In the summer time, fewer cows are needed to supply the city, but this winter the cattle are generally thin owing to the high cost of feed and grain, the milk flow is less in consequence, and a larger number of cows are needed. In view of this fact, we are very fortunate regarding the price of milk. It is cheaper at 12 and 14 cents a quart, cheaper in Kingston, I find, than in any other city of the size.

Asked regarding the health of the cows, Dr. Bell said that he found two that showed symptoms of tuberculosis and ordered them destroyed and they were destroyed. There were others that had diseased udders. He was very particular about the cows that supplied milk to the city because he regarded milk as the most valuable diet for children, invalids and aged persons. "For myself," said the doctor, "if I had to choose between bread and milk as a diet, I would choose milk, because I believe it contains more of the elements that sustain life and promote health than bread."

"Did you receive many complaints from citizens or from institutions regarding the quality of milk?" he was asked.

"Very few," and they were investigated immediately," he replied.

Civic Finance Recommendations.

The civic finance committee will recommend to the City Council this evening, that Mayor Nickle's memorial scheme for the City Hall be adopted, and that the cost be met by the sale of debentures under the War Measures Act; that Mayor Nickle be authorized to attend all conventions, etc., during the year, as representative of the city, when in his judgment, it is advisable to do so, at the expense of the corporation. The committee reports that funds are available for the increased wages to the firemen.

POLICE COURT CASES.

James Black, Forger, Sentenced to Ontario Reformatory.

In Police Court Monday morning, James Black, who has been on remand for some time on the charge of forging cheques on the Ontario Reformatory. The time Black will actually spend in the reformatory will depend on his behaviour, as the magistrate told him he could be kept there for two years less one day.

It will be remembered that Black was gathered in by the police, charged with passing forged cheques. The accused was remanded a number of times in the hope that he could make good the money, but he failed to do so.

A citizen who was on remand charged with being under the influence of liquor after telling that he got drunk on essence of lemon, was taxed $10. The magistrate advised him to cut out the drink or it would hasten his end.

14th Bugle Band Re-organized.

The reorganization of the bugle band of the 14 Regt. P.W.O.R., was effected on Friday evening last, about twenty-five being present, some of them former buglers and drummers, and Bandmaster Christmas is arranging bugle and brass band music to be played by the combined bands.

Drill and classes for N.C.O.'s will take place on Tuesday and Friday evenings of each week, and the prospects for a full battalion before the opening of the spring training are bright.

Died in London, Ont.

John Barrett, father of Edward G. Barrett of the Whig reportorial staff, died at his home in London, Ont., on Saturday morning after a week's illness of influenza and pneumonia. He was about sixty-five years of age. Mr. Barrett was summoned to London early Saturday morning but did not reach there till ten o'clock that night. He is the only surviving member of the family.

To Knit Mitts For Children.

The war workers of Sydenham street Methodist church are going to see that children in Kingston, who are running around with cold hands owing to not having warm mitts, will not have to do so much longer. On Sunday afternoon Miss H. L. Chown announced in the Bible school that she had a quantity of wool, and would be glad if the people would knit mitts. Her request resulted in all the wool being handed out.
