KNOW THYSELF
(By Edmund Vance Cooke.)

Rubber a bit at yourself, old man;
Look yourself over and find who's who,
For never since Adam and Eve began
Has it been more up to you—
To winnow the wheat and blow the chaff,
To follow the light and stand the gaff,
If you win no more than an epitaph,
As one of the faithful few.

Make a once-over yourself, old scout;
With a frank and fathoming stethescope;
Turn your fattening conscience inside out
To discover your inside dope.
It is time to figure yourself at par,
To uncork yourself from your gentle jar,
That the world may use you for all you are
In the day of its newer hope.

Take an interior view, old pal;
Forget your stomach to feed your soul.
You're a figure to-day in the world's cabal,
You are one of the larger whole.
Forget the path of the petty past,
And the dismal wail of a credal caste.
Look up! Look out! for the Times are vast
And Eternity calls the roll.

If you are satisfied with little, that will probably be your portion.
Never get into the ranks of the blame-shifters and faultfinders.
