At this stage the prizes were presented to the winners of the pool tournament. The winners were Comrade McCormack, 1st prize; Comrade Hamilton, 2nd prize; Comrade Tibbitts, 3rd prize; Mr. Todd, 4th prize; Comrade H. Tugwood, prize for highest break; Comrade Jarvis, booby prize.

GERMANY PREPARES TO TRY THE GUILTY

But is Not Obeying the Entente's Will, According to Dr. Schaffer.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Berlin, Feb. 21.—Preliminary proceedings in a number of cases of Germans accused of violations of the laws of war have already begun, and progress is being made in the collection of documentary material.

Dr. Schaffer, minister of justice, told a representative of the Zweifl Blatt yesterday. The minister said that the accused persons would be tried at Leipzig by a court consisting of the customary seven judges. German witnesses will be heard in accordance with the prescriptions of criminal trial regulations, and will be examined abroad if they do not care to come to Germany.

It was indicated that the German magistrates would go to other countries to be present at the taking of evidence. Accused persons who do not respond to the summons to appear before the imperial court will have to be arrested, and the German authorities will in any case do everything to expedite the proceedings as far as possible.

On the one hand is the argument that the present Government and Parliament were elected essentially for period of war and reconstruction is advanced, but it will take years to complete, if it is ever complete, so that to go to the constitutional limit of the parliamentary term could be justified.

A PROBLEM BEFORE THE PARTY CAUCUS

The Cabinet to Consult Members Soon After House is Opened.

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—When the members of Parliament meet all sections of the country get here next week counsel will be taken of them by the Government, as to the most opportune time for having a general election.

The cabinet has discussed the matter informally, but there is no conclusive opinion. The situation is such that it cannot easily be formulated.

Some of the ministers think an election is due this year, but others would defer it till 1922. Failure to make a policy on the question of permanency might precipitate dissolution and an election, but if there is an agreement it will resolve itself to a question of when is the most opportune time to go to the country.

Both on the questions of policy and dissolution the counsel of the members fresh from the constituencies will be an invaluable factor in coming to a conclusion.

MISERY IN VIENNA; NO COAL TO BE HAD

The Street Cars Stop Running—The People Are Poorly Clad.

(Canadian Press Despatch) New York, Feb. 21.—A cable message to the American relief administration from a representative of the organization in Vienna tells of conditions of financial chaos and extreme want and suffering rampant there.

The crown is worth less than half a cent, the message stated. There is no coal, the street cars have stopped running. People badly clad, walk miles to work. Vienna is a picture of desolate, helpless misery.

L.O.O.F. HONOR ROLL UNVEILED

Mr. Nickle then drew aside the flag that draped the honor roll, and Mr. Allen played the "Last Post" while the lodge stood at attention.

Brig-Gen. Ross Speaks. Bro. Fitzgerald, in introducing Brig-Gen. Ross, said that he had enjoyed most valuable service at the front in the Army Medical Corps, and it was a great pleasure to have him present upon such an occasion.

Referring to the dissatisfaction of many returned men, Gen. Ross said that some few thought that having served their country in time of war they had nothing more to do. This was a mistake for they went out as much for themselves as for anyone else and should be glad to come back and enjoy what was accomplished.

He was glad that he had served, not in one war, but in two and had been a private in the ranks, for it placed him in a better position as administrator of the Government unemployment fund to deal properly with the peculiar cases that came to his attention. He was glad to be able to say that those who were most critical and hard to suit were not Canadians or British. It was a great mistake to suppose that the returned soldier did not want to work. There were many who were not without defects, but they had been in the manner in which soldiers are playing the game at home.

the case of a French Canadian who is located on a farm, some 200 miles south of Montreal, living alone. He was a private in the 22nd battalion and won the Military Medal and the D.C.M. He was wounded five times and was invalided home after having pneumonia. Another case was that of a man, his wife and five children on a homestead 80 miles from Edmonton who had to live on bread made of flour mixed with shorts to make it spin out because they had been unable to raise a crop.

The employment situation has greatly improved since December 27th last. At that time there were 29,460 applications made, but this did not mean that money grants were made to all of those applicants. During the second week the number was 16,507, on the third week the number was 9,700 and on the fourth week 4,238. These figures do not show that returned soldiers don't want work. Gen. Ross said that many men suffered because of some trivial military offence during their period of service, but he was glad to be able to say that the Government was considering the cancellation of all discharge certificates that placed any stigma upon a man who had been disciplined while in the army.

C. S. Park, past grand master, paid a high tribute to the men who had served their country. He believed that the realization of the ideal of citizenship in its fullest sense the great lessons that Oddfellowship tried to teach and were richer in knowledge and understanding by reason of that experience. Much was therefore expected of them in promoting the fuller realization of the ideal of citizenship that the Order stood for. Refreshments were served after the addresses.
