MADE OF RIGHT STUFF REQUEST MADE TO QUEEN'S

THE FINAL ORDER OF THE DAY BY SIR ARCHIBALD.

The Distinguished Commander Pointed Out the Path that He Hoped the Soldiers Under Him Would Take on Returning Home.

Hamilton Times

Sir Archibald Cameron Macdonell, K.C., C.M.G., D.S.O., commander of the 1st Canadian Division of the Canadian army at the front, is now commandant of the Royal Military College, Kingston. We have just seen a copy of the final order of the day given by him to his troops as a farewell to them. This division took part in between twenty and thirty battles, and distinguished itself in them all. In this order, he asked his men to return to Canada with their hearts full of gratitude to the people for the splendid, unflinching faith and loyal, whole-hearted support given them through the long years of the war. He declared that there was nothing finer in the world's history than the free people of Canada voting for conscription, and in this connection he paid a high tribute to the women. He asked the men to "Take into civil life with you and practice the same loyalty and esprit de corps in your business that you have displayed towards your units in the war."

The commander said that they should ask themselves what they were to do with the life that had been spared to them. He told them to exhibit the same qualities of faith, courage, initiative, hard work, and tenacity of purpose that they had exhibited in the war and they would succeed. All that they wanted was a chance and a square deal. Lastly Col. Macdonell advised the boys to get married. Get married, he said, to some nice, capable girl, who will be a real helpmate and has no cowardly notions about bearing children. Get busy, he added, and make a home for yourself as soon as possible.

A commanding officer who could give such fatherly advice to his men is made of the right stuff.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Should Women Preach?
Godfrey, Ont., Feb. 15.—(To the Editor): You asked the views held by readers as to the scriptural authority for women to preach or teach in public. I am a farmer's wife and am not wanting to preach, but scriptural authority is very clear when we understand the scriptures right. Paul said, "Let the women keep silent," I Corinthians XIV, 34. Throughout this whole chapter Paul is correcting abuses that had arisen in the public services of the church at Corinth. In these verses he is not considering women preaching at all. In the synagogue meetings men were permitted to speak out during preaching, to ask questions, but women were not allowed such liberty, it being counted unbecoming for them to do so. Paul had respect to public sentiment in the matter, and no doubt had the same feeling of propriety himself. Women were allowed to exercise their gifts in the meetings, as is plainly shown in this same chapter where Paul says, "Ye may all prophesy," (v. 31). In chapter II, speaking of the public services, he allows the women both to pray and prophesy (v. 5) in the church, provided she wears the veil that the Corinthian custom and their standard of modesty required, but without the head-covering she would dishonor her head (or husband). Perhaps it would be better understood by knowing the Greek and the Hebrew meaning of the word prophet. Greek: According to the cyclopedic concordance of the Oxford Teachers' Bible, a prophet is one who speaks forth the message which has been communicated to him through divine inspiration, whether of practical duties or future events. Hebrew: To boil forth as a fountain; hence one who speaks out freely from a full heart, impelled by an inspiration from God. (2) One who sees divine visions, divine truths, and speaks forth what God has shown to him. The same concordance gives the meaning of prophesy as: (1) to speak by divine inspiration, (2) to foretell, (3) to explain religious subjects, to preach, to exhort. See Romans, chapter XVI, v. 1, 2, 3; also Philippians, chapter IV, v. 3; and Acts XXI, v. 9, also II, v. 13. I myself was saved through a woman's preaching, and we know that God honors woman's preaching by the harvest of souls that have been shown.

FAINT AND DIZZY SPELLS
WEAKNESS AND SHORTNESS OF BREATH

You can generally tell when the heart is affected by the faint and dizzy spells, the shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensations, weak, sinking, all-gone feeling, choking sensation, etc.

Many men and women become run-down and worn out when otherwise they could be strong and healthy if they would only pay some attention to the first sign of heart weakness.

No remedy will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy and normal condition as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. C. A. S. Drake, Paris, Ont., writes:—"I have used on towards the second box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and find they have done me good. I had those fainting, dizzy spells, once in a while, and also weakness and shortness of breath, and would become so choked up at times I could hardly sleep without sitting up in bed. When walking too fast I would have to stop and try to catch my breath. I feel a lot better since I have used your pills and know that they have helped me wonderfully as I have improved very much."

Price 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.
