R. WALDRON

Theatrical

At the Grand.
Alice Brady, the charming Select Pictures star is now playing at the Grand in her latest release, "Marie, Ltd." This picture is not one of that large class of photoplays that have absolutely no excuse for appearing on the screen, but is a superbly portrayed drama with enough exciting incidents to hold the interest of the spectator from start to finish. The play is the story of a girl who gave up a brilliant career to sell hats in her mother's shop, and who sacrificed fame and happiness, and very nearly sacrificed the man she loved, to Hayakawa, the famous Japanese actor, is also seen in "The Dragon Painter," a beautiful play of old Japan, and has supporting him Tsuru Aoki, and it can safely be said that "The Dragon Painter" surpasses any other production that the Haworth Company has turned out as far as artistic photography is concerned. There is also a very funny comedy, "Hail to the Kink," and a reel of Pictorial Life. This bill is seen to-night only.—Adv.

Coming to the Grand.
The name of Charlie Chaplin is enough to assure everyone of the best there is in comedy, and in his "Burlesque on Carmen," Chaplin is seen at his best, which is saying a lot for any comedy. "Carmen" was originally published as a novel by Prosper Merimee, a French author. It was later made into a stage play, and finally converted into grand opera. It has been done as a straight drama for the screen by two producers, but it remains for Chaplin to first make a movie burlesque. The cast includes such well known people as Ben Turpin, Edna Purviance, Leo White, John Rand, and many others. Playing the same dates as the above picture there is a splendid western drama, "The Heart of Texas Ryan," starring Tom Mix. Mix, pronounced by critics and the public to be the screen's most daring rider, is seen in his most daring stunts in this picture. There is a delightful love story running through the play, and enough thrilling incidents to satisfy the most critical. The cast includes Beanie Eytan, Frank Champeau, George Fawcett and many others of note. "The Welsh Rib Boy" will offer an unusual act of clever vaudeville. The Grand's augmented orchestra will offer a splendid musical programme of many of the latest popular selections, and on the whole this bill will be one of the best ever offered in Kingston. This programme will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week only.—Adv.

At Griffin's.
To-night will be the last chance to see delightful Mae Murray in her new picture, "The A B C of Love," in which she portrays the role of a little ragged country girl, whose sole possession is an old mare near its last days. A friend of a creature left to the charity of a none too charitable world, she is finally left in the care of Harry Bryant, a young playwright. Miss Murray is utterly charming in her role, which is a sympathetic one, calling for light comedy and heavy dramatic touches and her own are deserving of special mention. Don't overlook seeing "The A B C of Love," and at the same time Harold Lloyd in "Captain Kidd's Kids," which will also be shown for the last time to-night.—Adv.

At the Strand.
Maurice Tourneur's latest Paramount-Artcraft production, "The White Heather," will be the main feature at the Strand Theatre, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The story is adapted from the melodrama written by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton, which had a long run at the Drury Lane Theatre in London. Indirectly the title comes from the little flower of the Scotch Highlander, the white heather, which is said to bring good luck to its wearer. Scotland, however, is the background for but a part of the story. The action centres around the recovery of a marriage record from the hulk of a sunken yacht, "The White Heather". The big scene of the melodrama takes place at the bottom of the sea, where the hero and villain fight to the death on the ocean floor. For these remarkable scenes Mr. Tourneur employed the newest invention of the Williamson Brothers, whose subsea photograph devices made possible the under water scenes of "The Submarine Eye" and "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." The various roles are in the hands of capable players.—Adv.

By-law For Fire Motorization.
The fire and light committee met on Tuesday afternoon, but transacted only routine business. It decided to meet again on Friday afternoon to consider the question of asking the city council to submit a by-law to the people for the purchase of motor apparatus for the fire department, instead of buying two additional teams of horses, as will have to be done shortly. Two other by-laws are likely to be submitted to the people at an early date, and it would be a good chance to give the people an opportunity of saying whether they want the fire department motorized.

Prominent Belleville Man Dies.
Belleville, Feb. 25.—Renssler B. Morden, one of Belleville's well-known citizens, passed away of pneumonia after a few days' illness.
