WHERE IS THE BODY OF FINLEY STONEHAM?

Father of Dead Prisoner Says Body Shipped to Gravenhurst is Not That of His Son — Has Someone Committed a Fearful Blunder?

On Wednesday last the Whig published a report that was current to the effect that bodies of prisoners who died in the Portsmouth penitentiary were sent to the wrong parties. The report was as follows:

"It is reported that by a serious mix-up at the Portsmouth Penitentiary the bodies of deceased prisoners that were ordered sent to their former homes for interment at the expense of their families were forwarded to the wrong parties. There was much surprise when a telegram was received from Gravenhurst informing them that the wrong body had been sent. But more unfortunate still was the fact that the right body could not be sent, as it had been disposed of for the purpose of anatomy study at a medical college, as required by the statute, when no relative or friends claim the body of a deceased prisoner."

The acting warden, H. C. Fatt, took strong exception to the report, stating that it was absolutely false and requesting that a denial be published and it appeared in Friday's issue as follows:

"H. C. Fatt, acting warden of the Portsmouth Penitentiary, states that the report of there being any mix-up in the shipment of bodies of deceased prisoners from that institution was not correct. He says there was no mistake whatever on the part of the officials."

"The report appears to have been the result of a statement that one body was not recognized by the family to whom it was sent. While a body was sent to a medical college, the following is a copy of a telegram to the Whig in connection with the shipment of one of the bodies:

"Gravenhurst, March 12, 1920
"British Whig,
"Kingston.
"We cannot identify the body as that of Finley Stoneham."
"(Sgd) J. A. STONEHAM."

This telegram was followed by a letter giving particulars and here the question might be asked, "What is the practice followed, in Portsmouth penitentiary when a prisoner takes sick? Are his friends notified of his condition and given an opportunity to visit him? Surely when a bill of over $200 is run up against innocent parties it would not have been too much trouble to have written in time for them to visit a dying prisoner. Does the expense incurred in this case support the assumption that the innocent relatives were indifferent to the extent that they would not have come to the penitentiary, in which case they would at least have had the opportunity to establish identity? Should the relatives of a prisoner be exposed to the perpetration of a fearless error simply because some weak one in the family has made a mistake? These are questions that seem obvious to us, apart altogether from the methods of treating the sick and the care exercised in seeing that the right body was sent. The question arises, were the penitentiary officials themselves satisfied respecting the identity of the three bodies that had been disposed of? If they were, why were two officials sent out to St. Mary's Cemetery on March 12th where they had the vault opened for the examination of one of the bodies supposed to be that of an Italian? If it was the body of the Italian, what became of the body of Stoneham?"

USE "DANDERINE" IF HAIR IS COMING OUT

For a Few Cents You Can Save Your Hair and Double Its Beauty.

To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a small bottle of delightful "Danderine" at any drug or toilet counter for a few cents, pour a little in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair usually stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff. Help your hair grow strong, thick and long and become soft, glossy and twice as beautiful and abundant.

As further evidence that the family to whom the body was sent were of the opinion that it was not the right one, the following letter written by the father of the missing man, to the Whig is published:

Father Denies Identity.
Gravenhurst, March 13th.
"In the Daily British Whig, Kingston, Ont.:"
"Dear Sirs:
"In answer to your letter of March 11th, 1920, the body that was sent to Gravenhurst and supposed to be that of Finley Stoneham, was not the body of Finley Stoneham, for Finley had light, red hair and his complexion was fair. He also had marks on him which the body that was sent did not have. The body sent was of dark complexion, a black hair and black moustache, a large head and not as tall as Finley. I have a son, Edward Stoneham, who resembles Finley so much that they were often taken for one another. I am very sorry that the mistake was made, as the body sent cannot be recognized as Finley Stoneham's body; neither could anyone that saw the corpse recognize it. They all say it is not that of Finley Stoneham, for they all knew Finley well.

"What are you going to do about it? I want to know. The officials wired us that Finley was dead and asked if we claimed the remains. We wired back the same day to ship the body at once. This was on Feb. 23rd, 1920. The man's name that sent the telegram was H. C. Fatt. We did not receive any reply, so we had to call on the telephone to find whether the body was shipped. The answer came, 'Do you want the body?' and we said 'Yes, at once.' They said that they would have to get an undertaker to ship the body, and as soon as shipped, would let us know. We got word all right, but the body did not arrive here until the 25th of February, 1920, and would not then if we had not phoned to four or five places before we got any trace of the body. This made a lot of expense. They also said that the coffin that the body would be sent in might not suit us and we made all preparations for the same.

"I will give you the expense that they put us to. We would not mind it so much if they had shipped the right body.

"List of expenses:
Undertaker's charge at Kingston $ 55.00
Express on body 12.00
The undertaker at Gravenhurst, one casket 100.00
Hearse 5.00
Plot to bury the corpse 9.00
Digging of grave 6.00
Three rigs 7.50
Six death cards 1.00
Telegrams and Telephone expenses 4.50
$207.00

"And what about the $11.99 that Finley had and was about the body of Finley Stoneham?"

"A. J. STONEHAM,
"Agent."

In view of the fact that this incident has aroused so much public attention, is it not time that the government discontinued its policy of inaction, and make permanent appointments to the positions of warden, deputy warden, surgeon and chief keeper?

Be Ready For The Sloppy Weather

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Too much alkali is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulisid coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely "grassless." It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.
