FRENCH ARE COMING STRONG IN ATHLETICS

French newspapers are devoting considerable space to victories achieved by France in sporting events last week. The French army rugby team defeated a British army team by a score of 15 to 6; Guillemot, the crack French middle distance runner, led a field of 223, of the best English runners in a ten-mile race in Windsor Park, England, and yesterday a tennis team from Paris defeated Copenhagen with the greatest ease. The French sporting world looks to Guillemot to make a sweep of everything from the five thousand metre run to the Marathon at the Antwerp Olympic games. He is regarded here as a worthy successor to Jean Bouin, the noted runner, who was killed during the war. The correspondent has watched Guillemot work over an eight-mile course. He runs with the easy motion of Alfred Sirribb, the great English distance runner, and doubtless will force his opponents at the Olympic games to do their best up to fifteen miles.

An Old Hockey Story. An old story that has done service for years about this season is revived again in Montreal to the effect that New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit will each have pro hockey teams in a new international league, which will also include Montreal, Hamilton, Toronto and Ottawa clubs. Judging by the difficulties encountered by the four teams in Eastern Canada in getting players, the new league have to "thrive" on about one player for each club, says the Toronto Star.

Shrubbs to Return to Canada. Writing to a Toronto friend, Alf Shrubbs, the famous English runner, says: "I am still very busy with the Oxford boys, and am also writing the story of my life. Some story, too, you bet. I am being treated white here, and it may interest you to know that while you are freezing your toes off in Toronto, we are picking primroses on the banks of the river in dear old Oxford. On the 27th March I shall be crossing the ocean again, and it will be a great pleasure to me to see all my old Canadian friends again."
